DELANEY LOCATED.

Darrow's Friend in Calgary.

Fullerton Mystery Is Partly Explained by Tidings from the Man.

Hints at Strange Deals in the Courts and Legislature of Colorado.

Alludes in a Letter That He "Must" Remain Away from California.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FULLERTON (Cal.) June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. C. Delaney, local district manager of the Associated Fruit Company, who disappeared about six weeks ago, has been located in Calgary, Can. At the time of his disappearance many of his friends here believed that he was suffering from a temporary lapse of memory, brought on my an accident he experienced some months ago, but the latest discovery shows that Delaney was in his right mind when he left here.

FRIEND OF DARROW'S.

It is also just received from him Delaney intimates he has gone away for the purpose of "exposition." A resident of Fullerton states that Delaney informed him that while in Colorado he was associated with Attorney Clarence Darrow, who was on trial in Los Angeles, in a business or professional way. At the same time, Delaney said that he himself was not guilty.

Letters to Fullerton from Colorado at the time of Delaney's disappearance indicate that certain legislative deals were on foot, and that a year or two ago there would even be investigations of reports that those politically connected had benefited due to legislative enactments.

SANTA FE AIDS BRIDEGROOM.

FURNISHES HIM FREE TRAIN TO CATCH HIS BRIDE.

Though Corporations Are Deemed Soulless, Great Railroad System Is Moved by Flight of Alameda Man Who Missed His Train on Return from Honeymoon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALAMEDA, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Railroads as a rule may be soulless corporations, fattening on the luxuries, needs and woes of the common people, but the Santa Fe furnished Will H. Culbert a free special train to enable him to overtake his frantic bride, who was speeding along ahead on the regular overland passenger train through the Arizona desert. What makes the railroads act more remarkable is that Culbert had no money to pay for the special, his purse, with the remnant of the honeymoon treasure fund, being in the custody of his bride.

Culbert and Miss Minnie Schmidt, both of Alameda, were married a few weeks ago and went East on their honeymoon. On the return trip Culbert left the train at Winslow, Ariz., to walk about the platform. Suddenly the train started, leaving Culbert on the platform. The train was sailed away before the bride discovered that her husband was not on board. Santa Fe train officials were informed of Culbert's plight and ordered out a special locomotive to bring the runaway bride back. The special overtook the train in short order.

Greece Persists in Demands That Triple Entente Arbitrate Her Claims.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 4.—Instead of making for peace, the new Cabinet of Bulgaria may be more bellicose than the previous one, for late reports indicate that Premier Guechoff resigned because of the irritation shown in military circles over his concessions to Greece and Servia. Another disturbing feature is the growing indication that Roumania is backing Bulgaria and diplomats believe that Roumania already has offered to join with Bulgaria in case of war.

Greece and Bulgaria have agreed in principle to submit their conflicting claims to arbitration. Bulgaria desires to submit her claim to Salonika to the great powers, but Greece wants the triple entente—Great Britain, France and Russia—to settle the dispute.

A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Bucharest says the Cabinets of all the Balkan States are preparing to resign, leaving the tangled affairs of the alliance in the hands of the new governments.

SETTLE FINANCES OF BALKAN WAR.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, June 4.—Fifty delegates of the great European powers and of the Balkan states met at the Foreign Office today to settle the financial questions arising out of the war. Sessions will be held daily to determine what portion of the Ottoman debt must be taken over by the Balkan allies. They also will consider the question of a war indemnity. Their deliberations probably will last a considerable time.

APPROPRIATION FOR MILITIA.

War Department Plans to Amend Law to Give More Money to National Guard.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] Important conferences are taking place in the War Department concerning an amendment of existing law relating to the organized militia. Several controversies have arisen between the representatives of the militia and the military authorities in an effort to arrange matters so that the militia will be available for duty on the call of the President, for foreign service.

Secretary Garrison has proposed that the terms of the new law shall not provide that militiamen shall be carried on the payrolls of the Federal government. Instead, it is planned to have a sum appropriated and allotted to the various States with a view to its payment to the organizations or the individuals of such organizations when they fulfill the requirements to be laid down by regulations prepared by the War Department. It is believed that this can be accomplished without special legislation which will relate in any way to the organization of the militia. It is largely a question of obtaining the necessary funds from Congress.

It is the desire of Secretary Garrison to have the militia placed on a footing which will make it available for service as a second line of defense.

LONDON, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two great reservoirs at Hellondene, near Bradford, have been poisoned by emptying dyeing chemicals into them.

It will be necessary to use 50,000,000 gallons of water to clean the reservoirs, and this will entail enormous expense. Circumstances indicate the outrage was the work of a suffragette.

"NIGHT RIDERS" RETURN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HENDERSON (Ky.) June 4.—A reign of terror more serious than similar depredations of recent years is threatened by "night riders" against the tobacco growers of this district. In the last week there have been minor depredations by organized bands, and today threatening communications from the riders were received by William Elliott, president of the Stemming District Tobacco Association, and Leigh Harris, editor of the Henderson Daily Journal.

In the letter to Harris, the "night riders" assert they are thoroughly organized and will prevent the production of a single pound of tobacco in this district this season. They announce that they plan to destroy beds, plants and tobacco in barns.

Recent Death of President Auguste Is Said to Have Resulted in Unsettled Conditions and Returned Minister Tells Conference Situation May Become Worse.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Conditions in Hayti have become chaotic since the death recently of President Tancrede Auguste, resulting in the imprisonment of several missionaries without charges preferred against them, according to a statement by Elder U. Bender of Kingston, Jamaica, in his report of the West Indian Union Conference at today's session of the Seventh Day Adventists of the World at Takoma Park, Md.

"One who is familiar with Haytien prisons and methods of discipline," declared Elder Bender, "must be greatly concerned for the safety of the missionaries."

Elder R. C. Porter of Cape Town, South Africa, was elected president of the Asiatic division conference with headquarters at Shanghai, China.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first sea serpent of the season has been sighted. It was seen from the Prinz Joachim, which arrived today from the West Indies. Soon after leaving Fortune Island, Dr. Flynn of the ship saw it first and thus describes it:

It was about a half a mile long and seemed to rise and fall with the waves. As we got nearer, it swung about so as to cross our bow. Then we found it was half a mile of dolphins, moving closely in each other's wake.

"I guess that's about as good a sea serpent as any of them," and the doctor said he "hadn't had even a teaspoonful of brandy in a goblet of milk" when he saw the half-mile of dolphins.

Milwaukee Man Silently Follows Girl for Two Years—His First Word Causes His Arrest.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) June 4.—After endeavoring for two years to become acquainted with a young woman here, Max Schuster summoned enough courage to speak to her today. His first word caused his arrest.

Schuster saw Miss Tena Safer two years ago and has watched and followed her daily since that time. Miss Safer appealed to the police but was told they could do nothing until the man addressed her. Schuster and Miss Safer met in a crowded car today and he said "Hello." He was immediately arrested and fined $25.

Strike in Plant at Hazleton, Pa., Develops Violence When Agitators of Mine Workers Try to Make Young Women Stop Work and One Member Is Stabbed in Right Side.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAZLETON (Pa.) June 4.—Hat pins and screw drivers concealed in their sleeves were used today by girls employed at the Jacob Gerhardt shirt factory when approached by pickets of the Mine Workers' Union and other labor crafts and asked to remain away from their places because some of the hands are still on strike since the inception of trouble at the plant last winter. Frank Fitzpatrick of Ebervale, a young man representing one of the Mine Workers' locals, was stabbed below the ribs in the right side with a hat pin. Miss Harriet Byerly of West Hazleton was arrested, charged with wielding the weapon, and was held under $500 bail for assault and battery with intent to kill.

CALLS WILSON'S DAUGHTER AN "INSIDIOUS" LOBBYIST.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] When is lobbying not lobbying? Is it all right to push the interests of playgrounds for the "kiddies" when it is "insidious" to work for the darning-needle trust?

These questions have been raised by the declaration of Miss Margaret Wilson, one of the President's daughters, that she was going to use her influence to have the property of the Naval Home, Gray's Ferry avenue, Philadelphia, turned over to the city for public playground and park purposes.

Richard Campton, tariff expert, says it's nothing more or less than lobbying, and if it is pernicious for manufacturers to whisper sweet nothings in the ears of Congressmen what is it for the President's daughter to use her influence?

"I think Miss Wilson is justified in using her influence in attaining so desirable an object as the transfer of this property. I hope she succeeds," he said.

"But to do so she must commit the offense that her father called insidious, that of lobbying.

"But why is it right to lobby for playgrounds and parks and wrong to lobby for the protection of great industries that give employment to millions and sustain thousands of families?"

Anti-Gambling Crusade Abolishes Annual Event Instituted at Historic Race in Year Edward VII Ascended Throne—Duchess of Devonshire Joins Reformers.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Queen Mary's well known strong antipathy to gambling in any form was demonstrated at this year's Derby, when the usual Derby Sweepstakes among members of the royal household was not held. The reason for this was that the King and Queen declined to take tickets on the result of the great race. All but a few members of the household followed the example of the King and Queen and as a result the pool fell through.

This sweepstakes was instituted in the year of the late King Edward VII's accession, and has been held every year since, until today. Last year it was won by the Duchess of Devonshire who is now one of the Queen's strongest supporters in her anti-gambling crusade. The queen mother Alexandra won it once but King Edward VII never had the right ticket. The tickets cost a guinea each and the first prize was generally about $500.

Treaty May Be Modified But Wilson and Bryan Will Press Approval by Senate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary Bryan and Chairman Bacon of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee conferred today over the treaty to give to the United States a naval base on the Gulf of Fonseca and exclusive rights to an interoceanic canal across Nicaragua. Some changes in the convention now proposed may require approval of the Nicaraguan government before it is submitted to the Senate for ratification, but with those alterations, it is understood President Wilson and Secretary Bryan will press for its approval. There are indications that the majority of the committee will act in accord with the President.

AMERICAN YACHT SCORPION SURPRISES NAVY OFFICIALS.

Lieut.-Commander Upham Reports His Arrival at Odessa on the Black Sea and Upsets International Precedents that Extend Back to the Beginning of This Nation's History.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Navy Department received a dispatch today from Lieut. Commander Frank B. Upham, commanding the little steel yacht Scorpion that caused officials to express surprise. The officer of the day in charge of the department dispatch room had to scratch his head and look twice before he could believe what his eyes saw. It was a dispatch from Upham dated at Odessa, Russia, and reported that the Scorpion was anchored at that port on the Black Sea.

Nothing like that had ever been heard of in the navy before and the dispatch was handed around from officer to officer and commented on with wonder. For the first time in the history of the United States and of Turkey, a foreign vessel had passed the Dardanelles and crossed the Black Sea.

The Scorpion has been the embassy station ship at Constantinople for many years. The menace of religious mobs to American missionaries suggested the presence of the vessel and during the recent Balkan war her officers and crew rendered valuable service in the protection of the embassy and Americans in Asia Minor.

To have her go up through the Dardanelles, cross the Black Sea and cast anchor at Odessa was a surprise. With the downfall of the power of Turkey and the capture of the forts that have stood sentry on the Dardanelles for hundreds of years, the world at large is at liberty to go and come and there is no one to say them nay.

Lieut. Commander Upham paid a call of respect to United States Consul John H. Grout and the historical fact of the presence of an American vessel of war at Odessa on the north coast of the Black Sea was duly celebrated and the fact reported to the Navy and the State Department in official dispatches.

President Helps Expose the Free Sugar Agitators in Congress.

Senator Ransdell Says Money Was Spent to Influence Public Opinion.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Ramifications of the sugar tariff fight being conducted outside the halls of Congress gave the Senate "lobby investigating committee" a busy two hours late this afternoon. With Senator Ransdell of Louisiana as the chief witness, members of the investigating committee pried into every phase of the fight between the free trade and the anti-free sugar forces and established the fact that general offices are maintained by both factions, and that a systematic and organized fight has been carried on for and against the free sugar provision indorsed by President Wilson.

The activity of the sugar tariff forces was partially responsible for President Wilson's statement that powerful lobbying influences were at work in Washington to effect changes in the tariff bill. Several names were added to the list of persons who will testify as to why they are "lobbyists." These included employees of a bureau maintained here by the Louisiana sugar growers and various persons who have been connected with the anti-free sugar fight.

Senator Ransdell discussed freely the organized activity of the Louisiana sugar cane growers; but believed little money had been spent as compared with the amount spent by Chas Spreckels, the Federal Sugar Refining Company, and Frank C. Lowry of New York, said to be an employee of that company, in an effort to create public sentiment in favor of free sugar.

"I urged the Louisiana people to organize two years ago and combat this false sentiment that was being created in favor of free sugar," he said, "but they did not act in time."

DENIES CONCERTED ACTION.

Some light was thrown on the activity of Hawaiian and Porto Rican growers, who also oppose free sugar, by the Senator.

He denied there had been any concerted action among the three forces and said the Louisiana growers had devoted their efforts to distributing literature and presenting arguments to show that free sugar meant destruction to their business, and no benefit to the consumer.

Senator Ransdell named Henry T. Oxnard, Truman G. Palmer, Sidney M. Ballou and A. D. Baldwin as leading figures in the anti-free sugar fight, and said H. N. Pharr, J. D. Hill, Jules Burguieres, Charles Godchaux, Jules Godchaux and E. F. Dickinson were sugar planters who had done "turns" in carrying on the campaign from the Washington headquarters.

The investigating committee will finish the testimony of Senators tomorrow and then will begin hearing outsiders. Some subpoenas already have been issued and tonight the names of J. E. Rhoades, R. Hathaway and Fred L. Fishback were added to the list. All of these mentioned today by Senator Ransdell probably will be called.

WILSON GIVES OUT NAMES.

President Wilson had not sent any communications to the committee up to tonight or indicated what further statements he wished to make. He already had given Chairman Overman the names of several men who might know something about Congressional "lobbying."

The new witnesses are to be heard next week. Some of the names are being kept secret, but Chairman Overman today gave out this partial list:

Aaron Gove, Denver; Dr. S. W. McClure, Salt Lake City, secretary of the National Wool Growers' Association; Henry E. Oxnard, New York, prominent in the beet sugar business; Edward F. Dickinson, and Jules Godchaux, representing Louisiana sugar interests; Sidney M. Ballou, E. B. Paxton, H. D. Mead and Walter G. Smith, also said to be interested in sugar tariff affairs; John F. Hamburg, New York; Harry Irwin, H. T. Alexander, Trenton, N. J.; Frank Gorman, Buford Lynch and John Carroll, all of Washington.

FREE SUGAR MAN SUBPOENAED.

It is generally assumed here that President Wilson furnished the names of those to be subpoenaed. Frank C. Lowry, known as the "free sugar man," is among those subpoenaed.

SENATORS TESTIFY.

Senator Newlands testified this afternoon he had some farming interests in California, Nevada, Maryland and District of Columbia. He named the following who talked with him: S. H. Cowan, livestock; A. D. Baldwin, Sydney Ballou, Henry Oxnard, Truman G. Palmer and Claus Spreckels, sugar; G. W. McClure, wool.

"When I came here, twenty years ago, one occasionally saw a man who was regarded as a lobbyist," said Mr. Newlands, "but that type of man seems to have disappeared."

A list of more than 1500 additional names were put in today by Senator Penrose, covering some of the persons

JAPAN'S REPLY KEPT SECRET.

Bryan and Chinda Refuse to Disclose Details.

Tokio Note Declared to Be Calm and Dignified.

Still Insists That Webb Act Is Discriminatory.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Japan's rejoinder to the United States reply to her protest against the California anti-alien land law, delivered personally by Ambassador Chinda to Secretary Bryan late today, sets out why the Tokio government continues to regard the Webb law as discriminatory against Japanese, in derogation of the equality of treatment prescribed by international law, and a violation of the treaty of 1911.

Nothing in the nature of an ultimatum is contained in the note. Its general tone is to invite further discussion of the controverted points and it contains nothing tending to make up final issue. Secretary Bryan and the Ambassador agreed that no details should be made public.

The Japanese note was very long and its nature entirely argumentative. Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Chinda were in accord that no good purpose could be served at this time by a public discussion of the delicate question and therefore both officials gave notice that any attempt to publish what might purport to be even the substance of the three communications which now have passed between the two governments must be based entirely upon speculation. It is known, however, that the whole tone of the rejoinder today is that of a dignified and orderly presentation of Japan's view of the case, concluding with an invitation to further negotiations.

Ambassador Chinda went to the State Department by appointment just before 4 o'clock. Instead of merely acknowledging receipt of the note and promising to consider it, Secretary Bryan requested the Ambassador to wait while he read the communication, and when he had finished there was an informal discussion.

Secretary Bryan was deeply interested in the points made in the Japanese rejoinder, which are believed to have been directed more to the end of demonstrating that the legislation of the Californians, taken in connection with the recent action of the Arizona Legislature and the projected legislation in other western States, tended to impair the equality of treatment to which Japanese were entitled under the general principles of international law, than to the charge that the Webb act constituted a technical violation of the treaty of 1911 between America and Japan.

The Ambassador was at the department for an hour and a half. Then he returned to the Embassy to prepare a report to his government indicating the nature of the reception of its communication by the Secretary of State.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Secretary Bryan went directly to the White House, where he left the Japanese note for the perusal and consideration of President Wilson. It is expected that when Counsellor Moore returns to Washington from New York he will be called into conference by the President and Secretary Bryan to consider the outline of a response.

JAPAN ANXIOUS TO EXHIBIT.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, June 4.—Efforts are being made by Baron Ei-Ichi-Shibusawa, chairman of the Bankers' Association; Eiei Nakana, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, and other prominent men, to quell the agitation for the boycotting of California, both in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition and otherwise. The agitation has been fomented by some Tokio merchants. Mr. Nakano is leading an effort for the sending of the finest possible exhibits from Japan to the exposition in order to show the true state of Japan civilization. He also is arranging for a special meeting of Japanese Chambers of Commerce to combat the boycott idea. The Japanese government has not yet defined its attitude.

"LET UP," SAYS J. HAM.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] It got noised about that J. Ham Lewis was going to shave off his pink whiskers. On being asked about it J. Hamilton grew wroth and announced that he was weary of being celebrated only for his eccentricities.

In truth James Hamilton Lewis, as United Senator from Illinois, is proving his mettle as he did when he held the Baltimore convention under control as no other presiding officer did. While James Hamilton continues to wear his whiskers au naturel with a pink shirt and a scarf, he will attract the envy and admiration of the hundred thousand odd colored residents of the capital and some notice from public prints, but he says he is tired of being identified by his whiskers and the kind of clothes he wears. J. Hamilton announced this fact today, his blue eyes veiled with actual pain. He said he did not care if the newspaper boys occasionally had fun with him, but that he did not thing he was putting a square deal.

"The boys have seen me fighting alone here for a great many years trying to make good," he said. "I believe I have just got a little something more in me than of some ec—shall we say—my eccentricities, and those eccentricities get all the attention. I'd like to be treated in a dignified manner once in a while."

FIGHTS FOR DYING KISS.

Wife Secures Permission for Convict to Return Home so He Might Expire in Her Arms.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) June 4.—A fight against time, that a dying convict might spend his last few moments surrounded by his wife and three small children, began in Municipal Judge Backus's court today when Mrs. Anna Bartell convinced the court that her husband is dying of consumption.

Mrs. Bartel produced a letter from Warden Woodward of the State prison at Waupun saying that the dying man asked only that he be permitted to die in his wife's arms and with his children near him.

Judge Backus appointed himself attorney for the woman and after a telephone conversation with Gov. E. E. McGovern, told the woman that her husband would be home Friday. Bartel was sentenced to three years at Waupun in November. While intoxicated he shot his wife three times. As she sank to the floor she begged him to kiss her. He complied, then hurried down town to a theater. He was arrested at the conclusion of the matinee.

STRIKE VOTE IS ORDERED.

BUT GOMPERS ORGANIZATION TAKES A HAND.

Gas Workers and Steam Engineers of San Francisco Are Between Two Fires as to Whether to Obey Local Organization or Union Boss in Washington.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "To strike or not to strike," is a question that may be decided tomorrow by gas workers and steam engineers also employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and again it may not. At its last regular meeting the San Francisco labor council ordered all interested unions to take a vote as to whether their members should go out on sympathetic strike with the gas company's electricians who were called out by the Light and Power Council a month ago. Preparations were made forthwith for the official sounding of the sentiment of the men tomorrow. All day balloting was to be held.

COMPLICATIONS ARISE.

Complications arose today. The officers of the Gas and Water Workers Union said a telegram had been received from the American Federation of Labor directing the union not to strike. The officers of the engineers were also reported to have been instructed by their international officers not to take a strike vote.

On the other hand, the Labor Council received a wire from the American Federation of Labor saying that a request from the Gas and Water Workers Union of this city to act in the local matter was under consideration by the executive committee of the Federation.

VOTE TO BE TAKEN.

On hearing of the apparent likelihood that the gas workers would not vote on the question of going on strike, President A. J. Gallagher of the Labor Council announced that a strike vote must positively be taken by the union or there would be dire consequences. It was intimated the union might be expelled from the Labor Council if the order to ballot on the strike proposition was not obeyed.

There are in the neighborhood of 400 employes of the Gas Company in the various unions that were directed by the Labor Council to vote as to whether their members should quit. The men are not affiliated with the Light and Power Council, the body which called the strike. The gas workers of the outside towns are a part of the Light and Power Council, but those of this city are not connected with the organization.

GIRL PICKET ON TRIAD.

Leader of Paterson's Idle Silk Workers Is Chief Figure in Proceeding Against Strikers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PATERSON (N. J.) June 4.—Hannah Silverman, described as a leader among Paterson's idle silk workers, was the chief figure today when thirty-five strikers and sympathizers were placed on trial, charged with unlawful assemblage. The defendants were pickets about a silk mill on April 21 and refused to move when ordered to do so by the police, according to the indictment.

The police were buffeted by 400 to 500 pickets and besought Hannah Silverman to appeal to the mob for order. Mrs. Hester Piana testified that the girl only laughed at the request.

The prosecution rested its case after calling half a dozen police officers. After Judge Klenert had denied a motion to dismiss the indictments Hannah Silverman was called as first witness for the defense. She is 17 years old and the only woman among the prisoners. She testified she was a picket on the day of her arrest and urged the throng to be orderly, but no attention was paid to her. Later she was standing to one side, she said, when a policeman took hold of her, saying: "It's about time you were arrested." She testified she was orderly and that her arrest was unwarranted.

COHEN TO SPEND MONEY.

In the Case of the State, Ninety Days After It Is Appropriated, Is About Right.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, June 4.—The State has no right to spend money appropriated by the Legislature until after the expiration of the ninety-day period, following adjournment as provided in the referendum clause of the Constitution, and neither can it accept money from private sources temporarily and then repay it when the appropriation money is available.

This opinion was furnished Controller Nye today by Atty.-Gen. Webb, who had been asked for a decision on the question of allowing D. L. Bliss of Tahoe to advance money for the completion of the Lake Tahoe State Highway, with the idea of being repaid by the State when the appropriation passed by the last Legislature became due, August 16.

PROMISE UNIFORM LAWS; BIG BUSINESS TICKLED.

Bureau of Corporations Is to Abandon Its Antagonistic Attitude for One of Co-operation With Enterprises Engaged in Interstate Operations—Relative Efficiency of Combinations of Capital and Small Industrial Units to Be Studied.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two distinct lines of work will mark the policy of the Bureau of Corporations under the present administration, according to plans which President Wilson and his advisers now are considering. One important line of investigation is designed to be supplementary to that pursued for the last ten years with reference to the trusts.

The second line embraces an entirely new field of effort and one which the corporations of the country engaged in interstate commerce are likley to welcome with enthusiasm. Large corporations have been inclined to view the bureau of that name as an inquisitorial body aiming only to pry into their affairs for the purpose of embarrassing them. It is to be the policy of the Wilson administration to help interstate corporations through the bureau as well as show up some things essential to the public good, which the industrial combinations may regard as evidence of paternalism and a too-meddlesome disposition.

The new scheme embraces an investigation of the State laws affecting foreign corporations engaged in business of an interstate character, with the ultimate purpose of obtaining uniformity of legislation.

ETERNALLY IN HOT WATER.

As matters stand today, corporations organized in one State and doing business outside are confronted with such diversity of regulations that they are eternally in hot water. They have to maintain expensive legal staffs merely to advise them what they must do in each State in which they seek to operate. In the matter of regulations requiring filing of articles of incorporation, so that business can be done by a foreign corporation, there is no approach to uniformity. Everything must be done differently in a certain State than in the neighboring State. The result is that, through innocent failure to meet the complicated situation, corporations are frequently mulcted on legitimate contracts.

Some States provide that a contract shall be void, and others that it shall be voidable, if certain rules for filing articles are not strictly adhered to. When disputes over contracts arise, or in cases where purchasers of articles on the installment plan default in payment, the foreign corporation has no legal redress if it inadvertently has slipped a cog somewhere in the matter of taking out its license. Its case is thrown out of court regardless of the merits of the controversy.

SUGGESTIONS TO LAWMAKERS.

It is proposed, under the direction of Joseph E. Davies, the new Commissioner of Corporations to investigate the operations of the State laws, collate the laws in pamphlet form and finally submit to the judiciary committees of the various Legislatures suggestions for legislation that will tend to uniformity of regulation throughout the country. It is declared that when the object sought is accomplished that not only great economy in the operation of interstate corporations will be effected, but that better relations between business and government will be assured.

The right of the States to regulate the business of foreign corporations doing business within their limits is recognized, although it is unlikely that there will be less agitation in favor of having the Federal government usurp the power of the States in all matters relative to interstate business if existing complications can be remedied through country-wide uniformity. The effect set on foot is most ambitious, the scheme as here briefly outlined indicates the present attitude of the administration toward an important phase of the problem of Federal control.

TRUST PROSECUTIONS.

As to the further trust investigation supplementary to that of the past, the lines ahve not been absolutely fixed so far as can be learned. But something is known of the general plan. It is held that the national psychology with respect to corporations is somewhat different now from what it fas ten years ago when Roosevelt started the Bureau of Corporations to work as an agency to uncover conditions with reference to trusts, their formation, their effect on prices, their methods and and their general relation to the public good.

WILL STUDY BIG BUSINESS.

The question now in the public mind as the psychology of the situation is studied, is what shall be the relation of the government to big business? This question necessitates an investigation to determine the relative efficiency and economy to the public of great and comparatively small units of the business world.

Investigations probably will be started in the near future to determine the correct one of two schools of thought whether combination has reached that point where it is top-heavy; whether excessive profits are the net results instead of increased economy and efficiency, or whether the maximum of efficiency has not been reached in industrial combination. The solution of his question practically will determine the whole trust problem, the problem as to whether the government shall control monopoly or regulate competition between large units. Upon the findings the administration bill dealing with the trusts probably will be predicated.

Points Out Lobbyists.

who visited him while the Payne-Aldrich bill was being framed, and all his callers during the wool fight in the Senate.

Senator Perkins said he severed his financial interests in any business that might be affected by legislation when he came to Congress and invested his money in real estate. He knew nothing of any lobby in Washington.

Senator Pittman of Nevada testified that indirectly he was interested in the tariff on cyanide used in milling gold and had asked for a reduction of duty. He agreed there had been a large "lobby," or delegation of Alaskan people urging the government to spend millions for the construction of railroads in Alaska.

He did not consider it improper, "I know of my own knowledge," said Senator Pittman, "there has been a premeditated, sustained and expensive effort made by the wool growers to influence their representatives to support certain measures in the belief that the people favor them."

SUBPOENAES ISSUED.

Tonight the committee issued subpoenaes for former Congressman William S. Bennett of New York, Otto Carmichael of New York, formerly a Washington correspondent; Rev. Father G. H. Malone of Denver, who is now in Washington; G. Harold Powell, Francis E. Hamilton, Harrison Osborne, W. L. Ross, A. A. Irving, William O. Marvin and William F. Fitzgerald. This is a list of names furnished to the committee apart from names brought out in testimony given by Senators. Chairman Overman did not reveal the source of the list or the purpose for which the person's attendance is sought.

DENY LOBBY CHARGE.

At the night session of the committee Senators Thornton of Louisiana, Simmons of North Carolina, Sheppard of Texas, Sterling of South Dakota, Saulsbery of Delaware, Stone of Missouri, Swanson of Virginia and Lewis of Illinois testified, all denying knowledge of any "insidious lobby."

Warrant Out for Ex-Secretary of Council Bluffs, Accused of Attempting to Burn Building.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa) June 4.—A warrant was issued in a justice court here today for Warren E. Cottrell, former general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of Council Bluffs, charging him with attempting to burn the Y.M.C.A. building here. Five attempts to destroy the building were made.

Cottrell was accused of the crime and is said to have confessed. He was declared insane by the county sanity board and sent to the State insane asylum at Clarinda.

Saturday last, Superintendent Max E. Witt of the institution, notified the State authorities that in his opinion Cottrell was sane, and the warrant was issued.

Millers on the Trail of Self-rising Flour.

Chemistry Enlisted to Solve Big Farm Problem.

South Converts All America to Hot-bread Habit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In Convention Hall in a small enclosure railed off from the rest of the exposition of milling machinery is an exhibit that is making and unmaking wheat lands, tearing down and building up fortunes for thousands of farmers.

Within the enclosure are a complete miniature flour mill, a complete miniature baking plant, a small chemical laboratory. Busily working with all three is Otto J. Freed of Chicago, chief chemist for the Fraternity of Milling Operators. From time to time samples of wheat are brought in, the wheat is ground, converted into flour, tested, baked and tested again. Then comes the verdict, and the millers know whether the wheat from a certain soil will produce flour that will "raise" the dough and produce that light, flaky bread beloved by housewives and bakers.

Freed's word is final. If his verdict is too unfavorable, the farmers of the region from which the wheat comes had better get a new kind of seed, use the proper fertilizer or quit raising wheat altogether. That's Freed's finding as to the wheat that will make the kind of flour that will make the kind of bread that you like. That laboratory has made history. It began its work back in the 90's. In 1900 it put Kansas on the map as the greatest wheat region in America, quantity and quality considered.

THE WHEAT ARBITER.

David Chidlow, now retired and living in Boston, was the arbiter of the distance of wheat then. Minnesota wheat of the kind known to the trade as "No. 1" northern was considered not only the best, but the only first-class flour-making wheat in the country. Red Turkey was being raised in Kansas, but was considered inferior. It seemed suited to Kansas soil, but it did not appear to be suited to the trade. Hence there was woe in Kansas, which had begun to bleed all over again because the wheat it could raise in the greatest quantities wasn't worth much.

A man with the courage of desperation in his heart brought samples of Red Turkey to Chidlow in the laboratory, which was then in operation at the Coats House.

"I tell you this is good wheat; it will make the best flour in the world. Try it out for me," he said.

Chidlow ground it, tested it, baked it, tasted and tested the bread.

"Bring on your knockers," he said. "This is the best wheat going."

From that day Kansas Red Turkey was so much in demand that the farmers could not raise enough of it. It went to Minneapolis and to other milling centers by the scores of trainloads in 1901, and the procession is still increasing.

MONUMENT SUGGESTED.

"I do not remember who brought in that sample, but Chidlow made the test and fought the battle of Red Turkey," said Secretary Mueller of the Fraternity of Co-Operative Millers yesterday. "But Kansas should build monuments to both of them. I had some little part in the affair myself, and I'm proud of that part. It put Kansas where she belonged. Perhaps before the week is over another discovery of almost equal importance will be made in our laboratory."

The South is slowly, but surely, converting the people of America to the "hot-bread" habit, according to the mill operators, and "Self-Rising Flours" was the subject assigned to Chemist Freed for discussion in the convention yesterday.

"The production of a satisfactory self-rising flour is the big work before the millers of the future," said he.

"Heretofore the demand has been confined largely to the South, but the North is getting the habit, and a self-rising flour that will always rise is the great demand of the day."

The discussion of the day was largely technical. The convention took a recess at noon until 10 o'clock this morning. Yesterday afternoon the delegates were taken in special cars to Fairmount Park, where luncheon was served to 1600.

Convention at Kansas City Advocates Permanent Tariff Commission and to Expedite Action of Congress on Underwood Bill to Settle Business of the Country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY, June 4.—Resolutions favoring a permanent tariff commission and memorializing Congress to expedite the pending tariff legislation to the limit of consistency "in order that business shall not remain unsettled longer than necessary," were adopted unanimously by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association in session here today.

A fund for indigent lumbermen was proposed in an address by J. A. Freeman of Pasadena, Cal. Mr. Freeman was elected treasurer.

Planting and maintaining of new forests by the State was recommended as the only feasible solution of the problem involving the rapid decrease in the lumber supply in the United States, by Capt. John B. White, who is a director of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, and past president of the National Conservation Congress. "Conservation" was his subject.

Vocalist Wears Placard Asking Public to Judge Merits of His Voice but Unsympathetic New York Policeman Takes Him to Judge—Told to Hire Hall.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Benjamin Herrman, who once invented a torpedo which got as far as a test at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was singing grand opera airs with a penetrating volume of sound at Wall and Hanover streets today when he was interrupted by Policeman Wilshire.

"What are you singing for?" asked the policeman, while the crowd jeered. Herrman promptly turned his back. On a placard pinned to the singer's coat the policeman read.

"Ladies and gentlemen: The directors of the Metropolitan Opershouse refuse to give me a chance. I have a tenor voice as rare and beautiful as that of Caruso. Let the public judge for itself."

Wilshire took Herrman to the Center-street Station. Herrman sang all the way. He only stopped when Magistrate Kernochan rose in his wrath and told him to stop. A brief talk convinced the magistrate the prisoner was neither crazy nor drunk, but simply possessed of acute overconfidence.

"If you want to sing free to the public, Herrman," he said, "go hire a hall. You may go."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) June 4.—Five insane patients at the Emergency Hospital came today to the aid of Dr. R. T. Williams, when an insane and enraged patient attacked an orderly and overpowered him.

The orderly, John Thompson, was attacked by Julius Jerwein, and was unconscious when the doctor arrived upon the scene. Five other insane men went watching the attack and enjoying it, but when Dr. Williams ordered them to assist in subduing the assailant, they complied and Jerwein was placed in a straitjacket.

Jerwein is the man who became insane after laughing for sixteen straight hours. He went to a vaudeville theater and after hearing a joke began to laugh. He was ejected from the theater, but continued to laugh until arrested. He was taken from Central Police Station to the Emergency Hospital, where a violent fit of rage replaced his laughing fit.

said to have come direct to Delaney. He was in Colorado for some time.

The Randolph Fruit Company found that Delaney was straight in his accounts when he left here, and they considered him a good rustler for business, and a competent manager.

Only a few weeks before Delaney went away he was married to one of the best-known young ladies in this section. The "N" in Delaney's letter refers to his wife who is now stopping at the family residence in Fullerton.

DELANEY'S LETTER.

The letter follows:

"I understand that the eagle-eyed sleuth whose initials are Schumacher is spending most of his spare time watching you; perhaps he has an idea you have me concealed upstairs. From what N. says I have been accused by my friends of everything from stealing a cow out of the garden of Paradise to attacking the Goddess of Liberty. Also understand that the story about the wife and three children is going around. Too bad they don't know the real truth of The mess. What a disappointment it would be to them to know it was only a bit of politics which they did not know even existed. Of course, it will be necessary to stay on this side of the line for about three years, until the mess is outlawed. Perhaps at the end of that time we will come back and ask some of the long tongues to say it out loud.

"Do you think they would have the nerve.

"Don't tell anything about hearing from me until N. starts here. The less some of the wise ones know the better it will be. I also understand they had it out that I sold the Buick. It's bad enough what they say but to make one out to be a fool in the bargain—that's the limit. As if I would try a stunt of that sort when I had plenty of the company's money, all of which they still found in the bank. Wish you would tell N. that I have mailed three letters to her by Mrs. J. C. D. to Fullerton. From what she said has not received them. Perhaps that Mexican Postmaster there does not know her; she had better ask for them. Come to think of it I have not told you my address. No. 1468 Third street, East, Calgary, Alberta, Canada. You had better mail letter on the train so that curious bunch at the store don't see it. The name is the same here as always. I can imagine the way some of them are out with their sledge hammers. Well, let them knock; we are not going to say anything till N. is ready to start, then they can go to. Suppose some of the all-knowing ones will have another think coming when they find that out; in particular the ones who are so sure I deserted her and am with another woman some place. Write if you have a chance, but be sure you mail it on the train. If you have a chance say what you think I would to some of the good Christians who are throwing the harpoon. Always the same. D."

DRAWS BANK BALANCE.

The day before he went away he called at an Anaheim bank, asked for his balance and drew out about $40. Mr. Delaney had charge of the company's packing house in Placentia and also looked after the business in this end of the county. He left home early one morning in his little automobile and it was understood he was going to San Dimas to look after an orange shipment. Instead of going to San Dimas he went to Whittier, leaving his auto there in a garage where it was later recognized by residents of Placentia as they were passing through that city. Owners of the Whittier garage stated that when Delaney left the machine there he said he was going to a Los Angeles hospital. Mrs. Delaney and representatives of the Randolph Fruit Company tried to locate the missing man but at that time got no information that would assist in locating him. A few days later a telegram came from Butte, Montana, stating that Mr. Delaney, that is a man giving that name, had called on a fruit firm which had been purchasing oranges from the Randolph Fruit Co. At that time the company did not know a man by that name was employed by this fruit company in California.

A DELANEY CONFESSION.

ECHO OF A FAMOUS CASE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John C. Delaney, a structural ironworker who claimed Denver as his home, confessed on June 3, 1911, to Harry Bagan, a representative of the Muskogee Phoenix, Muskogee, Okla., that he had been employed by John J. McNamara to travel throughout the country inspecting all structures being erected by non-union labor, securing carefully-made drawings of such structures and marking the spot with a cross where dynamite could be most easily applied and would be most effective.

The representative of the Burns Detective Agency who was in Muskogee at the time disredited Delaney's confession. In this confession Delaney stated it was his duty to forward the drawings to McNamara and he did forward them. He still had a few of such drawings bearing the cross marks in his possession, with several letters of instructions addressed to him and purporting to be signed by McNamara.

REBELS CAPTURE MATAMORAS; FEDERALS SLIP AWAY QUIETLY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) June 4.—Matamoras, an important border port of entry, fell into the hands of the Mexican Constitutionalists early today after a battle that continued several hours yesterday. The town's defenders ran out of ammunition and they slipped away quietly, leaving the rebels in control. The last stand was made by the decimated garrison of Federal volunteers entrenched around the main plaza, which was made at 1 o'clock this morning. They had been in trenches for nineteen hours without a moment for rest or food but had used their last cartridges. The constitutionalists did not attempt to enter the center of the city until today when they left the market place, which they had occupied Tuesday. They advanced, firing as they came, believing that some of the Federals were still, entrenched behind the buildings. They advanced, firing as they came, but none of the defense was discovered. Most of the fighting they were engaged in without commissioned officers. General Barragan, Mayor of the city, was reported in last night's dispatches to have been killed, escaped to the American side. This morning Barragan's men rode to the ferry, passed the embargo and opened the bridge.

At the light and ferry boats further up the river, Col. Emilio Kosterlitzky, with 250 men, led an attack from 2 to 4 A.M. to 1 o'clock this afternoon, when the lodging the Federals. Eight hundred of Matamoro's command were killed or wounded, the same number wounded. Among the dead Federals were left a number on the ground and about fifteen or twenty prisoners. The total number of dead Federals reported for this is about eighty. The list of dead and wounded on both sides will not reach 500.

Maj. Ramos was shot in the head near the market. He commanded the trenches on his horse and waved his sword had shouted for the Federal government when Lieut. Banks of Northwest Report Season of Prosperity.

Seattle Review Tells of Big Increase in Production.

Seventy-five Optimists for Every Pessimist.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] Reports for nearly 500 banks in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana predict an era of great prosperity for the Pacific Northwest, according to information in the Trade and Crop Bulletin of the Seattle National Bank, off the press today.

The bank has issued a review of this kind every summer for some years, and the publications have been accepted generally as standard and authoritative.

"Forward again is the ringing note in the reports just gathered from the Pacific Northwest. We have received from nearly 500 banks reports covering every county in the States of Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, a territory running more than 900 miles east and west and 700 miles north and south.

"The products of this great domain are almost everything which is grown in the Temperate Zone, and with few exceptions the reports indicate a great increase in productiveness throughout.

"In the analysis of replies lumber leads with regard to the proportion of increase, as compared with decreases indicated. There are seventy-six predictions for increase to each prediction for decrease. In logs there are twenty predictions of increase to one of decrease. In hay, 15 increase, 1; in stock, 10 to 1; dairying, 6 to 1; fruits, 4 to 1; wheat, 3 to 1; small fruits and vegetables, 3 to 1, and wool, 1½ to 1.

"From Northwestern Washington the lumber production are predicted to be from 10 to 15 per cent. higher; from Puget county, 25 per cent.; from Chehalis county, 40 per cent.; from King county, 25 per cent.; from Stevens county, 75 per cent. on lumber.

"Hay production is predicted to be from Okanogan county 25 per cent.; from Chelan county, 35 per cent.; from King county, 25 per cent.; Cowlitz county, 25 per cent.; Lewis county, 25 per cent.; Yakima county, 10 per cent.; Whitman county, 10 per cent.

"As to livestock, Cowlitz county reports 50 per cent. increase; Yakima county, 10 per cent.; Lincoln county, 5 per cent.; one section of Benton county, 100 per cent.; Stevens county, 10 per cent.; Spokane county, 10 per cent.

"We have abundant evidence of the fact that the raising of live stock is on the increase, this being part of the tendency to diversify farm products.

"From the Walla Walla country we hear: 'All cereal crops are at this writing looking well, though somewhat backward, particularly on spring sewing, because of late, cool weather. Could nothing occur later to reduce the yield we would look for a heavier grain crop than last year, perhaps 10 per cent. heavier.'

"From Lincoln county: 'The prospects for a large crop are the most promising they have been for the last ten years; the average of winter wheat is fully 50 per cent. greater than ever sown before in this section of the country.'

"The Palouse country reports the following: 'The condition of winter wheat in the Palouse country, a district comprising the greater part of Whitman county, Washington, and Latah county, Idaho, as a whole, is reported as average, ranging from 5 per cent. above in the western part, to 10 per cent. below in the eastern. The acreage is slightly increased.'

"Spring wheat on about 75 per cent. of the usual acreage is nicely up, and the early growth, except in the eastern part of the Palouse, where seeding and growth have been retarded by late rains. There is a material increase in the barley acreage.

"Oats occupy about half the acreage of former years. Timothy, alfalfa and clover show rank growth on an increased acreage.

"Lumber reports by counties indicate a big increase in dairying and hog and cattle raising. In the timber-raising counties of that State the gain in grain yield this year is reported in some quarters to be as much as 50 per cent.

"Idaho reports indicate prosperity in both wheat and fruit-raising. The Snake River country seems to be especially prosperous, due to big yields of wheat, hay, grain and fruits. Camas prairie reports indicate an increase in the yield of 75 per cent. in many localities.

"Montana is reported to be exceptionally flourishing. The ground is all filled with moisture and the grain never looked brighter. In some districts the yield of oats and hay will be double the bumper crop of last year."

"In the shipping of replies lumber men with regard to the proportion of increase, as compared with decreases, to compared with decreases followed. There are seventy-six predictions for increase to each one for decrease. In logs there are predictions of increase to 1 of decrease. In hay, 15 to 1; in oats, 10 to 1; dairying, 6 to 1; fruit, 4 to 1; wheat, 3 to 1; small grain and vegetables, 3 to 1, and potatoes, 15 to 1.

"From Northwestern Washington and Inland production are predicted to be 15 per cent. higher; from Idaho to be 25 per cent.; from Montana, 25 per cent.; from Oregon, 40 per cent.; from King county, Wash., predictions range from 20 per cent. to 40 per cent.; from Stevens county, 10 per cent. on lumber.

"Production is predicted to be as follows: Kittitas county, 25 per cent.; King county, 25 per cent.; Pierce county, 25 per cent.; Cowlitz county, 25 per cent.; Lewis county, 25 per cent.; Yakima county, 10 per cent.; Klickitat county, 10 per cent.; Whatcom county, Cowlitz county, 25 per cent. increase; Yakima county, 10 per cent.; Lincoln county, 10 per cent.; one section of Benton county, 50 per cent.; Stevens county, 10 per cent.; Spokane county, 10 per cent.

"Very abundant evidence of the value of the raising of live stock is given in the review, this being part of the movement to diversify farm products.

"In the Walla Walla country we quote: 'All cereal crops are at this writing well, though somewhat backward, particularly on spring sowings, because of late cool weather. Nothing could occur later to reduce the yield, and we would look for a heavier crop than last year, perhaps 25 per cent. heavier.'

"From Lincoln county: 'The prospects for a large crop are the most favorable they have been for the past four years; the average of winter wheat is fully 10 per cent. greater than ever before in this section of the country.'

"From Palouse country reports the condition of winter wheat in the Palouse country, a district including the greater part of Whitman county, Washington, and Latah county, Idaho, as a whole, is as average, ranging from 5 per cent. below in the western part, to 5 per cent. above in the eastern. The acreage is slightly increased.'

"From Yakima: 'Will cut about 75 per cent. of usual acreage in alfalfa, and a good growth, except in the eastern part of the Palouse, where seedings have been retarded by dry weather. There is a material increase in the barley acreage.'

"From Kittitas county: 'Will cut about half the acreage of alfalfa of former years. Timothy, alfalfa, and clover rank growth on an increased acreage.'

"Reports by counties indicate increases in dairying and fruit raising. In the Yakima counties of that State the grain yield this year is estimated at three quarters to be as large as per cent.

"Reports indicate prosperity in dairying and fruit-raising. The dairy country seems to be especially prosperous, due to big yields of grain and fruits. Camas county indicates an increase in yield of 75 per cent. In Idaho it reported to be exceptionally good. The ground is all filled with moisture and the grain never looked brighter. In Latah county the yield of oats and barley doubles the bumper crop of 1912.

Plague.

CICADA PEST IS INCREASING.

Myriads of Grasshoppers in Sacramento Valley.

State Resources to Fight Them Are at an End.

Up to County Authorities to Get Rid of Insects.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, June 4.—From various points in the Sacramento Valley counties and as far south as Tulare and Fresno, reports of new invasions of the grasshopper came to the horticulturist's office today.

Delay on the part of farmers to enter into a co-operative campaign against the cicada pests may make defensive measures practically useless, it is declared.

Dr. Cook says that the Horticultural Commission has exhausted its resources to aid the farmers affected. It is up to the county authorities and the persons affected to rid themselves of the pest. The State Commission has no authority to expend money in combating the insects. Instructions have been given to all county horticulturists and to as many farmers as have applied for information as to how relief can be obtained.

Poison, fire and the hopper-dozer, together with whitewash and some tin projecting around the trunks of fruit trees to keep off the "hoppers" is the way to combat the pest successfully, said Dr. Cook just before leaving for San Francisco en route to Portland, where he will attend a convention.

PASADENA MOTHER APPEALS.

Asks Portland Boy Police to Aid in Finding Son Who Wanted to Join the Navy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An appeal from a mother who is very ill has been received by the Portland Juvenile Court to aid in locating her boy. The boy is John Backman, 16 years old, who ran away from his home in Pasadena, March 2. He is described as looking about 18 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, about 140 pounds in weight with black hair, very dark-brown eyes and dark complexioned and with a small scar over his right eyebrow.

He wants to join the navy, and in her appeal, Mrs. A. V. Blackman, the mother, says: "Come back, Jack; you can recruit. Your papa will sign for you."

She asks that the boy police assist in finding her son. The family formerly lived in Oregon and went to California but a few months ago.

DETROIT WINS CONVENTION.

Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen Prefers It to Either Houston or Cleveland.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen tonight selected Detroit, Mich., as the convention city for 1916. Houston, Tex., was second choice, and Cleveland, O., third.

After the convention city was selected the convention adjourned, sine die.

The election of an executive board resulted as follows: J. W. Rhoades, Toledo; J. R. Powers, Oakland, Cal.; A. W. Evers, Corning, N. Y. (All reelected,) and A. W. Lake, Green Bay, Wis., and Robert McKinley, Temple, Tex.

GIRLS SMASH PRECEDENTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Radically violating precedent and adhering to their resolution to dress simply at the graduating exercises, the girl members of the senior class of the local high school are busily at work upon their commencement gowns.

Every member of the class has agreed to make the dress herself and to limit all expenditures to $6. Long gloves even are to be barred from the commencement exercises.

Heretofore the seniors have expended from $40 to $125 for each gown worn. Many girls, it is said, unable to bear the expense, dropped out without graduating. The Board of Education officially commended the class for the stand taken.

SECOND LEAP IS FATAL.

Foiled in First Attempt by Freight Crew Robert E. Lee Jumps in Front of Express.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA CLARA, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert E. Lee of Sacramento was instantly killed here this afternoon when he jumped in front of the Del Monte Express. Earlier in the afternoon he jumped in front of a freight train, but the train crew successfully foiled his suicidal attempt.

As far as can be learned by the authorities here he was a resident of Sacramento. His sister, Mrs. T. Estrada, was communicated with, but up to a late hour no word was received.

DENTISTS CHOOSE YOSEMITE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND (Cal.) June 4.—The delegates to the annual convention of California State Dental Association devoted their entire session today to election of committees and the selection of a meeting place for the convention in 1914.

The committee selected to consider the proposed union meeting with the Society of Southern California consists of the following: Dr. A. M. Barker, San Jose; Dr. Guy Millberry, San Francisco; Dr. H. G. Chappell, Oakland.

Yosemite Valley was the place chosen for the convention next year. The convention will close tomorrow.

BOY STIRS UP ESPEE.

Seattle Youngster Threatens to Shoot Railroad and Sets Officials Hunting for His Dog.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] Walter Woodruff, Jr., Seattle, has the entire working force of the Southern Pacific Railway busy looking for a lost dog. Here's the letter that has caused the exertion:

The manager of the raleroad.

Sir:

You and your raleroad ought to be shot for losing our dog Fluffy, she is our pet and you let her get away; we cry all the time, I wish I was big enough to lick you.

She has one white ear.

WALTER WOODRUFF, JR.

Mr. Walter Woodruff, Jr.,
Seattle, Wash.

Dear Sir: I was very sorry to learn of the loss of Fluffy, about which we have your letter. If there is anything I can do to get Fluffy back to you I will do it, as I have no desire to get "licked."

W. R. SCOTT.

LIGHTNING DAMAGES BRIDGE.

Engineer of Freight Train Near Redding Discovers Flames in Time to Avoid Accident.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

REDDING (Cal.) June 4.—The wooden trestle leading up to the steel bridge across the Sacramento River at Elmore, seven miles north of Kennet, was struck by lightning last night and badly damaged. A southbound extra freight, rounding a curve at 2 o'clock this morning, discovered the trestle in flames and was able to come to a stop barely in time.

Two sections of the trestle are seriously weakened, and it has been necessary to hold northbound passengers Nos. 14 and 16 at Red Bluff and southbound train No. 15 at Delta. It was expected that repairs would be completed before noon today.

ERECT PRE-COOLING PLANT.

Berry Growers at Sebastopol Will Now Be Able to Ship as Far East of Denver as Chicago.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] A pre-cooling plant to cost $12,000 and adapted to individual car work, is approaching completion at Sebastopol and is expected to be in operation by the end of the present week.

This plant was erected by the berry growers in that vicinity in order to put their shipments in the best possible condition for transportation across the continent by express. Heretofore the berry producers have not been able to ship much farther east than Denver on account of the difficulty in transporting such products, but this season they expect to get into the early Chicago markets.

They have lately had the assistance of an expert from the United States Department of Agriculture to advise them as to the best method of packing.

ART THRUST UPON HER.

San Francisco Will Revel in Cubist Creations of Philistine Members of Bohemian Club.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] Three days hence San Francisco will have art thrust upon her. The non-artist members of the artistic Bohemian Club will do the thrusting. They have been laboring with brush and paint pot, palettes having been voted down as unnecessary encumbrance, and now are resting on their brushes while San Franciscans in general and art lovers in particular are awaiting the result. As exponents of the cubists, they believe they will be declared a success.

Judges chosen from the massed have been selected to sit in judgment over the riotous and racy creations.

The contributors ordinarily are engaged in various professions, some being doctors, others lawyers and still others have been content to create art in letters, so it is hard to predict "what will the harvest be."

It is the annual custom for the artist members of the club to exhibit their work, but the non-artist members got "peeved" this year and it was necessary for the board of directors to grant them the same privilege in order to keep peace in the club.

INVOLVES SOCIETY WOMAN.

Second Trial of Denver Man For Slaying in Hotel Begins Today. Mrs. Springer to Testify.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) June 4.—A jury was selected today to try for the second time Harold F. Henwood, charged with the murder of George E. Copeland. The selection of a jury has taken almost two weeks.

Henwood is charged with having shot and killed Copeland while shooting at Sylvester L. Von Phul, whom he also killed, in the bar-room of a local hotel. The quarrel is said to have been over Mrs. John W. Springer, a beautiful society woman of the city who is expected to take the stand for the defense.

ONLY FAULT DRINK HABIT

Many men are good husbands, fathers and sons in every way except the Habit of Drinking. They mean to do right even in this respect, but have become so badly poisoned with alcohol that they cannot stop drinking, and the result is always unhappiness and poverty for the wife and family. Do not condemn your drinking husbands and sons, but encourage them to take the Neal Drink Habit Treatment and become sober and useful. The Neal Treatment will remove the craving and necessity for drink in three days—without hypodermic injections. Let us give you proof that it will not fail to give you satisfactory results. Write, telephone or call for full particulars. The Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, Los Angeles, or 160 Hill street, Ocean Park, California. Phones: Broadway 4602, A4072. The Chickering is the Best Piano

—for the Concert Stage
—for the Academy
—for the Home

—it is unquestionably the world's greatest piano

IN purchasing a Piano it is wise to investigate the record of the instrument you are considering on the Concert Stage and in the Musical Academy.

Apply this test to the Chickering Piano and you will discover that no other instrument is so generally used by great players and no other instrument is found in so many first-class Academies of America and Europe.

Therefore, if you are going to be guided by expert judgment you will place a Chickering Piano in your home. Then you will know that you possess the world's greatest instrument.

Our present display of Chickering grands and uprights is especially interesting. We invite you to see it and learn how these instruments may be bought on liberal payments. Art Catalog will be mailed free on request.

WHAT CITIES WILL YOU VISIT?

Special Rates East:—Attractive excursions to eastern cities have been announced for special dates, commencing in May; they include not only Missouri Valley cities, such as Omaha, Kansas City, but Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, gateways to the Middle East; also New York, Boston, Washington, for far eastern travel. On these excursions you can go one way and return another, and include the best to be seen on the western half of our continent. If you will ride one or two thousands miles in Burlington trains and note their operation, their punctuality, the many features that establish their "tone of service," you will understand why so many folks travel via Burlington. If there be "education in travel," no tour of the East is complete that does not include the Burlington.

Cadillac

POLICY IS ALWAYS ONE OF ADVANCEMENT

The "Story of the Cadillac" is one of that mechanical and commercial advancement which makes for permanency. The Cadillac Company has never yielded to clamor by producing that which catered merely to fancy, nor that which took advantage of the uninformed. On the contrary, it has produced only that which it knew to be right, that which it knew would give to the purchaser "value received" in abundant measure.

The Cadillac Company has never been obliged to resort to exaggeration and overdrawn claims to dispose of all the cars that it could make—and more. Its policy has ever been to under-claim rather than to over-claim. It is gratified that the public accepts its representations at their full worth; because the public has never been misled and because the public could always expect and has always received more than was offered.

COAL OPERATORS WARN SENATORS.

Fear West Virginia Inquiry Will Renew Disorders.

Declare Miners May Try to Call General Strike.

But Hearing Will Be Held According to Schedule.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Despite suggestions from coal operators that a visit of the Senate committee investigating the West Virginia coal strike conditions, "might undo all of the work of the State authorities in suppressing disorder," the committee determined to adhere today to its original programme to begin hearings at Charleston, W. Va., Tuesday, June 10, at 2 p.m.

C. C. Watts and Z. T. Vinson, representing the operators, suggested that an investigation in the field might lead to renewed disorders and even precipitate a general strike.

In a long statement to the committee Watts inferred that possibly the alleged conspiracy to assassinate Gov. Hatfield, discovered yesterday, might have resulted from the agitation accompanying the efforts of the investigating committee.

FEAR OF OPERATORS.

"Whether this proposed investigation has anything to do with this recently discovered attempt to assassinate Gov. Hatfield, I do not know," said Watts, "but this committee ought to consider this phase of the situation."

"There is a feeling down there even now," declared Vinson, "that the government of the United States is going to hold up the Governor and the authorities of the State and prevent them from preserving law and order."

"We have had great trouble," said Watts, "in subduing the riotous outbreaks so far. We fear that if another outbreak is induced it will paralyze the principal industry of our State. If those discontented man get the idea that you have come there to review the actions of the courts, they will think you have come to rescue them."

SENATORS INSISTENT.

Chairman Borah and Senator Swanson were not to be dissuaded. Senator Shields was insistent that the committee go to Charleston. Senator Martine suggested that the advent of the committee would have a reassuring effect.

SUGGESTS CURE OF SOCIAL ILLS.

WOULD HAVE RICH SWAP WITH POOR ONCE IN DECADE.

President of University Settlement at Washington Proposes That Society Girls and Factory Hands Exchange Places and Thus Learn Each Other's Burdens.

BY MARGARET W. DE PEYSTER.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] "Let society buds try working in the shops and let factory girls be sent into society and a long step will have been taken towards the cure of social ills."

So speaks Emil Frankel, president of the university settlement, a man who has made a close study of social ills at first hand.

"You cannot," points out Mr. Frankel, "pick up a newspaper without finding accounts of strikes, of wars between capital and labor, of the menace of Socialism and the perilous I.W.W. agitation.

"I have given much thought to the cause of all this unholy warfare and find it is that we do not know each other. The rich do not know about the lives and problems of the workers; the workers do not know about the lives and burdens of the rich."

"My plan eliminates these difficulties—in fact, all difficulties. Briefly, it provides that every person, male or female, sixteen years of age and over, now not doing any manual labor, must do such manual labor six months consecutively every ten years.

"For instance, if I am now a society woman, 21 years old, college graduate, making frequent trips abroad, etc, I will at once have to go to some factory—the choice of this factory being up to the committee on assignments. The same compulsory labor would devolve upon men and upon children in cases where child labor is employed.

"Another point in my law deals with the home. Mrs. Astorbilt for instance would have to vacate her palatial residence while employed at her assigned labors, and live on the East Side, her husband and children, of course, going with her. The East Side family to whose home Mrs. Astorbilt has been moved would then go to her erstwhile mansion, if found appropriate by the committee on clothes and homes, and if they chose might take their boarders along.

"These," continued the earnest Mr. Frankel "are but a few of the details of my plan. But you see, do you not, what enormous benefits would accrue to both classes from this interchange of life and habits."

GOETHALS HIS BOSS.

Appointment of Bryan's Editor Does Not Mean Advancement to Panama's Permanent Governorship.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary Garrison declared today that the selection of Richard L. Metcalfe of Lincoln, Neb., to be a member of the Panama Canal Commission in charge of the civil administration did not mean that he was to be governor of the zone when the permanent establishment was created.

Secretary Garrison declared Metcalfe was simply to replace Maurice H. Thatcher as one of the members of the commission, whose duties are prescribed by the chairman, Col. Goethals.

Committee Will Di... All Protests of Far...

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—[illegible] the Senate acts on the tariff bill, the income tax [illegible] be amended to remedy a defect which, it was discovered today, makes the measure unconstitutional. When the framers of the [illegible] provision fixed January 1, 1913, the date from which to [illegible] comes for taxation, they overlooked that the constitutional amendment authorizing an income tax [illegible] proclaimed as ratified [illegible] ary 25, 1913.

This fact was brought to the attention of the Senate Finance committee, which has the [illegible] under consideration, and an amendment probably will be [illegible] once.

Aside from the constitutional effect, arguments have been [illegible] in favor of making the tax [illegible] come accrue for the first [illegible] July 1 or later. As far as the constitutional limitation is concerned, it would be legal to compute [illegible] for 1913 from March 1.

Senator Williams's [illegible] still has under advisement the [illegible] of protests filed by officials of [illegible] mutual life insurance companies [illegible] their inclusion under [illegible] the income tax law, and the committee still is considering an amendment which would give such companies exemption if they can prove, after the tax has been paid, that they are not conducted for profit and that all of their surplus earnings are participated in by their policyholders.

IGNORES PROTEST.

Action by the subcommittee ratified by the Finance Committee in putting live stock and [illegible] on the free list, retaining on the [illegible] also, meats, flour and [illegible] expected, will arouse protest [illegible] farmers and farm organizations. [illegible] the committee will hold to the [illegible] tion of the problem presented [illegible] Underwood bill of equalizing [illegible] cultural raw materials, [illegible] products. One vigorous protest [illegible] from the corn belt of Iowa [illegible] the action was announced.

SENATE LOWERS HOUSE R[illegible]

Contrary to expectations [illegible] dent, the tariff bill, when it [illegible] from the Democratic majority [illegible] Senate, promises to carry lower [illegible] than when it passed the House.

Finance subcommittees are [illegible] through with their proposed [illegible] readjusting schedules, and [illegible] unanimous in their statement [illegible] the margin of readjustment [illegible] downward. Some increased [illegible] rates on cotton yarns and [illegible] pensive textile fabrics, such [illegible] tries, have been agreed upon, [illegible] the chemical, metal, agricultural [illegible] sundries schedules practically [illegible] revision has been for decrease [illegible] the free list will be considered [illegible] larged.

All the subcommittees [illegible] finish their work this week [illegible] may be possible to submit [illegible] to the Democratic caucus [illegible] June 14.

Seven I.W.W. Members Get Six Months in Peoria.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 4.—Agnes Hart Wilson, daughter of the Secretary of Labor in President Wilson's Cabinet, addressed the National Woman's Trade Union League convention here today and urged that the women purchasers of clothing be educated to demand the union label.

"I don't favor the boycott," said Miss Wilson, "but I do urge that we start a movement to bring out the garment makers' label on women's clothing. The names of all union makers of women's clothing should be mentioned prominently in the official bulletin of this league. That will advertise the goods and it will advertise us."

Miss Wilson told of her personal investigations of labor conditions in Washington, D. C., where she found women and children working long hours under unsanitary conditions and for low pay.

Miss Wilson said that the work under unsatisfactory conditions, to which she referred, was usually sewing, artificial flower making or other forms of home work.

I.W.W. MEMBERS FINED, GET SIX MONTHS IN PEORIA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEORIA (Ill.) June 4.—Seven Industrial Workers of the World, who went on a hunger strike in the City Jail here and broke up the dishes when they were given them, were fined $100 each and costs by a jury in the Police Court and sent to the penitentiary for six months each. The prisoners told the police that two hundred gangs were headed for Peoria. They have abandoned the hunger strike.

HUNT INVOKES REFERENDUM.

Petitions Circulated in Arizona to Suspend New Law Depriving Governor of Pardoning Power.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 4.—Referendum petitions directed against that section of the recently-enacted Penal Code which would deprive the Governor of his power to pardon or reprieve, were placed in circulation today in various parts of the State. Only 1100 signatures are required to suspend the operation of the code until the people can have an opportunity to vote upon it in November, 1914, and it is believed that this number will be quickly obtained.

The bill enacting the code was fought by Gov. Hunt because of the proviso that the pardoning and reprieving power should be vested in a board instead of the executive. He vetoed the measure but it was passed over the veto in the last days of the recent session of the Legislature.

Murderer Who Violated Parole Followed for Seventy Miles in Arizona and Arrested.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 4.—Traced for seventy miles by the heel marks of a hobnailed shoe on the mountain trails, Walter Sharp, a life-term murderer and honor man, who violated his parole, was captured by Prison Guard Peter Avente and brought here today on the way to the penitentiary at Florence.

Sharp was sentenced to life for having slain an aged saloon-keeper at Bisbee, whose money he took to gamble in a near-by resort. Thirteen months ago he was made an honor man and allowed to become a wood-cutter fifteen miles from the penitentiary. He disappeared five days ago.

When Avente came upon him Sharp surrendered, and said he had not eaten for two days.

Yell Defiance at Blood Disorders

At Last You Can Get Rid of Blood Troubles—S. S. S.

The word medicine is one of the most abused in our language. There are certain medicinal properties just as necessary to health as the food we eat. Take, for example, the well-known tonic medicine S. S. S. This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the elements of wheat, roast beef, the fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact, there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, falling hair, loss of weight, thin, pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced as spring fever. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright and cheerful, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice and a special book of instruction. S. S. S. is sold everywhere by drug stores, department and general stores.

MACHINE GUN TO MAKE LAWS.

HUNGARIAN PARLIAMENT AGAIN IN AN UPROAR.

Infantry and Cavalry Called to Hold in Check a Body of Men Organized to Enact Rules by Which to Hold Other People in Check.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BUDAPEST, June 4.—The announcement in the Chamber of Deputies today of the resignation of the Hungarian Premier, Dr. Ladislaus von Lukacs, and his Cabinet was preceded by scenes of uproar and violence surpassing any yet witnessed in this turbulent house. The authorities, anticipating trouble, closed the approaches of the parliament building to the public by strong bodies of infantry and cavalry supported by a machine gun and a detachment of police.

When Count Tissza, the Speaker, and Premier von Lukacs entered the chamber they were greeted by the opposition with shouts, jeers and insulting epithets. After several unavailing attempts to obtain quiet, the Speaker ordered the expulsion of several opposition deputies and summoned the Parliamentary guard to eject them.

The appearance of the guard started pandemonium. One guard seized Deputy Leher by the collar and called him offensive names.

"You scoundrel. This is indecent," exclaimed Count Kuhen von Hedervary, the former Premier, addressing Capt. Gerce, commander of the guard. Gerce drew his saber and struck the Count three on the head.

His face streaming with blood, the ex-Premier staggered and fell into the arms of a friend.

Cries of "murder" resounded through the hall. The fury of the opposition deputies was almost uncontrollable until it was ascertained that the injuries of Count Kuhen von Hedervary were only superficial.

At length Herr Julius Justh, the opposition leader, succeeded in quieting his followers, and the sitting, which in the meantime had been suspended, was resumed.

Recently Perfected Audiphone Proves a Revelation.

Very many deaf persons become discouraged because they have tried artificial eardrums and found them worthless, or one or more of the earlier, imperfect, electrical devices. To such in particular we urge a test of the remarkable new Audiphone, as it will certainly prove a revelation. It will also be a surprise to many that the Audiphone is sold at actually a lower price than other inferior though much advertised devices of earlier pattern. "Hearing is believing." Come and listen. RAILWAY ISSUES TOUCH BOTTOM.

AVALANCHE OF LIQUIDATION FOLLOWS TOBACCO SCARE.

Half Million Shares Change Hands by Noon and Lowest Quotations in Long Time Registered—Distrust Engendered by Talk of Administration's Anti-Trust Programme.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 4.—The irregularity and heaviness which have been the distinguishing features of the local market recently, culminated today in an avalanche of liquidation in the first two hours, greater than any witnessed for many months, which carried prices of important issues to the lowest quotations registered in a considerable period of time.

The movement centered largely about such representative stocks as Union Pacific, Reading, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting. Numerous other stocks of less prominence also felt the force of the impact, which resulted in an overturn of 500,000 shares by noon.

Among the many economic and technical causes which contributed in greater or less degree to the retrograde movement may be cited the distrust engendered by the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad receivership; discouragement at the apparent inability of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific roads to arrive at a satisfactory solution of their troubles; the recent liquidation in Canadian Pacific, bespeaking extreme financial tension across the northern border, and overnight dispatches from Washington intimating that the administration intends to renew action against so-called trusts, more particularly the tobacco interests.

In this connection tobacco shares, on light dealings, declined from five to seventeen points, the greatest loss being incurred by American Tobacco.

The decline was partly checked this afternoon upon advices from Washington that all reports respecting government prosecution were premature as yet. Short covering helped materially in further recovery recorded in final dealings, but net results showed an unusually large number of severe losses.

Brazilian Foreign Minister Will Visit America.

His Mission to This Country Is Strictly Friendly.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 4.—Cablegrams from Melbourne, Australia, received here today, report the probable defeat of the labor ministry in the elections held in the state recently. Returns available today, the message said, gave the Liberals forty-nine seats and the labor party thirty-six in the House of Representatives. Proposed constitutional amendments designed to extend the powers of the financial House of Representatives, were voted upon, but the fate is as yet unknown. The Liberals opposed the changes.

WIFE SHOOTS HUSBAND.

Finds Another Man Visiting Flat in Chicago and Fatally Wounds Him.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] John B. Van Keuren, Woodlawn hardware merchant, was shot and mortally killed today at the door of his wife's home.

The shooting followed a tip given by Van Keuren to the flat detectives who were watching the place, phoned to him they had seen a man enter. Mrs. Louise Van Keuren, who had been separated from her husband, is held at the police station. She has refused to answer questions by the police after giving out a statement in which she declared she fired the shot.

George A. Penrose, a neighbor, No. 6101 Cottage Grove avenue, was taken to the Woodlawn station and charges were made by Harry B. Van Keuren, brother of the victim. Penrose admitted being in the flat, but said he was there to see if he could match some chinaware which he had left with Van Keuren was going to buy from him. He was taken to the station when he was about to enter his office this morning. Penrose has a wife and three children.

The detective told the police he had seen Penrose enter the flat, left it and had notified Mr. Van Keuren.

"Mrs. Van Keuren was at Penrose's store till about 11 o'clock," he told the police. "Then she went to her flat. Twenty minutes later Penrose came from his store and went to the flat. I immediately notified Mr. Van Keuren by telephone and he said 'I'll be right over.'

"When he came I watched the front and he watched the rear. At 12:15 Penrose ran out the front door across the lot and took a car. I saw Mr. Van Keuren and a friend follow him, but we were too slow to get aboard the car. I said, 'Well, that settles it,' and Van Keuren said, 'I'll go back to see my wife and then I'll settle this thing out right now.' I said, 'Why don't you wait till you cool off?' But he said he wanted to settle it then and there. That was the last I saw of him and this afternoon I was told he had been shot."

M'ADOO'S AXE LOPS OFF FOUR.

Makes Jobs for Democrats in San Francisco.

Asks Resignations by Wire in Customs' Office.

Nominations Likely to Go to Senate Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the demand of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo yesterday for the resignation of Collector of the Port Frederick L. Stratton, other political heads of San Francisco Federal officials were chopped off today by McAdoo to make way for hungry Democrats.

Resignations of Duncan McKinlay, surveyor of the port; Gen. George Blake, naval officer; A. E. Muenter, collector of internal revenue, and John G. Mattos, appraiser of customs, were demanded by McAdoo by telegraph.

The precipitate action of McAdoo in demanding by wire the resignations taken here to presage the nomination of the successors of these officials probably tomorrow. The nominations may all go to the Senate tomorrow, including the name of the new collector of the port.

McAdoo and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, in charge of the customs division, today refused absolutely to discuss the names of the new officials. Neither McAdoo nor Curtis would even acknowledge that the resignations of the four officials named had been requested today. The California Democratic Congressmen—Baker, Kettner and Church—professed complete ignorance of McAdoo's action, but it was believed the Congressmen knew more about the case than they were willing to discuss.

It was reported that McKinlay will be succeeded by R. C. Larue of Woodland. James Barry or State Senator Sanford is said to be slated to capture the naval officer's berth. Cam Whitford of Vallejo, it is said, will be the new customs appraiser. W. A. Sheppard of Auburn is likely to succeed Muenter. Either J. O. Davis of Berkeley or R. H. Dewitt of Yreka will get Stratton's place. It is reported on reliable authority, if Dewitt gets the collectorship Davis is to be given the superintendency of the mint.

There is nothing unusual in McAdoo's demand for the resignations, as the terms of all the incumbents had expired.

ATTEAUX ON THE STAND.

Man Jointly Indicted With Woolen Manufacturer, Tells His Story to a Jury in Boston.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, June 4.—Frederick E. Atteaux, co-defendant with President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Company, and Dennis J. Collins in the dynamite conspiracy trial, told his story to the jury today.

He denied he had conspired with the other defendants, and with John J. Breen and the late Ernest W. Pitman to "plant" dynamite at Lawrence to prejudice public opinion against the striking textile operatives last year.

The greater part of his recital dealt with his relations with Breen, the Lawrence undertaker, convicted of placing the explosive, who testified that Atteaux hired him to do the work, and that Pitman furnished the dynamite. In many respects Atteaux's testimony dovetailed that of Breen, though the witness denied all criminality and insisted that portions of Breen's testimony were absolutely false.

Atteaux intimated that Breen had inveigled Pitman into the dynamite plot, and that when the exposure came and Breen was made the defendant in a number of civil suits growing out of the arrests of persons on whose premises the dynamite was found, Breen tried to blackmail the witness and Wood, to raise money to settle the suits.

The witness accounted for his movements on January 19, 1912, the day the conspiracy is alleged to have had its inception, and denied that he was the person driven in a taxicab from Wood's Boston house to Franklin and Washington streets, where, Breen testified that Atteaux paid him $500.

NO KINGDOM FOR ERNEST.

Husband of Emperor William's Daughter Will Have to Satisfy Himself With Grand Duchy.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to the Times.]

BERLIN, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] The pretty story that the Kingdom of Hanover was to be bestowed on Prince Ernest of Cumberland, the husband of Princess Victoria Luise, is just a fancy story, according to the official Nord Deutsche Allegemeine Zeitung.

In its issue today the Allegemeine Zeitung says:

"No Prussian King, no Prussian government and no national representative would lend a hand to change in the least the present status. Just as little can there be conceived the idea of the enlargement of the limits of the Grand Duchy of Brunswick."

It is emphatically denied that Princess Victoria Luise is in favor of either the restoration of the kingdom of Hanover, or the enlargement of Brunswick. It is said, however, that Prince Ernest soon will become the reigning Grand Duke of Brunswick.

GUNN PREFERS DUTY TO LOVE.

CHINESE AVIATOR BIDS HIS SWEETHEART FAREWELL.

Leaves San Francisco for Shanghai to Establish Military Flying School for New Republic—His First Visit to Land of His Fathers. Will Return Soon for Wedding.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tom Gunn, the young Chinese aviator, left today on the liner Wilhelmina, his destination being Shanghai, where he will establish a military flying school for the new republic. Gunn, who recently received his commission from the Chinese government, had to choose between love and duty. Accomplishing the latter, he hopes to return here within a few months to wed Miss Lilly Tong, daughter of a prominent Chinese merchant, who, like himself, is a native of California.

Miss Tong and her sister, Anna, who are both attending the Oakland High School, were at the pier, both dressed in the height of fashion to wish Gunn success in his undertaking.

"I have no fear concerning Tom," said the pretty Chinese girl, although there were tears in her eyes. "I am confident that he will make good, as I know what he can do. And some day I hope to make a trip in the air with him myself."

Gunn and his fiancee have known each other for years, having attended the public schools together.

Before going to China the young aviator expects to stop at Honolulu, where he will make several flights under the auspices of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce.

"I am taking with me a biplane, a flying boat and a military tractor," said Gunn, "and it is my object to establish a government school in China. The new republic has expressed its intention of going into aviation in earnest, and I believe that China will soon rank with other countries in aerial navigation. This is my first visit to the land of my father's and I feel my commission to be an important one. I have already instructed a number of Chinese students here in the art of flying, and they will probably go to China in the future to be instructors at the military school."

A HARMLESS DUEL.

PARIS, June 4.—A harmless duel was fought today by leading literary men of Paris. Paul Hervieu, the academician or "Immortal," offended by a critical paragraph which appeared in the Action Francaise, had challenged Leon Daudet, the chief editor of that paper, and the couple met today at the Parc des Princess and fought with pistols. Four shots were exchanged but neither was touched and a reconciliation was effected.

WHY - - MONTHLY

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA HOME BUILDERS

Custom has made it a privilege and an honor to be permitted to pay monthly.

When you pay rent, you pay it monthly and you pay it in advance.

Your grocer, your butcher, your baker, and all the others ask you to open a charge account.

So, too, has the rule been made to apply to the buying of homes, in which specialty Southern California leads the world.

The rule that governs the selling of merchandise on a monthly charge account controls the selling of homes on monthly payments.

And, finally, the same rule governs the buying of investments on the monthly payment plan.

In this way only can you secure a larger amount than if you had to pay cash, and yet you make your payments monthly at your leisure.

$1.25 monthly pays for 100 shares in this company. Take more or pay cash, if you wish. Dividends paid quarterly, 10% on par.

JOHNSON GETS YEAR AND FINE.

Negro Heavyweight Pugilist Must Go to Joliet.

Will Fight for Liberty on a Writ of Error.

Chicago Federal Judge Lets Him Out on Bonds.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 4.—Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion, today was sentenced to one year and one day in the State penitentiary at Joliet and fined $1000 for violation of the Mann White Slave Act.

Sentence was pronounced on Johnson after Federal Judge Carpenter had denied a motion for a new trial made by counsel for the negro. Johnson obtained two weeks time in which to prepare a writ of error, and the bonds of $30,000 on which he has been at liberty since his conviction were allowed to stand.

Half a dozen deputy United States marshals who had grouped themselves about Johnson in anticipation of resistance when the prison sentence was given, left the room when Judge Carpenter announced that the fighter could continue temporarily at liberty.

PENITENTIARY CROWDED.

The sentence to the State penitentiary is the result of a recent order from Washington that all persons convicted in the Federal Court in this district should be sent to the State prison, owing to the crowded condition of the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas.

Johnson left the court room declaring he would not give up his fight for liberty, and that if the writ of error were denied, he would make further appeals.

The argument for a new trial came as a surprise late this afternoon. The case had not been set previously and the proceedings began with the unexpected appearance in the court room of Johnson and his lawyer.

THE SENTENCE.

"It has been hard to determine what punishment should be meted out in this case," said Judge Carpenter in passing sentence. "We have had many cases where violations of the Mann Act have been punished with a fine only. We have had other cases where defendants have been sentenced to one or two years in the penitentiary.

"The circumstances in this case have been aggravated. The life of the defendant, by his own admissions, has not been a moral one. The defendant is one of the best known men of his race, and his example has been far reaching.

"The sentence shall be that the defendant shall be confined a year and one day in the Joliet penitentiary and that he shall be fined $1000."

The court denied a request of counsel for Johnson that the negro be allowed to serve the term in the city Bridewell instead of the State's prison.

Johnson was convicted May 10 of having paid for the transportation of Belle Schreiber from Pittsburgh to Chicago.

CHINAMAN OR POODLE?

Wife of Los Angeles Merchant Stumbles Across Oriental in Pajamas and Damage Suits Result.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] "Mrs. Bell rented the front parlor to a Chinaman. Matters came to a climax when last Sunday morning my daughter, on appearing in the hallway, discovered the celestial performing his gymnastic stunts in pink pajamas."—Statement by Mrs. N. B. Wilson.

"The Chinaman had nothing to do with our quarrel. Mrs. Wilson's toy poodle tore my rugs and scratched my furniture. Trouble started when I asked her to make good the loss. She would not move, either, when her lease expired."—Statement by Mrs. Brook M. Bell.

What caused trouble between Mrs. N. B. Wilson and Mrs. Brook M. Bell—a Chinaman in pink pajamas or a tiny French poodle dog?

The poodle, says Mrs. Bell.

The latter, through her attorney, Frederick Fischel, has filed two suits against Mrs. Wilson, who is the wealthy widow of a prominent southern attorney and who lived with her at No. 4143 Grand avenue. One is for $10,000, alleging slander, and the other for the recovery of $500 because of damaged property.

Mrs. May Mock, wife of a Los Angeles merchant and a daughter of Mrs. Wilson, who threatened to shoot Mrs. Bell and the janiter when they sought to eject her and her mother from their apartment, said today of Howard Chinn, "the Chinaman in the case:"

"He wouldn't get home until 3 o'clock in the morning and would rise again at noon. He would go to the bathroom in his pajamas and naturally at that time of day we would meet him in the hallway. Why, we hate Chinamen out in California and instead of renting them a room we make them sleep in the garage, where they belong."

BUSCH SENDS BIG CHECK.

Grand-daughter of St. Louis Brewer Is Married to Chicagoan at Fashionable Wedding.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the most fashionable weddings of the social season here was that taking place tonight when Miss Lillian Magnus, favorite granddaughter of Adolphus Busch, became the bride of Sidney L. Berg.

A check for $20,000 is the wedding present of the multi-millionaire brewer of St. Louis to his grand-daughter. The check arrived at the home of the bride's parents several days ago in an envelope marked, "Not to be opened until Wednesday."

But the bride could not suppress her curiosity yesterday and after she had counted every one of the five figures she hurried to tell her betrothed of her grandfather's generosity. Miss Ethel Wynne Glass, society bud of Portland, was one of the bridesmaids.

Do not neglect your family. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is sure to be needed when least expected.—[Advertisement.

HANDICAPS GRAFT CASE.

Prosecution of San Francisco Boodle Chases on Charge Made by Bunco Men.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Hopelessly handicapped by the ruling of Judge Dunne yesterday, the prosecution closed its case today against Abe Escola, a suspended policeman charged with grand larceny.

The people have sought to prove that Escola was a partner of Joseph Gallo, a convict bunco man, by calling John Fedda of Modesto as a witness. Judge Dunne ruled yesterday that no evidence from other bunco cases belonging to the $360,000 graft could be admitted, unless it bore directly upon the offense specified in the indictment. On just such evidence the defense chiefly relied.

Dino Denegri, a former Italian consul man and now a restaurant keeper, proved the strongest witness for the District Attorney produced. He testified that Gallo had left $10 at his place of business for Escola in December, 1912. Escola did not collect it, and the money was given back to Gallo.

On another occasion Escola told him that there were too many bunco men in town and that the graft would have to be cut down to two men, to which Gallo had replied:

"Well, I guess they'll keep it up."

When court convened today Detective Manion, whom Gallo had named as an honest officer, took the stand for the defense. He testified that Gallo had been arrested by Escola at Manion's instance.

Tomorrow James Hosick and William Ingram of the Los Angeles police department, who arrested Gallo there, will be called for the defense. Before the grand jury Gallo testified that Ingram had accepted money from him, and that Hosick had refused it.

DEFOLIATE ENTIRE ORCHARD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, June 4.—Pending his injunction for the fruit men to take every possible precaution against the invasion of grasshoppers, the Horticultural Commissioner left today for San Francisco on business. No further action to prevent spread of the pest came up in the capitol today.

An investigation of the damage done yesterday to the two-year-old orchard of Herbert Shaw in Sacramento county revealed that not only the young trees have been entirely defoliated, and the orchard rendered practically worthless.

Notices have been sent to fruit growers and farming and fruit-growing sections of the State in which the grasshoppers have appeared, for the purpose of urging fight the "hoppers" with poison or to utilize the "hopper-dozer" and scrape them off the fields and orchards into the poison-soaked scoops.

CALIFORNIA HERO PASSES

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Lucius Harwood Foote, formerly United States Minister to Korea and Adjutant-General of California, died at his home here today at the age of 87. Two years ago he was stricken with apoplexy, and had been confined to the house since. Gen. Foote entered the diplomatic service as consul to Valparaiso in 1875, became minister of foreign affairs, was sent on a special mission to Central America, and in 1883 was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Korea, a position he held until his resignation two years later.

During his occupancy of the position at Seoul he negotiated a treaty by which Korea was admitted into the family of nations, and in the following year's revolt of 1883 against Chinese influence then exercised a quasi protectorate over Korea, he rendered signal and distinguished services in protecting the Japanese and other foreigners. He received the thanks of the governments of China and Japan and was presented with the freedom of the city of Tokio.

Gen. Foote was born at Geneva, N. Y., and crossed the plains to California in 1853. He was admitted to the bar in 1856 and, becoming active in State politics, was elected to the principal judge in Sacramento county. He was appointed secretary of the State of Sacramento, before becoming Adjutant-General of the State under Gov. Booth.

In addition to his contributions to the life, Gen. Foote was the author of two volumes of poems and for many years had been treasurer of the California Academy of Sciences. His funeral will be conducted by the Masonic order, of which he was an honorary member.

"MAZIE THE MOTOR MAID"

Verses by Paul West — Drawings by J. Norman Lynd

The Wholesome American Girl with Dash and Spirit

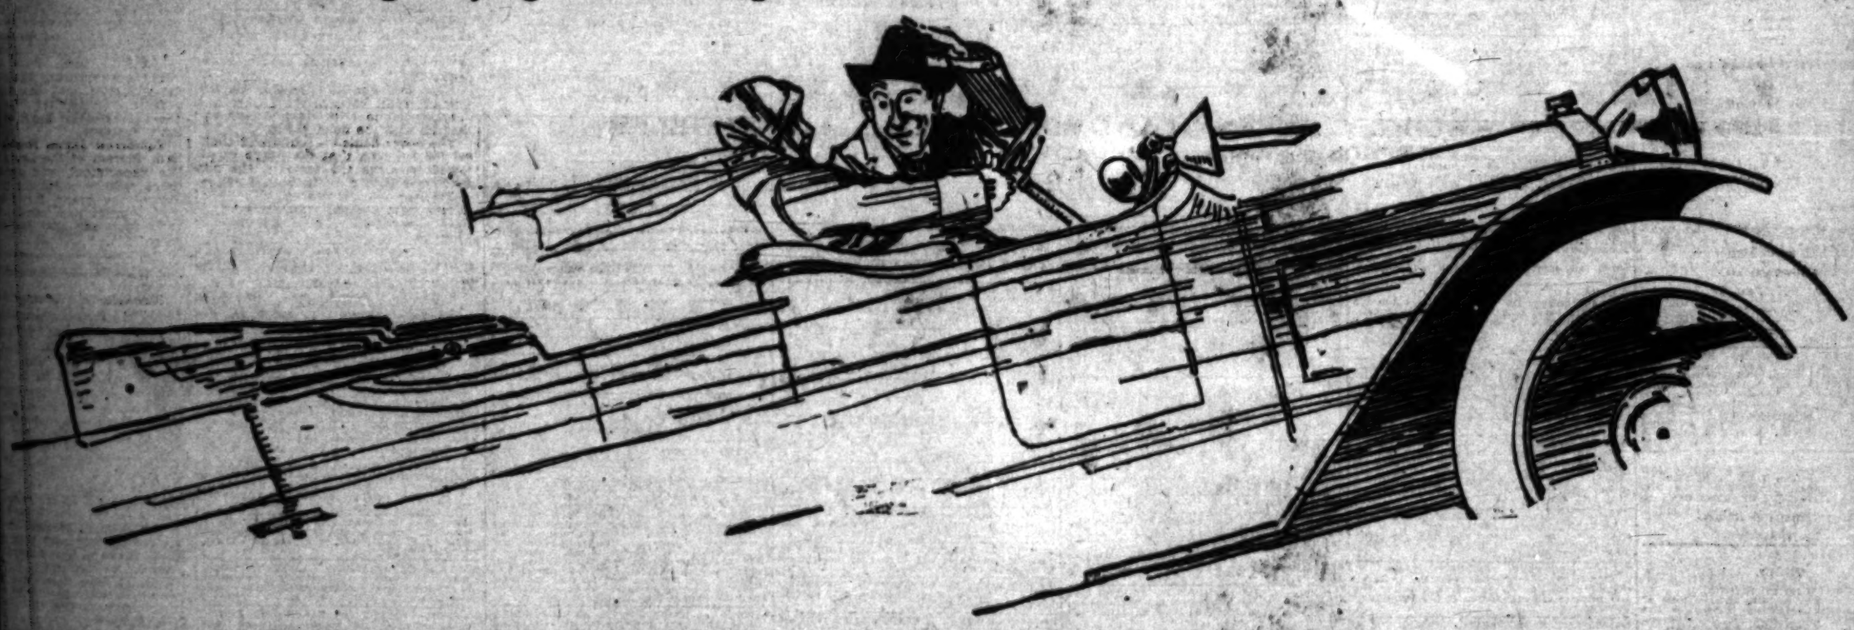
ORDER TO-DAY FROM YOUR NEWSDEALER, FOR MAZIE'S TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS WILL NOT ONLY BE AMUSING BUT INSTRUCTIVE AS WELL

MAZIE is a product of the "speed-mad" civilization of the present day. She is pretty, athletic, independent and fearless. She has a rich and indulgent Pa, whom she manages as easily as most young girls of the day manage their parents. She wants her own motor car, and wants to run it herself, and Pa cannot refuse her.

Mazie gets a car, starts out and---the result may be imagined. Nothing daunted, she buys another, and this also comes to grief. But she keeps on, and though Pa complains she continues to wheedle him into gratifying her extravagances.



Smash-ups, collisions, breakdowns, arrests for speeding---every misfortune that can come to the amateur motorist comes to her. She takes the wildest chances and has the most amusing, yet thrilling, experiences. But somehow she always escapes serious injury, and is ready for the next attempt. She won't give in beaten. She can't. She is "speed-mad," like so many people you know.

Every time, however, Mazie learns something, which she makes a note of in her "little book of rules," using her own peculiar language in setting it down, with the result that Mazie's book of rules ought to become a classic, to be followed by everybody who ever tries to run his own car.

Through Mazie's adventures runs a love story, and if she bears, as she seems to, a charmed life, it is hoped that this will end happily some day. Till then her thrilling and amusing experiences ought to prove interesting not only to those who own cars but those who dodge them.

FAILS TO FIND ASSETS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Martin S. Cohn of No. 302 Broadway, attorney for the estate of John J. Cook, who died suddenly Thursday in the Hudson-street Hospital, said today that he has been unable to find more than a few hundred dollars of Cook's assets, although it was thought Cook had left an estate worth several hundred thousand dollars. Besides a small sum in cash, Cook left a life insurance policy for $5000, payable to his widow, Jessie L. Cook.

Cook was agent for the Bailey Knitting Mills, Ft. Plain, N. Y. Last Thursday he was seized by an attack of heart trouble while in his office and died that night. Cook's mother is living in Berkeley, Cal.

STEP TOWARD CHURCH UNITY.

Presbyterian and Reformed Denominations Will Endeavor to Join Their Publication Boards.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—A step toward the proposed union of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches was taken here today, when, at a meeting of the publication and Sunday-school board of the Reformed Church, a committee of ministers was appointed to confer with representatives of the Presbyterian Church in an effort to arrange a union of the publication boards of the two denominations.

The officers elected were: President, Rev. C. Cleves of Hagerstown, Md.; secretary, N. H. Valliet, Lehighton, Pa.; treasurer, John H. Hamberger, Cleveland, and general secretary, Rev. R. W. Miller of Philadelphia.

POSTMASTER LET OFF EASY.

Memphis Official Who Collected Campaign Funds, Fined One Dollar on Each of Four Counts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 4.—Postmaster L. W. Dutro of this city, in the Federal court today was found guilty on four counts charging him with receiving money for political purposes. A fine of $1 and costs on each count was assessed.

Because of ignorance of the law Dutro was only technically guilty, District Judge John E. McCall declared, and was dealt with leniently.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Jerseyites Meet.

The New Jersey Association of Los Angeles will meet at No. 957 West Seventh street tonight. All Jerseyites are urged to attend, bringing their friends.

Patrolman Injured.

Patrolman Aubrey was thrown from his motorcycle and injured late Tuesday night when he collided with an automobile at Fifth and Hill streets. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Civics in Foreign Lands.

"An Investigation of Civics in Foreign Lands" will be the subject of an address by Mrs. Willoughby Rodman to the members of the Federated Improvement Association at their meeting this evening in the Chamber of Commerce building. The public is invited.

Nurses on Lookout Mountain.

One hundred members of the graduating class of the school of nurses of the California Hospital banqueted last night on the summit of Lookout Mountain, in the dining-room of the hotel of that name. An informal programme of speaking added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

For Inspector of Dredging.

The local board of civil service examiners will hold an examination for the position of inspector of dredging June 17 at the office in the Central building. Nobody will be eligible who has not had at least one year's experience in similar work. Those wishing to take the examination may receive the proper blank by applying at the office of the examiners.

Benefit Concert Tonight.

The orchestra of the Church of the Messiah, consisting of thirty members, will give a concert this evening in the auditorium of the University of Southern California. Miss Thelma Robbins, vocalist; Miss Alpha Sigfrid, violinists; Miss Alta Seamans, reader, will assist in the programme. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the South Main-street Methodist Church.

Shade Tree Commission.

At the request of the Los Angeles County Horticultural Society the Chamber of Commerce has prepared an ordinance which calls for the appointment by the Mayor of three commissioners, to serve without salary, to have charge of all planting and maintenance of shade trees on the streets of the city. It will be submitted to the City Council.

The War God Tonight.

Rabbi Isidore Myers will give a lecture-recital this evening in Gamut Club Auditorium of Zangwill's latest play, "The War God." Dr. Myers recently delivered the lecture before the Friday Morning Club and is said to have created a sensation, not only by the remarkable plea the author makes for universal peace, but by the lecturer's masterly presentation.

Back From Abroad.

Col. and Mrs. J. S. Van Doren, of No. 834 West Twenty-eighth street, and their daughter, Mrs. John H. Norton, widow of the late Maj. Norton, are back from a two-year tour of this country and of the world. They covered 25,000 miles altogether and their verdict is that the globe has no city to compare with New York, Los Angeles being a close second.

On Character Building.

The Superintendent of Schools will speak on "Character Building" at a meeting of the presidents of the Los Angeles Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, to be held in the Olive-street High School building tomorrow morning. Mrs. William E. Brown will talk on legislative matters of interest to women and children. The election of officers will precede the speaking.

Not an Expee Lawyer.

Through an inadvertence it was stated yesterday that T. S. Minot, a San Francisco attorney, who is at the Angelus for a few days, is a representative of the Southern Pacific Railroad in the oil land suits. The contrary is true, as Minot is here representing a group of persons laying claim to parts of the disputed territory. Incidentally he is a candidate for United States District Attorney for this district.

Reception by President Bovard.

The president's reception in honor of the senior class of U.S.C. will be held in the Ebell Clubhouse on Friday evening. In the receiving line with President and Mrs. Bovard will be Bishop and Mrs. B. H. Hughes, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Healy, and the deans of the respective colleges. On Sunday morning Bishop Hughes will preach the baccalaureate sermon in the University Church and in the evening Prof. Tully Knoles will deliver the annual address at the same place.

To Get Money Back.

Applications are coming in to Internal Revenue Collector Parker from corporations who want their taxes back under the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the McCoach case, which was to the effect that corporations deriving their income from leased property are not such under the corporation tax law and that any assessment made by the government in the past should be refunded. In this district the amount of the refund will come to several thousand dollars.

Engineers' Dinner and Field Day.

Prof. Martin of the University of California will deliver a lecture before the local branch of the Engineers' and Architects' Association, at a dinner to be given at the Hollenbeck Hotel this evening at 6 o'clock. His subject will be "Some Glimpses of Unique Hawaii of Particular Interest to Engineers," and will be illustrated by a large number of lantern slides. On Saturday, June 14, a complimentary field day will be held at San Pedro, in which the members and their families will participate.

Starts Trouble for Herself.

Miss Laura L. Whitlock, plaintiff in a copyright- infringement suit against N. Bowditch Blunt in the United States District Court, created a mild sensation there yesterday when she testified under oath that one of the officials of the Security Trust and Savings Bank declared in a conversation with her that there is no honor in business. The official in question categorically denies that any such statement was ever made and the company's lawyer was immediately instructed to take action in the matter.

Courtesies for Secretary Daniels.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has notified the Chamber of Commerce that he will arrive here between July 20 and 25, and will be received by a special committee and escorted to the Hotel Alexandria. He will be accompanied by his private secretary, Mrs. Daniels and Miss Daniels. On the afternoon of his arrival he will be taken to the harbor in a special train and shown around, and in the evening will be entertained at a smoker, when he will address the members of the organization on affairs pertaining to the Pacific Coast. The next day he and his party will be taken on a sight-seeing automobile tour of the city and vicinity.

Aqueduct Celebration in November.

The committees in charge of the aqueduct celebration held a conference with Chief Engineer Mulholland yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce, and after learning from him that the break in the aqueduct would be fully repaired by the middle of October, the celebration was re-set for November 5 and 6. The committees were authorized to proceed with their arrangements and make the celebration one that will be noted the world over.

PERSONALS.

Lucien E. Larson registered several days ago at the Alexandria from Manila. Larson is a young attorney and is on his way to Washington, where he will study law of international character, as well as grammatical English. Larson explained that all lawyers of the Philippines, according to a recent edict of the courts, must argue their cases in English instead of in Spanish as in the past.

Jeff McElwaine, member of the State Board of Equalization, arrived at the Hollenbeck yesterday from Sacramento, where he has been a regular attendant at the legislative session. He is here visiting his family and looking after personal business affairs.

R. C. Symington, accompanied by his daughter, is registered at the Angelus from San Antonio. Symington is a capitalist and is retired from all active business. His present visit here is entirely for pleasure.

Edward F. Graeber and C. B. Shreve are staying at the Van Nuys. They came up from San Diego yesterday by auto. Graeber is up from Mexico visiting friends while business is suspended in the western states. He has interests at Ensenada.

Mrs. C. C. Van Arsdale, accompanied by her secretary, Mrs. J. Ross, is registered at the Hollenbeck from Portland. She arived yesterday from San Diego, where last week she attended the annual convention of the Pythian Sisters, an organization of which she is a high official.

Lieut. and Mrs. Arthur W. Stone, accompanied by their children, are guests at the Lankershim, where they are registered from San Francisco. Lieut. Stone is an officer in the navy and has been in command of one of the small vessels of the Coast Fleet.

Frederick W. Stearns of Chicago passed through Los Angeles yesterday on his way to San Francisco. He stopped for a few hours at the Alexandria. Stearns is attorney and representative of the Byllesby Company, which controls electrical companies in nearly 150 cities of the country. He is here to help in securing a right of way into Fresno out of Oakland.

Samuel A. Blythe is staying at the Van Nuys, where he is registered from San Francisco. He is one of the heavy oil and land operators in the Bakersfield district and is here visiting friends.

Dr. George N. Fleming arrived at the Lankershim yesterday from Gallup, N. M., where he is in general practice. Arriving with him was John James McCann, a mining man of Salt Lake City, and his wife.

J. O. Davidson, one of the three receivers of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway, is here from Kansas City with his family for a two-week stay. The Davidsons expect to visit all the points of interest in Southern California while here.

RUSH DIAMONDS INTO COUNTRY.

IMPORTERS GET AHEAD OF NEW TARIFF SCHEDULE.

Almost Five Millions Worth of Gems Received at New York During May, Breaking All Previous Records for Month by Six Hundred Thousand Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The indication that local diamond importers are rushing large quantities of gems into this country in expectation of an increase in the tariff, is given in figures compiled by William B. Treadwell, jewelry examiner at the appraiser's stores. According to his report the total value of the gems received through the port of New York for the month of May reached $4,606,322.

These record-breaking figures are $1,500,000 greater than the value of the gems imported in May, 1911, and nearly $600,000 more than the highest figures ever recorded for that month in any year. In May, 1906, the total reached $4,021,405, which was the previous high mark.

ASKS GRAZING FOR STOCK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Kahn today urged Chief Forester Graves to order the California district foresters to allow more cattle and sheep entry to grazing tracts in the forest reserves.

Kahn showed Graves letters and telegrams from California stock raisers complaining that three-fourths of their stock have not been allowed on the reserves, and that the stock will either have to be shipped out of the State or allowed to starve. Graves said he would immediately do whatever possible to do to relieve the conditions complained of.

WEEK TO THINK IT OVER.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

EDINBURGH, (Scotland) June 4.—The strike threatened by 40,000 shipbuilders, which recently was favorably voted on, has been averted for at least one week as a result of a conference between the men and employers tonight.

Another meeting will be held at the end of this period to consider propositions made by the owners.

TO ENTERTAIN DANIELS.

Secretary of Navy Will Be Here Next Month—Bryan Is Unable to Come to Endeavor Convention.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] About July 25 Los Angeles will have the honor of entertaining Secretary of the Navy Daniels. The Secretary will go to the Coast next month. He told Congressman Stephens today, when the latter extended a cordial invitation to visit Los Angeles, that he would go to Seattle on July 20, and from there would go to San Francisco, which place he expects to reach on the 25th.

He intends also to visit San Diego, where the torpedo fleet is to be maintained a base. After seeing all of California the Secretary will start his journey northward to fill an engagement at Spokane. It was also announced tonight that Secretary of State Bryan would go to Los Angeles July 9 to attend the Christian Endeavor convention. Congressman Stephens called on him to express the pleasure of the people of Los Angeles over this and to extend the hospitality of the city to the Secretary of State and his party. The error and that he was not coming

TAKES HER OWN LIFE.

Woman Lawyer Who Was Barber for Love's Sake Ends Suicide in Sanatorium.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 4.—Mrs. Julia F. V. Harris, attorney and owner of a barber shop in this city, Kan., who last April left her husband a barber, Cornwall Harris, with a hatchet, committed suicide today by taking poison in a sanatorium, where she had been confined following Ellis.

Ellis recovered from his wounds. Mrs. Harris at the time of the shooting said love for Ellis caused her act.

PROMOTION FOR WINCHELL.

Meets James J. Hill and Latter's Appointment to Presidency of Western Pacific Is Predicted.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) June 4.—Rumor that B. L. Winchell, one of the receivers of the Frisco road, would be appointed president of the Western Pacific Railroad to succeed Elliott, gained circulation here today following a short conference between James J. Hill and Mr. Winchell.

"I don't care to discuss the matter," Mr. Hill said when asked about the rumor.

Mr. Winchell also declined to discuss his talk with Mr. Hill.

GENERAL STRIKE OF MARINE FIREMEN.

Officers of Marine Unions Call Out Who Work for Pacific Steamship Company.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—Officers of the Marine Firemen's Union declared today a general strike of members in the employ of the Southern Fruit Company, in connection with a cut in wages of from $10 to $15 a month. Though the union officials predict that 1200 of the 1500 marine employees here will go out, it is said that as several hundred members of the union of New York, Philadelphia, Mobile and Boston, officers of the union here tonight were inclined to minimize the importance of the strike.

MILITANTS FIRE MANSION.

Arsonettes Inflict Damage to Thousand Dollars Done to Lloyd Estate in Wiltshire.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 4.—Damage totaling $75,000 was done early today by a "suffragette arson squad" which set fire to a newly-constructed and unoccupied mansion at Wiltshire, near Trowbridge, Wiltshire. The militants left behind them a placard bearing the words "for damages done Rupeiman."

The Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, Commissioner of Woods, Forests and Land Revenues, addressed a meeting at Trowbridge last night, during which a number of militant interrupters were ejected.

A Thorny Rose.

GRAND BOUNCE FOR THE GOO-GOOS SCHEDULED.

General Housecleaning at the City Hall to Be the Opening Number of New Municipal Administration Programme—Citizens Give Earl Credit for the Defeat of Shenk—His Insult to Women.

A BURNING wave of resentment swept over Los Angeles yesterday upon the appearance in the Tribune of Earl's charge that the election of Judge Rose to the Mayoralty was a "triumph of the underworld." The charge was such a dirty and senseless fabrication that the thousands of business men and solid citizens who voted for Rose were up in arms over it, and they took it as a depraved and gratuitous insult to their wives. Threats of personal chastisement from gentlemen whose wives participated in the great Rose automobile parade were heard on the streets. Two infuriated men called at the District Attorney's office and demanded action. At the Lankershim Hotel a group of men declared they would inflict summary punishment. The affront will not pass unnoticed. There is something doing.

The majority of Mayor-elect Rose over Shenk is 8837, according to a complete unofficial count. Stephens's majority over Morgan is 24,987. Four Municipal Conference candidates for Council are elected, and the Board of Education indorsed by the conference is returned intact. An analysis of the vote cast at the election on Tuesday throws some interesting sidelights on the local political situation, which has been in a decidedly agitated condition for the two months last past.

Throughout the city yesterday there was nowhere any division of sentiment that the defeat of Shenk is to be laid directly at the door of E. T. Earl, now triply and thoroughly repudiated by the voters of Los Angeles.

That there will be a general housecleaning at the City Hall and in the various commissions is certain, although the Mayor-elect says that it is too soon yet to take up the question of appointments. However, the water board is doomed, and Frank Henderson, together with "High Line" Graham, will be out in the cold, unfeeling world on or about July 4, when the new administration takes over the reins of government. Rose said yesterday that he expects to retain Sebastian as Chief of Police, a decision received with much favor. There will be a general exodus of the Goo-Goo gang at the City Hall by the resignation-two-jumps-ahead-of-the-boot route before Rose takes office.

THE "NEW" COUNCIL.

Just how far the new Mayor may be able to go in his departmental reorganization unhampered by the Council is somewhat problematical. Six members of the present Council are re-elected, every one of the incumbents who succeeded in securing a primary nomination coming through the election ordeal victorious. John Topham failed to qualify at the primary, and J. J. Andrews and George Williams did not make the race. The remaining six members of the present Council are re-elected, F. J. Whiffen, P. C. Langdon, Martin P. Betkouski, Haines W. Reed, Charles McKenzie and W. J. Bryant. The three new members are J. S. Conwell, Fred C. Wheeler and John W. Snowden.

Of this number Bryant, Langdon and McKenzie are the only ones left of the old Goo-Goo crowd. Betkouski, Conwell, Snowden and Whiffen are independent, Wheeler is an out-and-out Socialist, and Reed may also be depended upon to line up on that side of the fence. The Council represents widely-divergent political views and the Mayor may have his troubles in benevolently assimilating them.

As at the primary election, F. J. Whiffen is "high man" in the voting and will be president of the board unless official returns make some change in the relative positions of Whiffen and Langdon, the latter running but 116 votes behind the "watch dog of the treasury." Whiffen has 47,746 votes and Langdon 47,630.

Next in order comes Martin Betkouski with 46,993, then J. S. Conwell with 44,608, Fred C. Wheeler with 42,443, Haines W. Reed with 40,529, Charles McKenzie with 39,481, W. J. Bryant with 38,966 and John W. Snowden with 38,818. Of these Whiffen, Langdon, Conwell and Snowden were indorsed by the Municipal Conference. One of the surprises of the election is the failure of Capt. H. Z. Osborne to qualify. He is tenth on the list with 37,607 votes. The entire incumbent Board of Education is re-elected, H. W. Frank heading the list with a vote of 49,160, with Reynold E. Blight trailing at 40,316. Joe Scott ran sixth.

LOW TOTAL VOTE.

The total vote, which is only 84,055 for the head of the ticket, according to the complete unofficial returns, is the secondary cause for the defeat of Shenk. First comes the attempt of Earl to rule the roost and claim the candidate for his own, which sent thousands of votes to the Rose camp and kept other thousands at home. This stay-at-home vote played a very important part in the result. In spite of the excellent organization perfected by Mrs. John S. Myers and her corps of assistants, the women did not turn out in any large numbers, and of those who did take the trouble to go to the polls a considerable percentage appeared to favor the election of Rose. The total vote for Mayor is only about 5000 in excess of the primary vote and nearly 100,000 under the registration.

WHAT THEY'LL DO.

Shenk plans to enter upon the private practice of his profession in accordance with plans he had already made before being induced to become a candidate for Mayor, and he will follow out this plan after turning the office of City Attorney over to Albert Lee Stephens next month. Rose is now on vacation leave from his duties as police judge and expects to spend a few days in the mountains resting from the exertions of the campaign. Next week he will resume his duties on the bench and clear his calendar of a number of hang-over cases which require his personal supervision. His resignation as police judge will prob-

TEN-THOUSAND VERDICT FOUND AGAINST JONES.

Book Man Must Pay Damages for Having Libeled Customers—Amazing Letter from Former Angeleno Relating Alleged Experiences of Wife and Daughter in Store Shown Judge—Court's Instructions.

FRED D. JONES, proprietor of an old book store on First street, must pay $10,000 damages to John T. and Mary H. Anderson for having libeled them. This is the finding of a jury in extra sessions No. 1 of the Superior Court, last night, at about 8 o'clock. The action was for $48,000.

Although the plaintiff and the defense had rested and the argument was nearly completed, a sensation reigned in the court yesterday, when it became generally known that Anderson had received a remarkable letter from Searchlight, Nev., bearing on his suit.

When it was too late to be introduced as evidence, this letter was privately shown to Judge Childs, and the writer will undoubtedly be the most important witness if an appeal is taken, as was announced by the defense yesterday.

AMAZING LETTER IN COURT.

The communication is from L. W. Godin, president of the L. W. Godin General Merchandise Company, Searchlight. It is addressed to Anderson, and the writer says:

"I have been reading in The Times about your damage suit against Jones, the book store man. I am taking the liberty to write to you to give you a little experience my wife and daughter had with that miserable man. A few years ago, while I was in the shoe business in Los Angeles, my wife and daughter went into his store and he grossly insulted them, and insinuated that they had stolen books at his place. My wife and daughter came to my store and reported the case to me. I went to his store and before I left there he knew he had had a caller, as I did not spare him. By making inquiries about Jones of reliable people at that time I found he had insulted other ladies in the same way. I hope he will be made to pay dearly for the insult he has imposed upon your wife and many others."

The significance of this letter is considered by the attorneys for the Andersons to be emphasized by the fact that Jones admitted on the witness stand that he has in his safe the affidavits of other teachers, in which they incriminate themselves, and which he has obviously kept a secret pending a continuance of business relations.

CLEAR INSTRUCTIONS.

The instructions of Judge John L. Childs to the jury composed a remarkable digest of the case. They were comprehensive, clear and unimpassioned, presenting the law and the facts in plain black and white, with a fairness that both sides must have appreciated. They comprised seventy-five typewritten pages, some of which were only partially filled, and required more than an hour of the late afternoon for reading, so that the case did not go to the jury until after 4 o'clock.

His honor was particularly clear on the points of malice and privilege, explaining that even the republication of something untrue out of malice is done at the risk of the publisher, and the burden of the proof either of the truth of the assertion or the lack of malice lies with the defense.

Malice, the court declared to be a direct expression of an untruth, emanating from a state of mind in which there is hatred or ill-will. If, he said, Jones tried to sacrifice the jobs of the plaintiffs, and had used Nation's Tribute to a Famous Family.

Mrs. Henry W. Mellen

Of this city, descendant of a famous naval family, who has been asked by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to christen the destroyer Downes, named in honor of her great-grandfather, who served under Paul Jones.

From the "Bon Homme Richard."

DAUGHTER OF HISTORY DESTROYER'S SPONSOR.

DAUGHTER of a family that has contributed an officer to the United States navy in each generation since John Downes, the great-grandfather, followed Paul Jones over the side of the Bon Homme Richard in the historic fight with the Serapis during the Revolution, Mrs. Henry W. Mellen of No. 938 South Vermont avenue has been personally asked by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to christen the destroyer Downes, named in honor of her distinguished Revolutionary ancestor. Needless to say, Mrs. Mellen will accept the honor and will go East for the launching at Camden, N. J., this summer.

Born of Pilgrim stock in a seaboard town of Massachusetts, John Downes, the first — there has been a John in each generation since—went to sea as a boy and as a youth participated in the great naval battle which more than anything else secured for the struggling colonies the support of England's arch-enemy, France. But this lone battle does not spell the full meed of his fame.

In the war with Tripoli, the already-war-tried young man was an officer aboard the frigate New York and was one of those stanch heroes who participated in the spectacular attack on the Tripolitan feluccas. When the War of 1812 broke out, Downes was assigned to the frigate Essex as executive officer under Capt. Porter. Later he commanded the brig Epervier in Commodore Decatur's operations against Algeria.

As a reward for distinguished service in assisting in the capture of the twenty-two-gun Algeria brig of war Estido, Downes was promoted to captain and assigned to command of the first Pacific squadron. Later he was in command of the Brooklyn navy yards.

Since then there have been three Downes of the Christian name John, all officers in the navy and all of whom attained to fame. A brother of Mrs. Mellen is Lieut. John Downes, now on detached duty. His little son John, the fifth of the name, is already destined for the navy.

In the letter received by Mrs. Mellen from Secretary of the Navy Daniels he felicitates her on descent from such distinguished ancestry and expresses regret that navy rules are such that no vessels of the first and second class can be named in honor of naval heroes.

The Downes is being built at the New York Shipbuilding Company's yards at Camden, and the exact time for the launching has not yet been set.

TO BE THIRTEEN STORIES.

Great Steel-Frame Building Is Planned for South Spring Street, Between Seventh and Eighth.

A thirteen-story steel-frame store and loft building is to be erected at Nos. 720-24 South Spring street by the Mason Company of this city, according to an announcement made yesterday by Pierre D. Mason, general manager. John C. Austin and W. C. Pennel, associated architects, have been commissioned to prepare plans for the contemplated improvement and it is stated that the actual construction of the building will be started late this year.

The proposed structure will occupy a ground area of 60x110 feet and will extend to the full height of 150 feet allowed by the city building ordinances. The building will be handsomely faced with terra cotta and glazed brick. It is planned to devote a portion of the floors to office purposes and the rest to lofts, the ground floor being occupied by stores.

ATTACKS HIS ENTRY.

The officials of the local land office heard the evidence yesterday in the action brought by the government against J. P. Englehardt, to deny a mineral entry made by the defendant near Azusa, on the ground that no discovery of mineral had been made; that the necessary $500 had not been expended by the claimant on the land; that the entry had not been made in good faith and that it was really intended to secure it as a site for a camping resort. It is alleged by Englehardt, who lives in Glendora, that there is gold sign there and that he intended to prosecute a mining enterprise.

CHECKMATE LONG WALK.

Woman Who Started Afoot to Kansas City With Little Girl Arrested—Demented.

Mrs. Elsie Matney, who started walking to Kansas City with her little girl, was taken into custody yesterday at Lamanda Park and brought to the County Hospital. She is believed to be demented. She has a relative, E. M. Rapp, No. 1171 Santa Fe avenue.

The woman wandered away after telling some of her acquaintances that it was necessary for her to walk to Kansas City. Her relatives at once notified the Sheriff and search was made.

Bouncer Bounced.

TIN CAN TIED TO ONE VAREY.

Ex-License Inspector Given Stinging Suspension.

Hinted That His Discharge Will Soon Follow.

"Conduct Unbecoming to an Officer" Charged.

Patrolman Varey, whose alleged discrimination and harshness toward members of the local junk dealers' association and whose known position as "bouncer" at Zucca's Sunday beer saloon (now under liquor-license suspension) has been a subject of grand jury investigation, was suspended late yesterday by Chief of Police Sebastian. Conduct unbecoming an officer, was the reason assigned by the Chief for his summary action. Varey will be given a hearing Wednesday afternoon before the Police Commission, at which time the suspension probably will be made permanent. The case was continued by the commission yesterday because of other hearings.

When the grand jury makes its next partial report to Presiding Judge McCormick, it is believed that one of the recommendations will be that Varey be discharged by Chief Sebastian or the Police Commission. The dealings of Varey with the humble peddlers and his alleged pernicious activity along other lines wherein he is charged with having exceeded his authority, have been investigated thoroughly. Among the witnesses called before the grand jury relative to his work yesterday were the Mayor, Police Commissioners Akey and McDill and Chief of Police Sebastian.

Immediately following his session in the grand jury chambers Chief Sebastian announced that he would either suspend or discharge Varey as soon as he could get in touch with him. Later in the day he called Varey into his office and formally suspended him, pending further action by the Police Commission. When asked why Varey had been suspended the Chief said that the investigation thus far made warranted him in taking the action.

"You can say that Varey was suspended for conduct unbecoming an officer," the Chief said. 'His conduct along this line relates not only to his connection with the junk dealers, as I understand it, by he is also accused of having exceeded his authority in making arrests. It is claimed that on occasions he has made arrests and refused to make known the contents of warrants upon which the arrests were alleged to have been made. My action was taken today after I had been before the grand jury."

Varey recently came into the limelight again when he became known as the official "bouncer" for Zucca's restaurant on Sundays when the mecca of the thirsty was dispensing beer freely. Although a regular patrolman Varey made no effort to interfere, his duty as he saw it being merely to keep reasonably well subdued the "rough-neck" element that flocked to the restaurant for their Sunday "booze." For his work as "bouncer" Varey was paid $5 a day, according to the statement of a fellow patrolman.

Coincident with the announcement that Varey had been suspended, the police bulletin yesterday contained the announcement that members of the department will not be permitted to hold down outside jobs of this kind hereafter. Those patrolman who now hold such positions must, according to the Chief's orders appearing on the bulletin, make arrangements at once to get rid of them.

IMMIGRANTS A PROBLEM.

San Francisco Commissioner, on His Way Home from All Over, Doesn't Know What to Do with 'Em.

Samuel W. Backus, Commissioner of Immigration at San Francisco, was a caller upon Chief Inspector Connell of the local office yesterday, on his swing homeward from a tour of inspection of the various immigration offices that cover the country, made at the suggestion of the Commissioner of Labor.

Backus was warm in his commendation of the manner in which the immigration laws are being enforced by Capt. Connell and his force of deputies, and declared that it compares very favorably with any other district in the United States. The commissioner has visited everything in that line between the oceans and along the Atlantic Coast and is qualified to speak.

The visitor expressed regret that President Taft saw fit to veto the Dillingham bill, eliminating the writing test from the examination at ports of entry. He said that another bill, involving practically the same features, had been introduced in Congress but that he has no hope of its enactment into law for some time to come.

Commissioner Backus visited the port of Quebec and the immigration headquarters on Ellis Island, New York. He was much impressed by the horde of foreigners pouring into the country. "How the country is going to absorb the conglomerate citizenship is a question to me," said he.

THE ETERNAL THREE.

Woman Doctor Charges That She Was Beaten on the Head With Handbag.

Mrs. S. W. Wall, a wealthy woman living at a fashionable West Third-street apartment, was charged in a complaint issued yesterday by Deputy City Prosecutor McConnell, with having committed battery, the complainant being Dr. Leslie Marian Carlisle.

According to Dr. Carlisle, Mrs. Wall recently attacked her in a bank lobby, beating her on the head with a handbag. The defendant is said to have disapproved of the friendship alleged to have existed between Mrs. Wall's husband and Dr. Carlisle.

ably become effective July 1 and the intervening time utilized in cabinet making, the securing of a working knowledge of some of the big problems he will be called upon to tackle when he moves into the City Hall.

EARL'S TO THANK.

There was considerable jubilation at the Rose headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday, and a natural feeling of satisfaction over the result of the campaign which was waged by the organization. P. P. O'Brien, in charge of publicity, and who will probably be secretary to the new Mayor, declared that the thing which contributed more than any other one feature to the result was the indecent personal attacks made upon Rose by the Earl newspapers, and this opinion was reflected throughout the city wherever two or three were gathered together.

THAT "UNDERWORLD" INSULT.

Speaking of the dastardly charge in Earl's Tribune that the election of Rose was a triumph of the underworld Mrs. A. G. Whitaker, a church worker and supporter of the Rose movement, said yesterday: "what are the men of Los Angeles made of, if they will suffer their women to be insulted in this way without taking action? It is the most infamous thing I ever heard of."

Mrs. Vela Waggoner, another Rose campaigner said: "I am ashamed that there exists in our city a being in the semblance of a man who would make such a wanton assault on the best womanhood of Los Angeles. How would Earl like it to have his wife treated in that manner?"

C. S. Delapa, an indignant citizen, said: "I would be one of four men to start right now to raise a fund to defend the women from this slander and punish Earl."

Mrs. J. W. Summerfield, wife of Justice Summerfield and president of the Rose club, is a prominent member of the Woman's City Club and the Eastern Star. She said: "That is a terrible way to talk of women. I don't think a man IS a man who will talk so of women. It would be false enough to say of men, but when it comes to attacking women thus it takes a pretty weak man to do it. The women who worked day and night to achieve Judge Rose's election are women of the finest quality. They represent the home and the civic movements of the city. I myself have a little girl. I am a member of Loyalty chapter of the Eastern Star and of the Woman's City Club, and my husband is a Mason. And, above all, I am a home-keeper. Does Mr. Earl think a woman who is all these things can be a woman of the underworld? All the women of the Rose campaign were such women as I have described, and through it all I never once met anyone from the underworld. It was a contemptible, little, cowardly attack, with no justification, except that it is like Mr. Earl—and can I say more?"

Mrs. F. T. Howenstein, vice-president of the Rose league, said: "I think this is an outrage. We women have worked and worked during this campaign and because we dared oppose Earl and—worse crime than all—defeated him, he makes this dirty wretched statement that is wholly false. All the women are home women, most of them club members. I am the associate matron of the Daylight chapter of the Eastern Star and a member of the Ebell club. I have lived in this city nineteen years; my husband is a professional man of good standing, and E. T. Earl dares call me a woman of the underworld! Just because we differed from him politically he blackguards us thus. And all the women I met in the Rose campaign were women of beautiful character and life. They are all well known and accepted as the desired type of home-keeping women."

Mrs. C. R. Luton, another member of the Rose League, said: "I am a mother, and a member of the Ebell Club, I worked hard for Rose and am glad he is elected. As to what Mr. Earl said—it is a miserable misstatement, which will surely bring shame to him as the work of Judge Rose is proved. Such villainous slanders shouldn't be allowed and, wouldn't be expected from any one else, but we all know that who opposes Mr. Earl will be slandered."

Mrs. M. B. Mihran said:

"It is disgusting for anyone to vilify other people as Mr. Earl does, but when a man will descend to saying such things about women of recognized, irreproachable standing, there is no language with which to express the scorn I feel for him. I am a member of the Woman's City Club; I am a member of the Unitarian Church; I have two young daughters; in every city in which my husband and I have lived we have stood for clean administration and no red light district; I have never associated with women of the underworld, and never, in any other city, have I been accused of it, because I differed with any given political boss. About the other women in the Rose campaign I wish to say that, in the Rose club I have met and made friends of whom I am very proud—and shall continue to be in spite of Mr. Earl's venomous attack."

Mrs. J. M. Mitchell said:

"Mr. Earl's statement is vicious, false and contemptible. Only a coward would say such things of women. I am a member of the Daylight chapter of the Eastern Star, and a homekeeper. And the women I met in the campaign were the same type of women—wives, mothers, club women, who view the city's good through the channel of the home. To breathe the word underworld in our connection is an insult."

Joseph A. Anker said: "You will find that the men of our city will not stand for this. I know two who propose to take Mr. Earl personally to task. They will not suffer Earl to call their wives a part of the "underworld" and go unpunished.

F. W. Braun, treasurer of the Municipal Conference, declared that The Times' editorial of yesterday morning "expressed it better than I can," and pretty thoroughly echoes my ideas on the subject. I am well satisfied that if Earl had kept his hands off entirely Shenk would have been elected at the primaries."

STRAIGHT TALK.

"I heartily concur with the sentiments expressed in The Times yesterday morning anent the election of Rose and the defeat of Shenk," said Charles Smead, assistant manager of the Hollenbeck. "The campaign was not as much the man as it was the men behind the man; and the Los Angeles public certainly is tired of the Earl rule that has dominated affairs here. Rose will undoubtedly have his difficulties in office, but he is a good man, unhampered by any of the weights that were chained about Shenk. The outcome of the election was a protest against the factors that have ruled the city during the past three or four years."

"Citizens of Los Angeles had their stomachs full of Earl and his friends when they refused to vote for Shenk, although he had tried to repudiate the backing of this coterie of bosses," said Harry Fryman of the Hayward. "Another four years of subservience in municipal affairs would have been as detrimental as a financial panic, and, although Shenk declared that he did not wear the Earl collar, he was a member of the old legislative body of the city, and people were afraid that some of the taint might stick."

"Classing all of the citizens who have voted for Rose as workers of the underworld has certainly stamped Earl in a class by himself," said Bennett Bond of the Angelus. "Although I have never been in favor of the Earl regime in Los Angeles, I have continued to read the Earl papers until the present time. They are showing the true colors of their owner and in themselves explain why the citizens of Los Angeles feared to support Shenk, feeling that they possibly were helping Earl at the same time."

Stoddard Jess, vice-president of the First National Bank, would not enter into personalities. He expressed some sorrow that the Municipal Conference programme was not carried out in its entirety, and said:

"With such a small vote polled, the result of the election was not unexpected. I do not feel that the result should be accepted as an expression of opinion of the voters as to the desirability of the Municipal Conference idea. So many extraneous issues were involved that the voting assumed more of the character of a protest and was influenced more by prejudice than anything else."

CLEARING THINGS UP.

At Municipal Conference headquarters yesterday the scenery resembled the breaking up of a hard winter. Typewriters and furniture were being removed, and preparations made for closing the rooms in the Garland building, whence the campaign has been waged for the past two months. The conference will require several thousand dollars to liquidate and a meeting of the Executive Committee will be held today to further the plans for dissolution. In accordance with the announced intention of the conference at the time of its organization, a sine die adjournment will be taken as soon as the business in hand is finished. At the Rose headquarters the affairs of the campaign are being rapidly wound up, and the rooms will be closed after tomorrow.

Nothing to Say.

VOICE GIVES HIM SLIP BUT QUICKLY RETURNS.

ELECTIONEERING for Judge Rose brought one man to the Receiving Hospital yesterday. He was M. J. Foley, a Fifth-street business man, who lost and found his voice, all within forty minutes.

Yesterday afternoon Foley was talking with a friend when his voice suddenly failed him. He hastened to the Receiving Hospital. The interne met him at the door. Foley endeavored to give the sign language of distress. "Me no sabe," the interne wagged back on his fingers, and Foley was taken to Surgeon Weber.

Foley began writing down his troubles to the surgeon, when the latter comprehended and hastened to a small white bottle that brings back voices. It was not that kind of a bottle, though, but one with contents to relax the vocal cords.

All day Tuesday and for several weeks previous Foley had been working effectively for Judge Rose in his campaign. It was his first attempt at politics, and the strain was great. When assigned to several precincts on election day, with William Levyson, friends jollied the politician and made an agreement that he must give the Rose yell for every vote he got in his precincts in excess of the Shenk votes. Foley's precincts, Nos. 37, 331 and 44, yielded the results, 106 to 24, 147 to 45 and 91 to 39 in favor of his candidate. And he gave the yells after the results were totaled.

Weber was not quite satisfied with the explanation for the loss of voice.

"Did you attempt to make any unusual sounds?" inquired the surgeon.

"I tried to talk Mexican," said Foley and the doctor was satisfied. It is one of the rare cases on the hospital records.

JUDGE ROSE TELLS WHAT HE WILL DO.

BY H. H. ROSE,

The next Mayor of Los Angeles.

Chief of Police Sebastian will be retained. I believe he is a good officer and has handled the police department as well as any officer could. I have had a talk with him and am convinced that they put one over on him the night he went with Dr. L. O. Wilcoxon, who was arrested on the charge of having been implicated in bunco operations, to the office of E. T. Earl.

There will be no more liquor licenses. I so told the saloon men before election day.

The Police Commission shall receive my early attention. Commissioner McDill must go. He and I cannot get along very well together. I don't know about Commissioner Akey. I haven't decided about him.

The Water Board will be given attention at once. Frank G. Henderson and S. C. Graham must go. I made promises that I would change the administration of this board and I shall. With the exception of these two I believe the board will remain unchanged. It will for some time anyway. I shall demand that the remaining members of the board change the conduct of the board to suit my wishes.

The social evil will be treated in a sane manner. It is the greatest problem the city has to face. The former iniquitious conditions are banished forever. Insane treatment of this evil results in a much worse form of immorality. I was a police judge nine years. I know how to treat this question, I believe. The worst forms of the evil will be attacked first. I will establish better morality in this city than I know exists at this time.

The harbor and aqueduct will receive immediate attention. I shall bend every effort to bring about an early completion of these magnificent undertakings which are so essential to the success of a Greater Los Angeles.

I will not be dictated to. I will be glad to receive suggestions, but I was elected free and unhampered and I shall remain so.

All city employees who are the best men who can be secured will remain. Those who are mere hangers-on must go. I believe, however, there will be but few changes. At the present time there will be none. Every man will be given a chance to show that he is the man for the job.

Whenever I believe a city official is not doing his work, out he will go.

E. T. Earl charges that my election is "a triumph of the underworld." This is an insult to the people living in the best districts of the city. I refer Mr. Earl to the election returns, where he will see that I carried the best sections in the city. The charge is the most malicious and false insinuation that he could think of.

Woman's Prerogative.

SPURNED YOUTH IONE STUDENT.

REFORMATORY AGAIN RECKONS; DELUGE OF TROUBLE.

Girl Bride Became "Peeved," He Says, and Left Him for Unaccountable Reason—Arrested Yesterday, He Will Be Returned to Disciplinary Institution Today.

When Floyd A. de Hay coerced Miss Charlotte E. Wilson into marriage with him—according to her statement—he probably never realized the trouble in store for him. Reading an account of the annulment suit brought in the Superior Court by Mrs. De Hay, the authorities at Ione, a school for unruly boys under 21, telegraphed here yesterday to have De Hay arrested for violation of his parole.

De Hay is only 19 years old, according to the Ione records, and he can be punished for having taken oath before Clerk Sparks of the marriage license bureau that he is over 21. However, the officers stated last night that a return to the discipline at Ione will be sufficient punishment to the ardent lover.

At the County Jail last evening De Hay said his girl bride became "peeved" for some unaccountable reason and left him.

De Hay, who will be taken to Ione today, also is defendant in a civil suit filed on Tuesday by his wife asking that the marriage be annulled on the ground that he frightened her into consenting to marry him.

In her complaint she swears he was so enamored that he said he would do violence to her and her family if she did not comply with his wish. The license was obtained May 31. Miss Wilson gave her age as 19 and the Ione cadet as 23.

A few days later the bride returned to her parents and started the suit.

The fact that De Hay had been an Ione "student" probably will aid the Wilsons in trying to free their daughter from his name. Her father is Stanley R. Wilson.

De Hay has been living at No. 821 Crocker street, where he had secured apartments, paying a month's rent in advance, in anticipation of his marriage. Phillip Cullom, the landlord, had been told by De Hay that he had formerly lived at the home of the Wilsons, where he first met the daughter. It appears the girl made a visit to what was to have been the new home, only a day or two before the marriage license was issued and seemed satisfied with it.

After the annulment proceedings had been brought, De Hay told his landlord that the girl once told him of her having jilted a man at the last moment.

Eight Devotees of Terpsichore Will Feature Turkish Gyrations at Greeters' Ball Tonight.

Nearly 2000 tickets have been sold for the Greeters' ball to be held in the Goldberg-Bosley hall tonight. The money realized from the affair is to be used to send delegates to the annual convention of the National Greeters of America to make a fight to bring the 1914 convention here.

Delegates from the Northern California Hotel Men's Association and from San Diego, lead by President James W. Cook of San Francisco, are to be here for the ball. Members of the Photo-Players' Club, including Fred Mace, have accepted invitations.

Mayor-Elect Rose and Mrs. Rose are to lead the grand march, which will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Preceeding the grand march there will be a Turkish dance by Misses Amber Fay, Mabell Beranger, Florence Dunway, Carrol Dempster, Verda Bridgefort, Marjorie Fay, Charlotte McLain, Glorian Remillard and Edith White. Prizes will be given to the most graceful and prettiest dancers. Miss Bernice Sebeck will perform a toe dance, and Miss Zilleh Whitrow and Miss Winifred Lacey will sing solos.

President Harry Fryman of the State Hotel Men's Association and wife, will be the patron and patroness of the affair.

J. J. Murtaugh is passing a few days at the Hayward. He is registered from Seattle and is one of the directing officials of the Rainier Brewing Company of that place.

May 15, last, and while Taylor ostensibly went out to look for work Mrs. Taylor and the children sat in the Southern Pacific Depot waiting for his return. They passed many weary hours. Late in the afternoon Taylor returned. He got them a room and disappeared.

"He has dragged us all over the country," said Mrs. Taylor yesterday. "It has always been the same story—drink. My life has been like that of a gypsy. Home is anyplace where my husband got work. But it was not for long. He would start off again, dragging us with him. Now this looks like the end."

Judge Wilbur continued the case for a month before which time it is hoped to locate Taylor. He called Mrs. Taylor to the bench and pressed money into her hand. Tears of gratitude welled up into her eyes.

Catalina is the Mecca of the camera fiend. It affords a variation of views that cannot be rivaled anywhere. The Times Camp is situated in the center of this beauty, just one block back of Avalon. Take a camera with you on your vacation. If you haven't one of your own—take one anyway. Here's a chance that shouldn't be missed. Fill your album with pictures of your outing and enter in the contest for a new kodak.

A 1913 model 3A folding pocket kodak is offered by the Howland & Dewey Company to the boy who takes the best picture while enjoying his vacation at the Times Camp. Every boy has a chance. The rules are simple:

(1.) Only Times Camp boys are allowed to compete.

(2.) Not more than three pictures can be entered by one boy.

(3.) The pictures with the negatives must be turned in to the Camp manager or to the Howland & Dewey Company, No. 310 South Broadway, by September 13, 1913.

A committee of three photographers will decide the winner.

With the many attractions offered, a trip to the Times Camp is well worth the little work required to win. Come in or write for illustrated circular and subscription blanks.

mere rumors, reports or suspicions which he could not prove, in order to have them dismissed as Glendale teachers, then he had libeled the plaintiffs.

Evidence that others may have been guilty of theft does not prove that Mrs. Anderson has been guilty. If it is proved that Mrs. Anderson signed her affidavit because she was compelled to do so, this does not establish the truth of the statement signed under compulsion. If such a statement is false, unproved and unjust and causes the loss of position on which the plaintiffs were dependent for a livelihood they are entitled to damages compensatory and punitive.

Judge Childs recited much of the evidence which the Andersons had introduced against Jones, and advised the jury that if Jones had said these things and has not proved that they are true then the Andersons are entitled to reparation, although they cannot collect damages for injuries to Mrs. Anderson's health nor for the loss of their positions if they would have lost them anyhow, nor for the fact that they have not secured positions elsewhere, as no evidence has been introduced to show that they tried to get other work.

Society, the court said, places a demand on persons that they shall not assail or injure the reputations of others and if they violate this right the law will redress it. Slander is to be accepted in the most natural and obvious understanding of the term and all character is good until it is proved bad. If Jones has stated, according to the evidence, that Mrs. Anderson has many times taken goods from his store without his knowledge and consent, implying that she meant to steal them, and if he stated that she returned books for credit which had been stolen the Saturday before; that she and her sister usually worked together and that they knew better than he did how much they had stolen from him, then it devolves upon Jones to prove this charge or he stands responsible to Mrs. Anderson for libel. On the other hand, mere falseness of statement does not entitle the plaintiffs to damages unless it is proved that Jones made these statements maliciously, having had some motive for doing so.

ALLEGATION OF MOTIVE.

Something of the motive Jones may have had for permitting the affidavit to become public or for contributing in any way to its publication was alleged by H. L. Geisler, who closed the argument for the plaintiffs. Geisler made the bald statement that Mrs. Anderson had traded with Jones for fifteen years and that never did he accuse her of theft until she began to divide her trade with another firm, nor did he spring his affidavit against her until he was deprived of the bulk of her business.

Geisler said Jones had testified that the business of the Andersons amounted to only $26 a year, while other witnesses had proved that it ran into the hundreds, and Jones had never offered his books or his bills to disprove this statement. He described the accusation of Mrs. Anderson and her sister as a trap laid for them, and showed how when they came to see him at his request he had an affidavit already prepared for their signatures, telling them at first that it was for their protection as well as his and that it was a harmless paper; and then, when they refused to sign it, compelling them to do so by vicious threats of arrest and publicity, which they knew would irreparably injure them, whether they were guilty or not.

Job Harriman is Jones's lawyer.

AN EPOCHAL DECISION.

Supreme Court Ruling in Chandler-Dunbar Case is Printed As a Public Document.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Because of the sweeping extent to which it upholds government ownership and control of water power on navigable rivers, the decision of the Supreme Court in the Chandler-Dunbar case is being printed as a public document at the request of Senator Burton of Ohio.

The Senator regards the opinoin as epochal, in that it holds that the government in seeking to improve a river for navigation is not required to pay out millions to owners of the river banks or of the river bed for water power incident to the banks or bed.

The court held these owners have no ownership of the water power as against the government seeking to improve a river for navigation.

MARSHALL GETS A DEGREE.

Vice-President Addresses Graduating Class of University of North Carolina.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHAPEL HILL (N. C.) June 4.—Vice-President Marshall was invested today with the honorary degree of doctor of laws by the University of North Carolina. He delivered the principal address before the graduating class.

STRIKE DELAYS SERVICE.

Twelve Hundred Employees of Pere Marquette Quit As Result of Refusal of Wage Demand.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT (Mich.) June 4.—Twelve hundred employees of the Pere Marquette Railroad are on strike as a result of the company's refusal to grant an increase in wages. The men out are located at Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Ionia and Traverse City, where the road's shops are located and include boiler-makers, shopmen, carpenters and laborers.

Freight service is delayed and in some cases passenger traffic has been seriously retarded.

The road being in the hands of receivers appointed by the Federal court, United States officers are guarding the property.

IS PETROLEUM MINERAL?

Stanford Professor Admits it Is in Suit of Government to Recover Espee Lands.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Further efforts to determine whether petroleum is a mineral occupied the entire session of the hearing today of the Elk Hill land fraud case instituted by the Federal government, against the Southern Pacific Railroad. The case is being heard before Leo Langley, special examiner for the United States District Court for Southern California.

During the hearing today it was contended that the corporation acted in good faith when it acquired the lands. The property amounts to $100 acres of alleged oil land said to contain 100,000,000 barrels of oil, and valued at $15,000,000.

Prof. Arthur H. Rogers of the department of minerology and petrography of Stanford University, was again called as a witness by the corporation. He admitted under cross-examination his belief that petroleum was mineral substance.

William W. Hobart, a miner, who was on the stand yesterday, was also examined again today. He is a witness for the corporation, and admitted under cross-examination that his knowledge of petroleum was limited.

WILL TAKE HYDRO-AEROPLANE.

Capt. Amundsen Proposes to Fly to North Pole in One of Them—Will Start This Fall.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, (O.) Jupne 4.—Two hydro-aeroplanes will accompany the party headed by Capt. Roald Amundsen, the explorer, on their expedition which starts from San Francisco for the north pole this fall, it was stated by Capt. Amundsen here tonight. On the completion of his lecture tour this month, he will leave for San Francisco, where he and Helmer Hanson and Oscar Wistrig, his assistants, will be instructed in the manipulation of the machines, which are being built to carry two passengers and 500 pounds of fuel and supplies.

"Suppose we got within 300 miles of the pole," said Captain Amundsen. "The rest of our journey could be accomplished with the hydro-aeroplane."

LIGHTS ARE OUT IN SAN MATEO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN MATEO (Cal.) June 4.—Every light in this city, Burlingame and Hillsborough went out at 9 o'clock tonight. No relief can be expected until a break in the feed wires can be found and repairs made. Several automobiles containing electricians and linemen have been dispatched by the company to tour the line of the feed wires.

Many Years' Test of Eckman's Alterative

For several years a large number of voluntarily written testimonials from persons who recovered from Lung Trouble have been received by the makers of Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for the treatment of Throat and Lung Troubles. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them for confirmation. Here is one: 6273 Girard Ave., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful-looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages; at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alterative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well."

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

SOCIETY AFFAIRS

Miss Emma Parr,

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parr of Toronto, Canada. Miss Parr's engagement to Richard Bertrand Hare will interest friends which the popular bride-to-be made last summer while here with her brother, Dr. Russell Leonard Parr.

CHARLES SCOTT SALISBURY, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Salisbury of this city, is to become a benedict. Miss Hazel A. Moore, an attractive young college girl of Northfield, Mass., is the happy young woman in the case, and at her pretty home in Northfield today the news is being made known by her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mason.

Young Salisbury received his degree from the New York Homeopathic Medical College only last week, and for a year will remain as intern in the Rochester Hospital. Later he will return to Los Angeles, where he will practice with his father. No date has yet been set for the wedding.

Miss Parr Betrothed.

Another betrothal to claim attention is that of Miss Emma Parr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parr of Toronto, Can., and Richard Bertrand Hare, which is also told for the first time today. Miss Parr has many friends in this city where, with her brother, Dr. Russell Parr, she passed six months last winter, while touring the United States. The service will be read in St. Stephens Church in Toronto at high noon Saturday, and later Mr. and Mrs. Hare will make their home at No. 516 Markham street, Toronto. They will come to Los Angeles next winter for a visit, while Mr. and Mrs. Parr with their son, Dr. Parr, will probably make this city their future home.

To Return.

Mrs. H. E. Schell of New York City, who has been enjoying a visit with her mother, Mrs. H. M. McDonald, of the Hotal Figueroa, will soon return to her eastern home.

Pleasant Evening.

Unique invitations were issued by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Feagans for a fish dinner at Ocean Park recently, when they took their guests to the ocean in a sight-seeing automobile. Dinner was served at the Hookstratten Cafe, where there were covers for Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Dana King, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Roseberry, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Layton, Mr. and Mrs. H. Victor Wright, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Trueworthy, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Joy, Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Bishop, Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Linnard, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McPherran, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps, Miss Payne, Edna Cord, H. A. Hiscox and Lonn Feagans.

Mrs. Bobrick Hostess.

Formal Announcement.

Formal announcement is made today of the engagement of Mrs. Volney Gage of Downey, and Chalmers Gray of San Diego. The betrothal was told yesterday at a luncheon given by the bride-elect's sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis Williams Gage, who entertained at the Hartmann apartments. Covers were laid for Mrs. Louis Tolhurst, Mrs. Harry Borden, Mrs. Milton Houston, Miss Adelaide Gillis, Miss Katherine Johnson, Miss Juliet Bolleau, Miss Sally McFarland, Miss Emeline Childs, Miss Alice Cline, Miss Emma Conroy. The wedding will take place June 11 at the residence in Downey of former Gov. and Mrs. Henry T. Gage.

Miss Martin to Wed.

Lines will be spoken by Rev. Father Lucey at 9 o'clock this morning which unite in marriage Miss Norma Marcella Martin, the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Martin, and Albert A. Derliac, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fabien Derliac of St. Petersburg. The home, where the ceremony will be conducted, will be elegant in its simplicity, pink being the prevailing color utilized. A canopy had been made of enchantress and white carnations, with asparagus plumosus and huge bows of pink tulle, in front of the large bay window in the drawing-room, where the bridal party will stand. The same kind of flowers will ornament the balance of the home, except in the dining-room, where the table will be centered with a mound of pink and white carnations, mounted by a large bouquet of pink tulle.

The bride will wear white mouse satin, made en train, trimmed in pearl and real lace. Her veil will be worn caught with lilies of the valley, and she will carry a shower of the same flowers. For traveling Miss Martin will don a blue tailor-made, with hat to harmonize.

Mrs. C. Castruccio, a sister of the bride, who will assist as matron of honor, will be gowned in a handsome white satin, and will carry a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Martin, in a NellRose satin gown with overdress of NellRose chiffon, and her sisters as bridesmaids, Miss Dolores and Miss Consuelo, will carry bride's roses. Parker Colas, of San Francisco, a cousin of the bride, will stand with the groom.

Before the service a musical programme will be given by Mrs. Cecil Cellier, and Mrs. J. M. Gamblet. They will also play during the ceremony, and at the conclusion following the ceremony.

Breakfast for the bridal party, intimate friends only, will follow the ceremony, after which the happy couple will leave immediately for Petersburg, where the groom is secretary of the Russo-French bank.

The bride is a blonde of the Gibson type, an accomplished pianist and musician, and a graduate of the Los Angeles High School. She is a member of the Phi Rho Sigma sorority, and is very popular. Many will regret to see her move away.

Mr. and Mrs. Derliac will go to New York and sail from there on the steamer La Provence on their route at Paris and Berlin.

HONOR RETIRING SECRETARY

Thirty-five Employed by Y.M.C.A. Give Luncheon to Ballman and Present Silver.

George Ballman, retiring secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who is compelled by ill health to sever his official connection with the association, after a service of seven years. Yesterday he was given a luncheon by the other officials, employed secretaries, at the Athletic Club, and at the close of which he was presented with a silver tea service as a mark of their esteem. Ballman has been intimately connected with several financial campaigns which marked the growth of the association from small beginnings to the present. He is well known throughout the world, and his efficiency and gentlemanly bearing have endeared him to all his associates. He will leave some business calling it to Los Angeles for a few weeks of recuperation, and is succeeded as secretary by Eaton F. Sams, formerly assistant secretary at Pasadena, and now secretary at San Bernardino, a position of which place he resigned in order to erect new buildings, and at present he saw the building completed and equipped.

LITTLE TWINS IN COURT

First Case Under a New Law Brought Up and Continued Next Month.

I. W. Garner, a salesman for the Stetson-Barrett Company, made his first time yesterday two months ago, finality which Miss Margaret Miller, a dressmaker, declares binds to him by ties of blood. The twin boys, aged 2 months, are much alike that only the mother can tell 'tother from which.

The twins were in the Juvenile Court yesterday as the result of the dren. Garner was represented by counsel, which accounted for his absence. It was the first case under the bill recently signed by the governor, which makes parents responsible for the support of such children irrespective of the care of the mother. Formerly a father who had not furnished could be compelled to support a child when the mother was under 21. The new bill places the age. Miss Mangalier is 19 years old.

She declared Garner was willing to call to see the twins, but refused to contribute one cent to their support. She told Judge Wilbur he was not used to provide.

"I will work my fingers off to support them," she cried passionately, as she sat in the jury box very much excited in the proceedings. The case was continued until July 1.

Mother and twins are living with the Florence Crittenden Home, and Frank Stoddard, chairman of the board of managers, stated that Miss Mangalier destitute and learned her case in the Juvenile Court.

STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION SCHEDULES HEARING.

Lower Tariff Between Harbor and Los Angeles and Reparation for Alleged Overcharges Demanded—Imperial Valley Termed a Modern Utopia.

Four State Railroad Commission hearings will be held here within two weeks.

The joint committee on industrial interference will meet Monday morning to hear initial complaints. At 1:30 p.m., Commissioner Gordon will hear the applications of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Consolidated Utilities Company of Compton to enter into a connecting agreement. If sanctioned, it will materially increase the facilities of the two companies.

Commissioner Loveland will conduct hearings Thursday and Friday of the following week. The Thursday hearing is of the case of the City Lumber Company, Eldar Building Material Company, Higman Lumber Company, Pacific Lime Company and California Hardwood Lumber Company, all situated on the Redondo branch of the Santa Fe, against that road and the Salt Lake, charging rate discrimination in the transportation of lumber from San Pedro and East San Pedro to their yards.

These concerns now pay a rate of 6 cents per hundred. They ask a 4-cent rate, the same as is given city dealers, and reparation in the sum of $868 for alleged overcharges from December 7, 1911, to date.

The Higman Lumber Company has to be pitted against the Salt Lake and Pacific Electric in an independent hearing Friday. Reparation is asked by this company in the sum of $116. The case of these companies against the Southern Pacific, asking reduced rates and reparation in the sum of $2500, will come up later.

Modern Utopia.

General Agent Blair of the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain system, who went to Imperial Valley last week to size up the canteloupe crop and to lay plans to secure a slice of the $72,000 freight-melon the valley inhabitants expect to cut shortly, is back with a story of a modern Utopia.

"There is more money per capita in the Imperial Valley than along Wall Street," declared Blair yesterday. "At least, that is the impression one gets. Everyone seems to have it, and to be willing to spend it, especially for more valley land.

"I don't blame them for this last assertion, however, as land in the Imperial Valley is pure gold. I saw alfalfa over there that beat any I ever saw. I also saw fat hogs that look like they had been milk-fed. But the thing that impressed me most is the way the valley is widening from end to end as the brush is being cleared off, and that yallow Colorado River water is being encouraged to chase the desert over the hills."

Direct Connection.

That direct connection may be afforded between Pacific Electric cars and Southern Pacific trains at Pasadena, under the change in time effective on the latter road Sunday, the Pacific Electric on the same date will make a number of changes in the running time of cars between Pasadena and Shorb.

Under the new schedule cars will leave the Southern Pacific station at Pasadena at 6:25, 7:35, 8:50 and 11:05 a.m., and at 12:20, 1:46, 4 and 5:46 p.m. The leaving time of cars at Shorb is as follows: 6:55, 8:10, 9:30 and 11:10 a.m., and 12:55, 2:10, 4:30 and 6:30 p.m.

Already Spent.

Authority to spend money already spent is the reason for the Salt Lake's application to the State Railroad Commission for sanction of a $1,119,000 bond issue, according to officials of that road. Under past rulings of the commission a railroad may make improvement expenditures from earnings and later transfer the same to capital accounts. That is what the Salt Lake has done, but sanction of the ledger transfer must be obtained from the commission.

Seeing the Sights.

General Passenger Agent Basinger of the Union Pacific, who has been here making arrangements with the Salt Lake for a big Southern California advertising campaign, was the guest yesterday of Traffic Manager Deeting of the Pacific Electric, on a trip. Basinger expects to go to San Diego from here on matters connected with exposition-year advertising.

Addresses Traffic Club.

Ralph J. Reed of the Union Oil Company is to be the speaker at the semi-monthly noonday meeting of the Los Angeles Traffic Club at Christopher's tomorrow. His subject is, "Production, Storage and Transportation of Oil."

REDONDO BEACH BONUS.

Chamber of Commerce Agrees to Pay Steel Works—Pacific Electric Officials Inspect.

REDONDO BEACH, June 4.—The Chamber of Commerce members agreed last night that the bonus of $3000 due the Warman Steel Works should be paid. Two years ago a contract was made between the Chamber of Commerce and the Warman Steel Works that when the company had paid out $40,000 to employees that the Chamber of Commerce would give them a bonus. The amount is past due and the Warman people threatened to leave Redondo Beach if the bonus is not forthcoming.

Twenty-five Pacific Electric officials made a tour of inspection to this beach today and enjoyed luncheon. Those in the party were: J. McMillan, general manager; D. W. Pontius, assistant manager; H. A. Culloden, auditor; W. V. Hill, tax and contract agent; George L. Bugbee, land agent; H. E. Burnett, manager outside operations; R. L. Taylor, traffic, freight and passenger agent, Pasadena; B. L. Wilson, traffic, freight and passenger agent; F. Weeks, traveling passenger agent; F. Smith, traveling freight agent; O. Bennett, terminal freight agent; J. Bissell, assistant to general manager; F. L. Annabis, superintendent of transportation division; J. C. McPherson, superintendent northern division; W. Watts, superintendent western division; A. C. Bradley, superintendent San Bernardino division, San Bernardino; M. P. Groftholdt, superintendent Riverside division, Riverside. A party of the students of the Los Angeles Military Academy enjoyed a picnic at the beach today.

Tomorrow evening, June 6, a dance-club from South Pasadena will have a private party at the pavilion. They will come in a special car.

TROPICO GRADUATION.

TROPICO, June 4.—The graduating exercises of the Tropico grammar school will be held in the auditorium of the Tropico-Glendale Union High School Thursday evening, when a splendid programme will be rendered under the supervision of Mrs. Martha McClure, principal of the Tropico schools. The graduating class numbers but fifteen, being not only the smallest class to be graudated from the schools for the past few years, but also the youngest in years. The class motto is very apropos for this class, "Where There's a Will There's Always a Way." Class colors, pink and green, and the class flower, Cecile Brunner rose buds. The graduating class includes Marjorie Adelaide, Imler, Catherine, Phillips, Ellen Cate, Lucile Bondy, Lillie Mae Schick, Celia Monitte, Louise Monitee; Homer Morgan, Russell Harrison, William Pahlen, George Cate, Crawford Spear, Harwood Collins, Leslie Keppler and Raphael Verdugo.

San Diego.

ACCEPTS INVITE TO BIG BANQUET.

SECRETARY OF NAVY PROMISES TO COME TO COAST.

Officers of Arizona Corporation Must Defend Contempt Charges. Mexican Who Deserted Federal Army Sent Back Over Border. Women of Woodcraft Convention.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, June 4.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today accepted an invitation to visit San Diego, according to a telegram received from Congressman Kettner.

Prominent citizens are arranging for a big banquet in his honor. The date of the Secretary's visit will be determined later, but it will be during his stay on the Coast, when he comes to inspect the harbors.

CHARGED WITH CONTEMPT.

H. Z. Adams, secretary of the Western Underwriting and Mortgage Company, an Arizona corporation, will appear in the Superior Court Monday morning to show why he should not be cited for contempt for refusal to produce the books and papers of the company in the taking of a deposition in the suit in which B. O. Scott of this city is the plaintiff and the company is the defendant.

The order was issued by the court late yesterday upon a showing to the court that Adams had refused to obey the court's order to produce the books. Service was had on Adams only after the server, one of the attorneys for the plaintiff, had represented to Adams's office staff that he was a stockholder and wanted to look at the books.

MEXICAN DEPORTED.

Cecilio Chaves, the Mexican accused of abducting Maria Agualera de Vasques of National City, at the point of a gun, taking her to Coronado and keeping her a prisoner for eight days, was deported to Tijuana last night. As Chaves crossed the boundary line he was met by a detachment of Mexican troops under the command of Maj. Lojero, who placed him under arrest.

The Mexican is a deserter from the Federal army. He only recently completed a three-year prison sentence for insubordination. Chaves denied that he had forced the woman to accompany him and but for his record in the army he would have stood an excellent chance of remaining in this country.

WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT.

With a basket picnic at Ocean Beach today the delegates at the sixth district convention of Women of Woodcraft ended a most successful three-days' meeting. The next convention will be held in Long Beach in four years.

As a reward for excellent drill exhibitions performed by the two booster teams of Los Angeles, Mrs. Minnie Hiner, elected as one of three delegates to the Portland national convention in August, has presented each officer and guard a gold circle pin emblematic of the order.

NEGRO BOUND OVER.

Anderson Cotton, alias James W. Calvin, a negro, was bound over to the Superior Court without bail today after a hearing on a murder charge. He is charged with killing Joseph W. Cowan, aged 64, whose body was found in the bay April 12 with a fractured skull.

Witnesses testified that Cotton and Cowan were together all day April 12, that he talked to one of them about robbing Cowan and that late that night he had plenty of money. Cotton was traced from here to Fresno, where he was arrested.

RAISES A CHECK.

Police of San Diego are looking today for a man named G. S. Lewis, who is charged by a local bank with raising a check from $1 to $1000, cashing it and leaving $100 on deposit. He has disappeared with $900, it is claimed. The check was written with a lead pencil by C. J. Plante, a real estate operator, and cashed without question at the bank.

MOCK MARRIAGE?

Claiming that she was the victim of a mock marriage in Salt Lake City, Mrs. G. Sharpley appeared at the Police Station some time ago with two children, asking for aid. Yesterday she was married to Frank Kiser of this city, who had known her for years. It was through him that she learned she had been victimized by Sharpley, she says.

AGGIE BOYS VISIT.

COVINA, June 4.—Prof. J. Eliot Coit of the University of California, with sixteen students of the agricultural school, arrived here tonight to pass a day in the orange districts. Prof. Coit will be taken over the valley today by ranchers in automobiles and will deliver an address at some time during the day. The Covina Valley Farmers' Club is looking after the entertainment of the scholars.

AFTER CITRUS WORMS.

COVINA, June 4.—Horticultural Inspector James R. Hodges is in receipt of a letter from State Commissioner A. J. Cook, saying that the latter will be in Covina on Monday, June 30, and will address a gathering of ranchers. Prof. Cook is interested in the discoveries made by Mr. Hodges relating to the nematode, or wire-like worm, which is at work on the roots of the citrus trees. While here he will also visit the ranch of D. J. Overholtzer, where an overhead irrigating system has been installed.

San Pedro.

KICKS AGAINST GAS REDUCTION.

GAS COMPANY WOULD COLLECT LATER FROM CONSUMERS.

Figures Show Delivery of Commodity Costs Little Compared With Price Charged—Wilmington Property Owners Say They Signed Waivers Under Misrepresentations.

SAN PEDRO, June 4.—Manager Percival of the Southern California Edison Company has been advised that the dollar gas rate in San Pedro as fixed by the City Council, would be carried into court.

Meanwhile, after July 1, consumers here will pay the dollar rate, the company collecting this amount under protest. If the company wins the case in court it will endeavor to collect the remaining 20 cents, which is the difference between the rate fixed by the Council and Board of Public Utilities.

The Council granted the reduction upon the showing of the San Pedro committee that the gas was manufactured for 20 cents in Los Angeles and sold in Long Beach, after being piped seventeen miles, for 37½ cents, while the San Pedro plant, owned by the same company, is charged 55 cents on the books, the gas being piped only a short distance further to the city limits at Wilmington.

The basis of the appeal to the courts, it is understood, will be based on the additional cost of the pipe line between here and East Wilmington, the high cost of distribution here and the investment of the old emergency plant.

The Los Angeles rate allows 40 cents for distribution over the cost of the gas. The contention of the company is that the cost of distribution here is much higher and that $1 does not give them sufficient interest on the investment.

MISREPRESENTATIONS?

There is considerable talk among property owners who are included within the boundaries of the west Wilmington fill, being made from material taken from the government channel, of contesting the legality of the proceedings. When the first fill was made the city paid the expense of boosting the material taken from the channel.

When the second fill was made, however, the city officials assisted in putting through the deal by which the expense was taxed to the property owners as a street improvement, under the usual Vrooman act.

So as to do this, a legal point was strained by which not only the streets were filled, but the entire lots. The price paid, however, covered only the street work, for no proceedings could legally be instituted by which the cost of filling private property could be taxed to the property.

The dredging company got a price for the street work that enabled it to fill the entire property. Damage waivers were secured in order that there could be no claim for damages because of the excessive fills.

It is now claimed by some of the Wilmington property owners that they signed damage waivers and petitions for the improvement under false representations.

SOMEWHAT PUZZLED.

As a result of the misunderstanding surrounding the resignation of Harbor Engineer Jubb from one position in order that he might take up the same work under a different title, nobody around the work in San Pedro seems to know just who is who, when it comes to signing requisitions for work under the old bond issue.

Jubb resigned last Saturday and since the first of the month his old position under the Board of Public Works has been vacant. It is reported that Assistant Engineer Vincent will be appointed to sign requisitions on the old fund, but no official notice of this appointment has been received here.

CASHIER PROMOTED.

J. A. Robertson, cashier at the Crescent wharf, has been promoted to the position of superintendent of the dock. He will succeed Capt. Adams, who has not been connected with the company since June 1.

POMONA'S SMUDGE ORDINANCE.

City Attorney Instructed to Prepare Draft—Ebell Entertained by "Scotland" Quotations.

POMONA, June 4.—The City Council has authorized City Attorney Guerin to draft the ordinance governing the smudging of citrus groves here. This ordinance will be based on the report of the investigating committee which was appointed a while ago to look into the smudge proposition. This report cited as one of the chief causes of smudge smoke the burning of low-grade oil in open cans and pots.

It is believed that an ordinance can be framed that will be satisfactory to all concerned, and that with the use of the newly-patented smudge pots when necessary, by which the smudge is practically eliminated, there will be little cause for complaint, if another cold snap should visit Pomona Valley any winter.

EBELL'S "SCOTLAND."

The music and art section of the Pomona Ebell met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. C. Crookshank, on East Holt avenue, when the subject of "Scotland" was considered. The roll call was answered with quotations. Mrs. F. de Witt Crank discussed current events, and there was a piano solo by Miss Mary Howe. Mrs. D. Mackenzie talked upon the subject of "Scottish Paintings, Past and Present;" Mrs. C. D. Baker discussed Scotch folk songs, and there was a vocal solo by Miss Lulu Harris. Mrs. Charles L. Loud was leader of the meeting, which was the last one for the club year. Sessions will be resumed in the fall.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Henry Gunn, who suffered a fracture of the skull in a motorcycle accident at Park avenue and Monterey street yesterday, and was taken to the Pomona Valley Hospital on East Holt avenue, although seriously injured is resting comfortably.

The funeral of the late Miss Mary B. Reedy was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the family home at No. 311 East Pasadena street, Rev. T. T. Creswell of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. The interment was made in Pomona Cemetery.

Rehearsals for the Elks production of the "Mikado," which will be staged at the Fraternal Aid Theater on Monday and Tuesday evenings, are progressing well under the direction of George L. Wilson, who has been drilling the cast for three weeks. There will be fifty young men and women in the cast and chorus, the most prominent amateur talent in the city having become interested in the event, which it is proposed to make of considerable social importance.

The ranchers in the locality of Chino are taking steps to get rid of a weed pest in the form of the Russian thistle before it shall get started over the big Chino ranch. A campaign of extermination will be inaugurated with a view to killing every thistle plant in Chino. This weed is a great menace and is almost impossible to check when once it gets a good start. The thistle is similar in form of growth to the ordinary tumble weed and is hardy and prolific. When ripe it dries, uproots and rolls over the ground like the tumble weed, scattering seeds generously over the land. The farmers awake to the pest are determined not to let the Russian thistle get a growing hold on the Chino acres.

RAILWAY TO CORONA.

Pacific Electric Bids in Franchises and Binds Itself to Begin Work in Six Months.

CORONA, June 4.—The City Trustees last evening accepted the bid of $100 by the Pacific Electric Railroad Company for a franchise to construct and maintain an electric car line to and through Corona. The company binds itself in its bond to commence work on the road inside of six months, and complete the same within two years from the date of securing the franchise.

The Auditing Committee refused to O. K. a bill from the Los Angeles Vaccum Gas Heater Company, being under the impression that the plant was not what it was represented as the results so far obtained have not been flattering. However, the fact was brought out that the clerk was in receipt of a report from a Los Angeles firm that had been made regarding the quality of gas the local gas company was furnishing, and it was then learned that the fault was not with the heating plant itself, but due entirely to the poor gas. The bill was then audited and ordered paid.

The report of the City Treasurer shows that the city has a balance of over $78,000 on hand. This is considered good in view of the fact that considerable street improvement has been going on for many months.

WEST SACRAMENTO is perhaps the only section of California that will produce a full crop this year.
—This is because of its never-failing system of sub-irrigation, which scientifically regulates the moisture of the soil.
—The price of the land here is based upon what it is now producing.
—The improvements—the finest in California, are given FREE.
—Crops at West Sacramento mature from four to six weeks earlier than anywhere else in California.
—You harvest your crop and ship it anywhere, on four different railroads on the property.
—If you are not an experienced farmer the service bureau teaches you how to get the greatest profit out of the soil.
—This combination of advantages, together with an easy payment plan, a soil that CANNOT FAIL and an ideal location must and WILL bring greater returns on an investment in West Sacramento than in any land project on the market today.

PERSONAL RIGHTS.

A man in Kansas has been fined $500 for being lazy. It is getting dangerous to be born.

FIRST AND LAST.

The Mayor of San Francisco drove the last horse car of that city on its final trip Tuesday. He is probably not half as proud of the job as the executive who made the initial trip.

ON THE WAGON.

Secretary Bryan gave a luncheon in honor of Pedro Rafael Quodra, Nicaraguan Minister of Finance. We would enjoy hearing Pedro's private opinion of grape juice as a dinner beverage.

AN OBSOLETE SAYING.

The proverb that "the wheel will never turn with the water that is past" is obsolete. Electrical science seizes the power of the cataract, telegraphs it up stream and literally "turns a wheel with the water that is past."

JUST THEIR KIND.

Masson, the aviator, cannot manipulate his aeroplane far enough above sea level to blow up the warships of the Federals and keep out of range of the enemy. He has made much noise and done no damage. This is exactly the Mexican ideal of revolutionary warfare.

INEXPERIENCED.

Lloyd George refuses to make an American itinerary planned for him on which he was to speak twelve times, because it looked too much like a showman's tour. If this is his idea of campaigning the Chancellor of England could not be elected constable in the United States.

THE DEVIL HIS DUE.

The City Attorney of Santa Ana complains that the devil could run a restaurant according to the ordinances regulating the business in that city. Well, what of it? Didn't the Lord run a restaurant with a free lunch counter without a license when the Israelites were short of eats on their little holiday excursion from Egypt into Canaan?

TAKING A CHANCE.

An Alaskan arrived at Venice one morning, took a stroll on which he became acquainted with a girl he liked, and found himself married in forty-eight hours. Any bachelor who exposes himself to the dangers of Southern California in this manner deserves no sympathy. Any single man who goes to a summer resort to fish will certainly get hooked.

WEARING MEDALS.

Peary has been given a medal. Sweden gave it to him. We like the Swedes too well to say that Peary discovers North Poles like a Swede, yet somehow his English way of finding them has not been quite convincing. Perhaps it is because the people became so weary of the manner in which the whole matter was Cooked up.

NO OBJECTION.

The wedding present of Adolphus Busch to his favorite granddaughter was a check in a sealed envelope not to be opened until after the marriage. While this present could not be placed on exhibit with the clocks and spoons and table center pieces, the bride at least has the consolation of knowing that she will not have to exchange it for door mats and chairs as she will the duplicates of other gifts.

HISTORY MAY REPEAT ITSELF.

More than fifty years ago Fernando Wood was elected Mayor of New York City by a combination of the redlight saloons, the gamblers, the white slavers and all the criminal and disorderly elements.

No sooner was he installed than, to the amazement of everybody and the profound disgust of those who had been active in securing his election, he turned squarely in his tracks, suppressed vice in every form and made of New York a clean and orderly city.

History sometimes repeats itself.

STAY THERE!

The returns indicate that about ten thousand voters cast their ballots for Mayor Rose in order to express their dislike and contempt for Edwin T. Earl; for Mr. Stephens, who was viciously attacked by the rubster before the primaries, and was not supported by him afterwards except in a very perfunctory manner, received about 10,000 votes more than Shenk. If the Earl papers had supported Stephens as vigorously as they did Shenk, Stephens might have been defeated.

The people have kicked Earl out of politics.

"Ah, there! Stay there!"

A DIFFICULT PEACE.

Sir Alfred Austin is dead. He never distinguished himself particularly as a poet either before or after he became England's laureate. He was a builder of charming verses, being a good mechanic of pretty sentiment, but he lacked in fire and in the cosmic grasp. He was a modest man and perhaps underadvertised. He seems to have had a gentle habit of inspiration without straining for the sublime peaks or the deep vales whence the muse must take her flight if a poet is to wear the crown of immortals. England was not expected to produce two Tennysons in succession, especially as it has not been so long ago since the days of Keats, Shelley, Wordsworth and Byron. Austin seems to have been a man too good and too fine not to hold the respect of the people, even though he failed to take rank as a genius of letters.

A VILE COMMENT.

That was a nasty comment by a nasty mind in yesterday's Tribune—the bold headline, "The Underworld Triumphs," applied to the result of the city election; nobody but a degenerate could have coined it.

It was a shameless insult to thousands of the best men and women in Los Angeles who voted for Rose for reasons of their own—an insult born of E. T. Earl's frenzied spleen and ungovernable rage.

"The Underworld Triumphs," quoth Earl.

A direct accusation that the men and women who saw fit to support Rose were the habitues of the abodes of vice and infamy; the denizens of the regions of shame that respectable people shun; the associates of thieves and the inmates of bagnios—the "underworld" of crime and evil practices and moral filth.

It would seem that 'tis Earl's idea that none but his cronies and followers are decent. He has given expression to such a sentiment many times heretofore.

The Times does not wonder that the many honest and self-respecting men and women of the highest character who supported Rose are boiling with indignation and wrath, and propose to make their resentment felt. What man or woman worthy of the name could pass by so vile an attack, so infamous an insult?

Editor Earl apparently needs a new editor to edit him. His fury over his complete political elimination has robbed him of what little sense of decency he ever had; he goes charging about like a maddened and blinded bull, not caring whom he gores with his poisoned horns. What a revolting spectacle of incomparable bestiality!

THE NEXT MAYOR.

The Times did not support Judge Rose for Mayor and disclaims any right or any purpose to offer him, as a partisan might do, any counsel as to the course he shall pursue in the administration of the duties of the important office to which the people have elected him.

Yet it would be less than faithful to its trust as a journal devoted to the welfare of this wonderful city of ours if it failed to remind him that the majority voted for him, not as a Republican, or as a Progressive, or as a Democrat, or as a Socialist, but because they believed in him and trusted in him as an upright and able gentleman, who would not be the mere leader of a faction, but would be a Mayor of all the people, consulting the interests and rights of those who voted against him as well as those who voted for him.

The Socialists and labor-unionists, having been disappointed in obtaining a place on the ticket for Harriman, voted for Judge Rose in order to express their antagonism to the nominee of the Municipal Conference, and not because they regarded Judge Rose as the exponent of their peculiar doctrines.

Mayor-elect Rose—The Times feels confident—does not believe that "property is robbery" and does not favor turning Los Angeles into an insane and bankrupt cooperative commonwealth. He will not encourage or tolerate picketing or boycotting, or strikes, or assaulting, or dynamiting, or trouble-breeding, or law-defying domination from any quarter. McCarthy supported him, not that he loved him more, but that he loved Industrial Freedom and a government of law and peace and order less.

There will be, doubtless, a pressure upon Mayor Rose by many of those who voted for him to give them a chance to loot the public treasury by inefficiently performing unnecessary services. There will be a pressure upon him to favor the creation of municipal lodging-houses, and municipal restaurants, and municipal manufactories, and municipal stores, and municipal theaters, and municipal establishments of various kinds that may afford jobs to hundreds of his supporters. There will be pressure upon him to wink at lawlessness rampaging in the veiled uniform of "organized labor."

The Times looks to the civic patriotism and sagacity and sense of right of our new Mayor to resist such evil influences, and banish McCarthy utterly from his councils, and consult the interests of the whole people and not those of a selfish clique, who are indifferent to the public welfare and desire only their own aggrandisement and who are the real enemies of honest labor.

Mayor Rose is a man of undoubted ability and courage. His is a strong personality. He has an opportunity now to disappoint those who underrated him, and to make of himself a dominant figure in public affairs in local and State politics.

In the interests of the great city he has been called upon to govern, The Times wishes him, not failure but success. It will make it a duty to watch his official career; and it will be a pleasure to commend good public acts done by him, when the doing shall become a fact accomplished.

HEADS AND TAILS.

A corporation, we have been told, has no soul to save, no back to beat and no sympathy to appeal to. Many people, therefore, have become ardent supporters of municipal ownership, under the mistaken notion that by this system they can create an obedient servant, capable of being kicked or cajoled into always doing the right thing.

But a municipality is simply a corporation of more diversified interests and less special knowledge. A municipality can block progress more effectually than a private corporation. For a corporation must perforce have a business head to study the public needs; a municipality sometimes has only a dependent tail, to wag as some local magnate thinks advisable.

For a long time Pasadena has desired a quicker car service to Los Angeles; the rapid growth of both these cities has rendered the present service inadequate. The Pacific Electric is anxious and willing, both in their own interests and those of their patrons, to shorten the present route, to make fewer stops and to run more cars. So prompts the business head.

But to reach Los Angeles by a proposed shorter route the Pacific Electric must pass through the incorporated city of South Pasadena, and South Pasadena wants to attach strings to any franchise it grants to the company. If it wags the tail, the head can't act.

Should the city fathers of South Pasadena insist that every car running through its territory must stop on signal at every street corner, they can frustrate any plan for shortening the travel between Pasadena and Los Angeles. The "soulless" corporation is working for the good of two important cities. But one municipality, lying between them, can hold up the whole plan.

The Pacific Electric Company naturally will not go to the expense of laying a new track unless they can improve on the present service, unless they can save time and money by doing so. The company has gone so far as to promise South Pasadena a shorter route from Mission Road through the hills to Shuetzen Park, on the condition they receive a clear franchise for their proposed new short line from Colorado street via Shorb. This is both a friendly and a business proposition. Apparently it is not the company, but the municipality, that is blocking progress.

Are we helping things along by encouraging cities to fight all public utility companies? Municipal ownership has the taxpayers' money behind it and the taxpayers must, willy-nilly, foot the bills. A private company has only the support and the good will of the public to rely on and must pay its own way. With general municipal ownership of public utilities, instead of private and independent enterprise to help it, Southern California would not have today its present splendid system of electric railroads. That system will be everywhere increased unless the cities interested adopt a selfish policy and disregard the needs of their neighbors.

POVERTY IN FREE-TRADE ENGLAND.

It is significant that three London clergymen have recently felt it incumbent upon them to undeceive the public by placing the actual facts of working class conditions under free trade (practically such as we are about to get from the Democrats and their "Progressive" allies) on record.

Thus, the Rev. Canon Barnett, well known for his philanthropic endeavors in the East End of London, writes in the February Nineteenth Century on "Our Present Discontents." His breadth of view will be apparent to readers of the following extract from his startling appeal:

"Some conception of the nation as a whole is necessary to kindle interest in self-government, and modern poverty is gradually blotting out the old conception which grew up when people loved the countryside, where the fields laughed and sang with corn, and the cottages nestled in gardens, and when they had leisure to enjoy the tales of their fathers' great deeds. Some knowledge is also necessary if those who give votes have to decide on policies which affect international relations, and hold firmly to principles in dark as well as in bright times. But how can the men and women have such knowledge who have been driven by the poverty of their homes to go to work as children, and have had no leisure in which to read history or dream dreams? Of course they vacillate and of course they fall victims to shallow philosophy."

Again dwelling upon his belief that "the greatest need of the greatest number is a larger income," the canon goes on to say:

"Mean streets and ailing bodies jar upon the more widely-spread sense of joy, and the long hours of labor and the small wages stir an anger which becomes ready to upset society in order that the greater numbers might profit in the scramble. Poverty, as far as I can see, is the root cause of the prevailing discontent, the door by which the enemy enters, and the fortress from which he sends out suspicion and strife to compass the nation's ruin.

"Poverty, if it be not understood [and free trade will never destroy it—the writer] will destroy the England of our hopes and our dreams."

The Vicar of St. James's, Forest Gate, a poor West Ham parish, just outside the real London, pleads for the poor of his district. It is difficult to read the lines into which he has compressed his bitter cry without something more than indignation against those who, with such facts before their eyes, still do all in their power to maintain the shibboleths of an outworn dogma—the cult of Cobdenism (free trade) to which so large a share of these evils can be traced.

"In bitter, grinding poverty," the Vicar writes, "West Ham is steeped to the lips. It is always poor. Even in normal times, out of a population of 300,000, no fewer than 120,000 possess less than 4s. 6d. ($1.06) per week for a family of five or six. Nor is this the worst. Out of these 120,000 the weekly income of 30 per cent. is below that line! Let those who live in comfort and still more those who live in affluence, try and figure what these figures mean. Gas works, engineering and chemical manufactories are the principal industries of West Ham. In them the state of things is not merely serious, but appalling. Some time ago a large jute factory in Carpenter's Road was closed altogether and this accounted for fully 600 of the great army of unemployed tramping the streets. In some great engineering works close by, where formerly thousands were at work, they have now only hundreds, and 900 were dispensed with in a batch." (Remember '93-'96 in this country—the writer.)

The Rev. W. J. Somerville, rector of a parish on the south side of the Thames, comes out into the open in regard to the cause of the destitution with which he is surrounded. "We have," he writes in his fifteenth annual report, "reversed the order of nature here. More often the women and girls are the breadwinners, while men and boys are out on the streets killing time 'because no man hath hired them.' The great need of the parish is regular work [again remember '93-'96 here—the writer] for which there is an economic demand, and that seems as far off as ever. So scanty are the family earnings that the mothers on whom the burden falls have a constant and never-ending struggle to keep the wolf from the door. Their lives are a dreary round of grinding and never-ending toil."

It will be news to many Americans, accustomed to hear the English metropolis spoken of as the richest city in the world, to learn that during the twelve weeks ending February 28, 1913, a weekly average of 41,147 necessitous school children were fed as public charges on five days of each week in a corresponding average of 836 schools. Can English free traders find in such a condition a justification for the "shallow philosophy" to which Canon Barnett so pointedly alludes? And can it be said that Americans, in this year of grace, and remembering '93-'96, have no lesson to learn from this grievous recital of poverty in free-trade England?

Keep Him Out!

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

Oh, say, what is this thing called Fame, and is it worth our while? We seek it till we're old and lame, for weary mile on mile; we seek a gem among the hay, for wheat among the chaff; and in the end some heartless jay will write our epitaph. The naked facts it will relate, and little else beside: "This man was born on such a date, on such a date he died." The gravestones in the boneyard tell all we shall ever know of men who struggled passing well for glory, long ago. They had their iridescent schemes and lived to see them fail; they had their dreams, as you have dreams, and all of no avail. The gravestones calmly tell their fate, the upshot of their pride: "This man was born on such a date, on such a date he died." The great men of your fathers' time, with laurel on each brow, the theme of every poet's rhyme—where are those giants now? Their names are written in the books which no one ever reads; and on the scroll—where no one looks—the record of their deeds. The idler by the churchyard gate this legend hath espied: "This man was born on such a date, on such a date he died."

Easy Enough.

[Philadelphia Times:] In the lobby of a Washington hotel the other evening they were talking about big legal fees, when Representative Koenig cited a case.

Some time since, according to the Representative, a man fell into an open coal hole, sued for damages and was awarded a substantial amount. When he received a bill from his lawyer, however, he was stunned again, and as soon as he could get into hustling shape he hastened to see him.

"Your bill is outrageous!" exclaimed the client to the legal one. "It is more than three-fourths of the amount that I recovered."

"Quite true," was the calm response of the lawyer, "but you mustn't forget that I furnished the skill and legal learning for the case."

"Yes," excitedly cried the client, "but I furnished the case."

"Oh, as far as that goes," was the scornful reply of the lawyer, "anybody can fall down a coal hole."

COMPULSORY CULTURE.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Such a lot of people are trying to improve me morally, mentally and physically.

I am comparatively modest about my morals. I don't like the process of having them improved, but I realize that perhaps they need it. I know that I could be improved quite a great deal in this respect before anyone could honestly describe me as unpleasantly, pugnaciously good. I could be very much more truthful before I could be accused of brutal, uncompromising truthfulness. I could be very, very much more pious before my friends feared that I purposed entering a nunnery.

So, altogether, those friends who have undertaken my moral improvement receive my respectful sympathy even if I don't go out of my way to encourage them.

But I protest against having my mind improved. I live in mortal dread of becoming really cultured. And especially do I decline to digest Henri Bergson.

"As Bergson says, you know," one of my cultured friends will begin.

"Does he, indeed?" I reply with cheerful ignorance.

"My dear! You don't mean to say you have not read Bergson's philosophic treatise on the soul?" cries the shocked dame—and then I realize that I have done it again. Before a day has gone by three fearsome volumes by that latest culture-pest, Henri Bergson, are delivered at my abode, with little bits of paper stuck in here and there at the places I am required to learn off by heart.

Depressed beyond the point of discretion, I am decoyed into confiding in a gentle creature about those Bergson volumes.

"How absurd! I have no patience with these Bergson disciples," she declares with spirit and I begin to feel chirpy. "What you need in your life, my dear, is more poetry. Don't you remember those beautiful words of Browning . . ."

I parry, of course, but she soon discovers I don't. And a marked copy of Browning arrives by special messenger next morning with a request that I keep the paper cover on and glean much comfort for my soul, to say nothing of improving my mind.

"What a wonderful writer Balzac was!" is the fatal prelude to discovering my comprehensive ignorance of the gentleman's works. I believe he wrote dozens upon dozens of books and I have read but two. There are at least five people in this town who have every intention of making me read the rest.

One of these days I shall rise up in my wrath and repudiate all desire for a knowledge of Balzac; but it will only be when I am going to leave the city for good and don't care who knows it.

Herbert Spencer is another. I might have read him long ago if he had not been so persistently thrust upon me by my culture well-wishers. Herbert Spencer has been loaned to me times out of number and what I have gone through getting him back to his rightful owner without disclosing the fact that I never opened him is too sad a tale to reveal to an unsympathetic world.

Another gentle friend of mine is bound that I shall read Meredith's poems. Having read four of his books I felt that I had paid my respects very adequately to Meredith. Besides, I don't believe that poetry improves my mind. I am one of those prosaic souls which prefers to read its poetry in prose in a general way.

And I really don't see why I should concede Meredith another minute of my time. There are ever so many people I like better than Meredith.

In the meantime an artist friend of mine is shocked because I am not fully au fait with the biographies of the great masters. Having put me through a fierce cross-examination, he made the awful discovery that I was only conversant with the careers of a mere handful—and those, alas, were the last, not the first, he would have chosen for me to read!

Lives of Velasquez, Gainsborough, Romney, Greuze and Rembrandt are on the way. When I meet him a week hence I shall have to be prepared to discuss the private affairs of these persons with intimate sang-froid and intelligent understanding. I protest! When I have read the Pink Sheet, the editorial page and the telegraph section, and run over a few of those brilliant little essays by Alma Whitaker, what time have I left for the biographies of a few dead artists, I should like to know?

Maeterlinck as a topic of conversation always makes me peevish. My acquaintance with Maeterlinck is slight but deferential. I respect him, but I don't love him. I am prepared to admit that I might be greatly improved by a more intimate friendship with the gentleman, but I don't want to be improved. The only thing I really like about Maeterlinck is his shameless fondness for prize fights. Goes to one a week and doesn't mind having his picture taken in the very front of the ring. But when a thoughtful friend insists upon lending me every blessed thing that Maeterlinck elects to write—plays, novels and poems—with indiscriminate generosity, I become distinctly touchy. Life is much too interesting to gorge it with Maeterlinck.

We have often heard diatribes against the people who borrow books and never return them. But they don't begin to be as trying as the people who insist upon lending you books and then cross-examine you about them afterwards. One dear old chap lent me a five-inch volume on astronomy last week, and another sent me a long treatise on sea bugs! That means that I must either lie glibly after skimming a page or two, or wound those men to the very quick! I shall probably lie.

Oh, I wish they would let me wallow in my ignorance. But they won't. You see I am just bright enough to be worth improving.

Didn't Know When to Stop.

[Judge:] "The great men are all dead," she said, with evident regret.

"But the beautiful women are not," he replied, looking earnestly at her.

"So do I," he said.

Then she asked if he would be good enough to conduct her to her husband.

Discrimination.

"Sir, you are, I think, the biggest fool that I ever had the misfortune to set eyes upon."

"Order! Order!" said the judge, gravely. "You seem to forget that I am in the room."

Wanted Common Sense.

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] From a business standpoint Shenk should have been elected, and it is too bad he was not, maybe, but the people threw business to the winds and vented their personal opinions in their vote. They were tired and sick of having the vaudeville preachers dictate how the town should be run, weary of the intolerance and bigotry of the Methodists and Baptists and the hypocrisy of the Holy Joes in politics.

The people didn't want Socialism; but they wanted a common-sense administration.

Let us hope they will have it.

TOM PEPPER.

What Did It?

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It was not McCarthyism nor Socialism, nor the red lights, nor the liquor interests, nor any sympathy for any one of them or all of them that elected Judge Rose. Neither was it on account of the high-browa, or the long-hairs, or the Y.M.C.A.'s, or the W.C.T.U.'s, or the church federation; but it was the general and spontaneous will of the people, the common every-day people of this city, who arose in their might and decreed that the present administration and every one connected with it must go, lock, stock, ramrod and barrel.

An open town had nothing to do with it as far as the great majority of the voters were concerned, with gambling, vice, or the Sunday beer saloon, flourishing like a green bay tree under the administration of Alexander and the eagle eye of his Chief of Police, until The Times pointed it out to them; but the pessimistic politics of the City Hall and the persistency with which the police lay traps for Chink fan-tan players in Chinatown and let the hold-up man and the street-car robber escape—that had a whole lot to do with it. And this is no reflection on the rank and file of the police department, who simply have to do as they are told.

The common people, unlike those who revel and rejoice in the beauties of higher education, can do but one thing at a time and do it well, and they, therefore, refused to be led by the nose and the legion of spellbinders into tilting against the windmills of vice and the more material dragon of Socialism, but simply made sure that the City Hall should be cleaned out without troubling themselves too much as to what its future occupant may do or who he will get to help him.

In this, if they have made a mistake, let the blame fall where it belongs, on the Municipal Conference Committee, who brought Mr. Shenk to the fore in spite of his connection with the discredited administration, ignoring the fact that the people demanded a change from stem to gudgeon.

Mr. Shenk may be as pure as Caesar's wife, but they should have recalled the fate of that perfectly good and upright dog that once upon a time fell in bad company and had to suffer in consequence. Don't let it slip from your mind for a moment that it was no particular love for Shenk that defeated Shenk, and the next time let the Conference Committee remember that the people are patient and long suffering, but—there is a limit.

Better Ballot Paper.

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish through your valuable paper to protest against the grade of paper used in the ballots for our city election today. They were so thin that the print and stamp showed clearly through on the outside when folded. "Secret ballot" is a joke in a case like this.

JOHN L. WESTREM,
Na. 2764 S. Main st.

Who Is Responsible?

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why not make parents or guardians of minors responsible for their delinquency?

In a discussion of the social evil and sex problems a few days since I heard a man make this remark: "The trouble is, the subject is never handled in a common-sense, practical way." To the question, why not? the answer was "Because you club women would holler your heads off." Not a very elegant answer, but it set me to thinking.

After reading Rev. Robert J. Burdette's articles on "White Slavery" in The Times, I could readily see that the average woman has only one viewpoint on the subject, and from that "lookout" cannot see the whole truth. Slave we not been taking it for granted that sin of this nature is merely a matter of the masculine sex?

The term white slave has become a "stench in the nostrils" of thinking people. When any woman, young or old, willingly sells herself for an immoral purpose and is careful to find the best market, so as to command the highest price, she is a slave to her own greed, and her only slaver master is her own depraved nature.

Not in one case under investigation do these young girls claim that they were other than "willing victims." And so glibly rehearse the history of their downfall, as they would describe the last moving picture show they attended. They seem not a little proud of being the center attraction, of being in the spot light. They seemed to have been perfectly satisfied with the good time they were having, plus any material thing that they could coax or secure from their male companions until they were haled before a court of inquiry when they suddenly became "little innocents" who had been very much misused.

It is a step forward when the guardians of the law propose to hold owners of country clubs, dance halls and other questionable resorts and places where intoxicating drinks are sold to such a party to their delinquency, and punish them accordingly. Let us go still farther and also include the parents or guardians of those boys and girls and if they go wrong, charge them with it. Put the responsibility where it belongs.

If those that should be responsible for these young people, knew that every time their boys and girls were in questionable places drinking intoxicating liquors or joy riding at unreasonable hours, they would be brought into court and made to answer for it, then they would find a way to control their wayward charges or else if they had to send a riot call for the police.

Wanted Common Sense.

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] From a businesslike standpoint Shank should have been elected, and it is too bad he was not, maybe, but the people threw reason to the winds and voted on personal opinions in their vote. They were tired and sick of having the Methodist preachers dictate how the town should be run, weary of the bigotry and hypocrisy of the Methodists and Baptists and the hypocrisy of the Holy Joes in politics.

The people didn't want Socialism; but they wanted a common-sense administration.

Let us hope they will have it.

TOM PEPPER.

What Did It?

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It was not McCarthyism nor Socialism, nor the red flag, nor the liquor interests, nor any sympathy for any one of them or all of them that elected John Shank. Neither was it on account of the high-brows, or the long-hairs, or the I.W.W.'s, or the W. C. T. U.'s, or the church federation; but it was the general and spontaneous will of the people, the common every-day people of this city, who went in their might and decreed that the present administration and every one connected with it must go, lock, stock, rammed and barrel.

As you, town hall nothing to do with it at all, for as the great majority of the voters were concerned, with gambling, vice, or the Sunday beer closing, sparkling like a green bay tree under the administration of Alexander and the eagle eye of his chief of Police, until The Times pulled it out to them; but the peaceful policies of the City Hall and the efficiency with which the police lay traps for Chink fan-tan players in Chinatown and let the hold-up man and the street-car robber escape—that had a whole lot to do with it. And this is no reflection on the rank and file of the police department, who simply have to do as they are told.

The common people, unlike those who rave and rejoice in the beautiful of higher education, can do but one thing at a time and do it well, and men, therefore, refused to be led by any guess and the legion of spellbinders who talking against the windmills of vice and the more material dragon of feudalism, but simply made sure that the City Hall should be cleaned out without troubling themselves too much as to what its future occupant may do or who he will put in their place.

So then, if they have made a mistake let the blame fall where it belongs, on the Municipal Conference Committee, who brought Mr. Shank to the fore in spite of his connection with the discredited administration, ignoring the fact that the people demanded a change from stem to stern.

If Shank may be as pure as Caesar's wife, but they should have resisted the fate of that perfectly good old bright dog that once upon a time fell in bad company and had to suffer in consequence. Don't let it go from your mind for a moment that it was no particular love for Shank that defeated Shank; and the next time let the Conference Committee remember that the people are patient but long suffering, but—there's a limit.

Better Ballot Paper.

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish through your valuable paper to protest against the quality of paper used in the ballots for our city election today. They were so thin that the print and stamp showed distinctly through on the outside and, indeed, "Secret ballot" is a joke in more than this.

JOHN L. WESTREM,

Who Is Responsible?

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why not make parents or guardians of minors responsible for their delinquency?

It is a discussion of the social evil for the gentlemen a few days since I heard a man make this remark: "The trouble is the subject is never handled in a common-sense, practical way." To the question, why not? the answer was "Because you club-women would bother your heads off." Not a very elegant answer, but it set me to thinking.

After reading Rev. Robert J. Burdette's article on "White Slavery" in The Times I could readily see that the average woman has only one idea on the subject, and from her "point of view" cannot see the whole truth. Why not let the men take it up? Is it not a matter of this nature is simply a matter of the masculine sex? The trend of the times has become a "fad" in the "centrals" of thinking women. When any woman, young or old, voluntarily sells herself for an immoral purpose and is careful to find a buyer that is willing to pay the market price, she is a slave to her own passions, and her only slaver is her own depraved nature.

In the cases under investigation the young girls claim that they are only the "willing victims." And I would suppose the history of their cases, as they would describe the moving picture show they attended, or how many times they had been out with their companions, or how they were hailed before a court as "delinquents" who had been arrested.

Let us step forward when the guardians of the peace propose to hold own-your-own dance halls and cabaret resorts and places where intoxicating drinks are sold to a party to their delinquency, and fine them accordingly. Let us call further and also interrogate the parents of guardians of such girls and if they go to such places with it. Put the blame where it belongs.

Parents should be responsible for their young people, know that their young boys and girls were in questionable places drinking [illegible] or joy riding at [illegible] hours, they would be [illegible] and make to answer for it. Only they would find a [illegible] their wayward charges [illegible] need a riot call for [illegible].

MUCH RADIUM IDLE.

Five Hundred Milligrammes Stored in London for Want of a Purchaser and May Go to India.

[Baltimore American:] The 500 idle milligrammes of radium, for the want of which numbers of patients in the great London hospitals are dying, were recently inspected by a press representative.

These 500 milligrammes, with an additional 200 that are expected next month, constitute practically the whole supply on the English market today. Both Japan and India are applying for it, however, and unless some one or something intervenes promptly to prevent it there is grave danger of the entire 500 milligrammes, which could all be purchased for the relatively trifling sum of 12,500 pounds, or sixteen pounds a milligramme, leaving the country forever.

Meanwhile, at least five London hospitals—the London, Middlesex, Metropolitan, Cancer and St. John's for Diseases of the Skin—are making pathetic appeals for more adequate supplies in order, both to save life and relieve pain. The precious 500 milligrammes are stored in the British Radium Corporation's strongroom in the basement of Salisbury House.

A little party of directors of the corporation made their way there shortly before 1 p.m. yesterday. This strongroom was entirely empty except for what appeared to be a small Japanned cash box, about twelve by eight inches and six inches deep, propped up on a wooden packing case in the back left hand corner. The small cash book was opened to reveal a heavy inner lid of solid lead. This in turn was removed, disclosing half a dozen small lead cylinders. The aluminum top of each cylinder was unscrewed, one of the directors, with a pair of delicate forceps, fished out of the center cavity of each cylinder a piece of cotton wool, and then one or more thin, violet-colored glass tubes.

Nine of these tubes in all, each containing a tiny pinch of powder, and each with a platinum wire soldered on the end to prevent the tube bursting, were fished out of their cotton nests in the central hollows of the lead cylinders, and, with the aid of the same pair of forceps, laid in a row on the inside of the lid of a camera case. With one exception all the tubes were between half an inch and one inch long, and scarcely thicker than the ordinary small safety match.

Gazing at the contents of the nine violet-colored tubes by the light of a single electric bulb within the whitewashed walls of the bare strongroom, it was difficult to realise that they contained 500 milligrammes of the precious radium bromide, and that each pinch of powder—some of them so small as to be almost microscopic—would enable any one of the great London hospitals which give treatment by radium, to save hundreds, if not thousands, of lives.

Seen outside the glass the radium, to the lay eye, resembles nothing so much as dirty cooking salt, the action of the emanations being responsible for the color of the glass. Some inkling of the magic power of the radium was forthcoming on the switching off of the electric light, when that particular portion of each tube in which the radium rested began to glow with a strange bluish phosphorescence.

Less than one-sixteenth of the large tube—which contained 275 milligrammes—showed this phosphorescence, the size of the tube being due to the packing of this lot, either for redistribution in smaller tubes or for use in bulk in solution.

LAKE FISHING IN WINTER.

Quick Work Required by the Fishermen in Order to Land the Deep Water Trout.

[Detroit News-Tribune:] The stranger in L'Anse, Mich., looks out over the bay and sees the ice dotted with little shacks. There is no life, no motion, excepting the swirl of the snow as the breeze from Lake Superior makes it dance in the air. But all of a sudden the bay becomes alive. From out of half a dozen of the shacks dash men each as though pursued. Soon there flies through the open door of each shack a big trout, a circumstance that completes the illusion the man was chased. Then the man returns, knocks the fish on the head, reels up his line, puts on more bait, fills up his pipe, and is ready for a repetition of the novel performance. This is how they catch fish in the Lake Superior region in the winter time, and the stranger—much interested and if he has the time—goes out onto the bay to investigate at close quarters.

Visitors find the little shacks are an adjunct to one of the best winter sports known, at least to the contemplative and reflective fisherman. The operator must provide himself with a long and strong fish line on a reel. He must have the necessary hooks, fresh meat for bait and the usual paraphernalia of a fisherman. Over a hole cut in the ice a shack is erected, usually of boards, often a reinforced tent. The hut is either heated with an oil stove or kerosene lamp. The shelter is open on one side and it can be turned so this opening faces the leeward. At night the lamp helps to attract the fish to the hole. Generally, however, the sport is practiced in the day time. The man that fishes must be patient, and it is well if he is fond of reading, though skill with the jack-knife often makes up for a lack of literary inclinations.

The fisherman sits in his shack and smokes and reads or whittles. He has let out about 300 feet of line and ever and anon he jerks it. Suddenly he has a bite. There is no time to be lost, there are no fancy touches in landing the fish. The L'Anse method is for the man to drop pipe and book or jack-knife, kicking over the lamp often. He must just take the fish line in his hand and run. He has out about 300 feet of line. He must do 100 yards at top speed to land his fish, for to take the trout by surprise is the only way to get the fish to the surface. This run with the captured fish is one of the features of the sport.

SUGAR PINE OF YOSEMITE.

Surpasses All the Trees of Its Species in Size, Lordly Beauty, Majesty and Development.

[Dallas News:] Of all the world's eighty or ninety species of pine trees the sugar pine (Pinus lambertiana) is king, according to a woodwise man, John Muir, who talks of trees as he might of dear friends and comrades. The sugar pine surpasses all the rest, not merely in size, but in lordly beauty and majesty. In the Yosemite region it grows at an elevation of from 5000 to 7000 feet above the sea and attains most perfect development at a height of about 5000 feet. The largest specimens are commonly about 220 feet high and from six to eight feet in diameter four feet from the ground, though some grand patriarch may be met here and there that has enjoyed six or eight centuries and attained a thickness of ten or even twelve feet, still sweet and fresh in every fiber.

The trunk is a remarkably smooth, round, delicately-tapered shaft, straight and regular as if turned in a lathe, mostly without limbs, purplish brown in color and usually enlivened with tufts of yellow lichen. Toward the head of this magnificent column long branches sweep gracefully outward and downward, sometimes forming a palm-like crown, but far more impressive than any palm crown I ever beheld. The needles are about three inches long in fascicles of five, and arranged rather close in tassels at the ends of the slender branchlets that clothe the long outsweeping limbs.

How well they sing in the winds, and how strikingly harmonious is the effect made by the long, cylindrical cones, depending loosely from the ends of the long branches! The cones are about fifteen to eighteen inches long and three in diameter; green, shaded with dark purple on their sunward sides. They are ripe in September and October of the second year from the flower.

News From The Times School of Domestic Science

Cooking as a Fine Art.

FOR WOMEN HOMEKEEPERS.

FASCINATING TALK ON A FASCINATING ART.

Open House and Free Lessons Three Days in the Week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, in Afternoon, Second Floor New "Times" Building.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Yesterday was salad day. No wonder Mrs. Haffner-Ginger is such a dominant personality. If and when I can conceive salads like that I shall dominate too.

Oh, my sisters, the salads we have known are not salads. Those contraptions known to us as potato salad, combination salad (a hit-or-miss affair [his that never fails to surprise and startle!) and all those other specious jumbles with which we have been wont to try our friends—they were not salads.

The salads that matured under the inspired fingers of Mme. La Cubiniere yesterday at The Times cooking school were very different affairs—epicurean, tasteful, artistic and original.

The dressing alone was a thing of beauty and a joy to the palate. It resembled nothing so much as white satin when it was completed and ready for use. Whether the secret was really in that stiff rich cream from the Los Angeles Creamery or in the fiercely whipped eggs and olive oil, and the fact that the boiling liquid was added to the eggs instead of the eggs added to the liquid, I know not. But I suspect that the Ginger skill had most to do with it.

After that it seemed natural that an irresistible salad course should materialize from a mere can of Avalon tuna, which looked and tasted for all the world like chicken, and that still another should be inspired from the heart of a young and innocent cabbage! A dressing like that could elevate anything to a high social status.

I expect that one of the great secrets of Mrs. Ginger's success is her splendid scorn of the old-fashioned cook books. They represent the best that was known at the period, but times have changed in that department as well as everywhere else and there are more modern and better methods of cooking in exactly the same proportion as there are more modern and better methods of printing.

Why should we attempt to cook with old-fashioned utensils, for instance, when clever brains have been busy for years perfecting a hundred small implements for making the art and science of cooking simpler and more efficient?

Mrs. Ginger drew our attention to the many cute and utterly fascinating utensils to be obtained at Parmelee-Dohrman's at absurdly cheap prices. What cook worthy the name would go on laboriously chopping up her salad ingredients with a knife, for instance, while those cheap, clever, easy choppers are to be had so reasonably?

The Elixir of Youth.

One product that Mrs. Ginger introduced to us found us all intensely interested. There were about 200 of us and we are all, to a woman, ready to learn how to keep young and healthy. Wherefore "Zoodar" found us not only sympathetic, but cordial. "Zoodar" is very up-to-date with its Bulgarian affiliations. It is cultured milk put up in the famous Bulgarian manner—that of which gave Prof. Metchnikoff so much fame a few years ago. It is claimed that the Bulgarians are healthier and live longer, look younger and wear better than any other nation and they do it all on "Zoodar."

While we are affecting Bulgarian fashions in clothes, and reading Bulgarian news in our newspapers, it seems only appropriate that we should try a Bulgarian diet and achieve a little Bulgarian success. It is certainly pleasant enough stuff to take and with its promise of youth and beauty, I for one feel encouraged to try it.

Virginia Hams.

They do say that the fifth Mrs. Nat Goodwin made another bid for fame by cooking the Virginia ham for the opening of Nat's latest little enterprise at Santa Monica with her own fair hands. But Nat cannot have a monopoly in Virginia hams and Mrs. Ginger proposes to cook one for our delectation on Friday afternoon. Oh, but there is art in the right cooking of a Virginia ham, my sisters. It is one of those things that must be done properly or left undone. Thank goodness, cooking is one of the things that can be acquired. Unlike a pedigree, one doesn't have to be born to it.

The Invalid's Innings.

A fascinating lesson that is sure to be on invalid cookery and home nursing. Mrs. and Miss Ginger—the latter a trained nurse—are going to have a graphic sort of demonstration playlet in which a rampant invalid with as much temper as pain is tamed and cured within the home.

Most of us have an invalid in the home at sometime or another and precious few of us know how to do our duty by them. Mrs. Ginger will teach us how to whet their jaded appetites, how to soothe their touchy nerves, how to coax them into taking their medicine, how to make their bandages and their beds with the least possible fuss and most possible efficiency—in fact, I prophesy such an enormous audience when that day is announced that the Times Building won't hold us all. Even if we don't intend to nurse any invalids ourselves we shall know what to make the family do for us when our turn comes.

School for Servants.

Another feature that has whetted our curiosity is the hint of a series of classes for the proper training of [illegible] class servants. Won't do any harm if a few mistresses to go to that [illegible] they will know when Mary Jane is doing things correctly. Parlor maids will be taught the complete art of waiting at table—and it is an art to do it deftly and with the least possible perturbation—and butlers will be taught the secrets of the wise old footmen, chambermaids, kitchen maids and housemaids will all be [illegible] into the various specialties of their roles.

Altogether by the time Mrs. Ginger has done with us we shall know a lot about good housekeeping and correct preparation of food. She manages to cook all those delicious dishes with never a mistake, though she keeps up that clever flow of instruction and explanation in such a way I can understand. It makes me curious if the cat comes into the room to watch me boil an egg.

Wife and I Are Friends of INSTANT POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

"I used to drink coffee—was nervous and irritable. Wife said so.

"So when the new food-drink, Instant Postum, came along she said to herself: 'Here's where I break Jack of the coffee habit.'

"Instant Postum is good stuff. I sleep better, smile more, and miss my indigestion."

A level teaspoonful of Instant Postum in an ordinary cup of hot water dissolves instantly and makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled.)

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water.

VALUABLE MANUSCRIPT DESTROYED IN BLAZE.

RIVERSIDE, June 4.—Local interest attaches to the loss sustained by Prof. J. B. Huey, who holds the chair of psychology at Johns Hopkins University, in the fire which destroyed the $15,000 home of J. E. Bartlett at Hemet yesterday.

For the past six months Prof. Huey has been at Hemet recuperating from a serious illness, and has devoted what time he could to revising and editing manuscript and data for a book on "Functional Psychology."

This valuable work, which represents three years of effort, was completely destroyed in the fire, and it is considered doubtful whether Prof. Huey will undertake the reproduction of the manuscript, owing to his condition of health.

WILL IMPROVE SYSTEM.

In view of the prospective transfer, now assured, of the Riverside Water Company's domestic system to the city, that corporation is planning improvements to its irrigating system to the extent of $75,000. With the closing of negotiations for the sale of its system, the company will be entirely free of debt, a condition it has not enjoyed since the year 1885. Among the improvements contemplated is the cementing of about five miles of what is known as the upper canal. The lower canal will be abandoned.

BIG CITRUS GROVE SOLD.

Francis Cuttle, president of the Riverside Water Company, has disposed of the last of his citrus holdings with the sale to L. Lindsay of Los Angeles of 110 acres in the West Riverside district. Of this extensive holding, fifty acres are in navels and sixty in Valencias. This property is the last of 637 acres purchased by Mr. Cuttle eight years ago, since which time none of it was in cultivation.

HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENT.

The Board of Supervisors today awarded the contract for the erection of a new two-story ward building to F. L. Sherman, on his bid of $2980. The report of the superintendent shows fifty patients being cared for at the present time.

REUNION OF ILLINOISANS.

The first annual picnic of the Illinois Society of Riverside county, which will be held in Fairmount Park on Friday afternoon, promises to be a notable reunion of former residents of that State. Many prominent citizens appear on the committee lists. The celebration is scheduled to begin at 2:30 and continue until 10 in the evening. A picnic dinner will be served at 5:30.

THE "WATER JAG."

New Form of Intoxication Invented in Germany, But Suppressed by the Kaiser's Government.

[Baltimore American:] If you are looking for a strictly new sensation go on a water jag. This you still may do with legal impunity in America, but in Germany, where this form of tipple was invented, stringent laws were passed and the vice has been summarily stamped out.

Strange to say—and it may shock the white ribboner who does not read far enough—the aqua intoxicating is more violent and serious in its effects than indulgence in opalescent absinthe, fiery schnapps, head-swelling mescal or just plain "red eye," and the craze makes one a nervous wreck, it is assured in a few weeks' time. Furthermore, the intoxicating fluid is just plain water, of no particular chemical constitution, and not to be sought in any particular spring or stream—it is just water.

"Well, what's the joke?" we can hear some one asking. There is no joke at all; it is strictly true, the only peculiarity being that, instead of being imbibed by the throat, as in the case with ordinary intoxicants, or by subcutaneous injections, as in the case of the more subtle narcotics, the water is imbibed through the ear.

The operation is simple enough. Cold water is allowed to drop, to drop slowly and steadily into the ear. At first the effect is somewhat painful and has a a boiling sensation, but gradually this gives way, it is said, to a delicious feeling of drowsiness and well-being, ending in oblivion and deep sleep. When aroused the victim remains for a long time dull and stupid, like a heavy drinker of alcohol.

A craving for this form of intoxication is said to be established easily, and yet, if persisted in, the habit quickly ruins the nervous system and may easily harm the brain itself, as the unnatural chilling of the brain tissue cannot but be injurious.

If this new vice should spread one might have to revise the quotation relative to putting something into one's mouth to steal away his brain and for mouth substitute ear.

Prevalence of Leprosy.

[Washington Star:] There are 146 cases of leprosy in the United States, according to a survey made by the United States Public Health Service. This figure does not give an accurate idea of the prevalence of the disease, because only in eighteen States and the District of Columbia is leprosy a specifically notifiable disease.

In 1911 a commission of officers of the public health service found 278 lepers in the United States. Of these 145 were foreign-born and 13 were of unknown nativity; 186 were reported as probably having contracted the disease in this country. Only 72 of the patients were isolated and cared for by the local authorities. The 146 cases reported in the present survey do not indicate a decreased prevalence. Rather these 146 cases reported by the health authorities are comparable to the 72 cases of patients reported by health officials in 1911.

For the Count.

LARRY SULLIVAN KNOCKS DOWN DETECTIVE BROWN

SPRING street furnished a sensation to its frequenters yesterday that was almost as keen as the election of the preceding day. It occurred when Detective Sam Browne and Larry Sullivan met between Fourth and Fifth streets yesterday afternoon.

Neither stands in the good graces of the other. Browne was formerly chief of detectives in the District Attorney's office until he resigned a few months after tossing Carl Warr's dynamite into a jammed street. Larry Sullivan is introduced by Bradstreet's because of becoming a double-millionaire in Goldfield several years ago.

The two met unexpectedly. As soon as they identified each other they drew their fists. They ignored feints and sparrings that have [illegible] Vernon famous and clinched at the tap of the gong, which happened to be a cash register ringing up a sale at their backs.

Larry Sullivan was shifty with his fists and knocked the heavier detective down. Samuel Browne resented the humiliation and arose for another clinch. Then he went down again. Larry Sullivan attempted to keep him there, but the detective was restrained by friends and taken to the office, where who patched up a welling wound.

The police have not taken formal notice of the affair.

TO SOLVE MYSTERY.

Proprietor of Van Nuys Hotel Coming to Attend Convention at Long Beach.

E. L. Potter, proprietor of the Van Nuys Hotel of this city and the Clarendon at Seabreeze, Fla., traveling from Florida to help solve the secret of the night of mystery planned as entertainment for the hotel men of California at their annual convention at the Virginia at Long Beach.

This nig htof strange doings, weird tales and spookery events has been planned by President Harry Fryman and Carl Stanley, who say it will be "hair-raising and almost death defying."

The San Francisco delegation will travel in special coaches, arriving in the city tomorrow morning and being taken to Long Beach after a drive around Los Angeles. In the afternoon they will have a launch ride to the harbor. The evening will be given over to the business meeting and the mysterious programme.

On Saturday, golf will form the principal diversion. A trophy cup will be awarded the winner of the handicap match. Other cups also will be given out. The annual banquet and ball will be held Saturday night. On Sunday the visitors will be taken on an auto drive from Long Beach to Pasadena, where they will have luncheon at the Maryland.

SUFFRAGE FOR POLICE.

Chief to Extol Women Officers Before Convention at Washington Next Week.

Chief of Police Sebastian will leave today for Washington to attend the national convention of Chiefs of Police, which is to be begun for a five-day session there Monday.

Before the convention Chief Sebastian will deliver an address on "Woman's Suffrage as it Affects the police." It will be the first time the question has ever been introduced at a police convention.

"I can say nothing but good for the influence of women on the police department," the Chief said last night. "I believe in having several women on the police force, and their work has been so satisfactory that I consider their services invaluable to the department. I shall have nothing but good to say of the women."

MADMAN STILL ROVING.

Mexicans throug fohSuohutt123456

Mexicans throughout Southern California are keeping up an alert search for Juan Soto, the triple murderer, known as "the mad murderer of Sonortown." Repeated assurance has been brought to the city detectives by various Mexicans of their support in finding the maniac.

Several false reports of his presences were investigated again yesterday, without result. He is believed to have escaped in a box car and fled for the Mexican boundary. A picket has been placed on his residence in San Gabriel, but so far he has not returned to his last inamorata, who still occupies his quarters in that town.

Soto, or John the Swan, formerly lived in Covina, where he is known as a dangerous character. He lived for a time in a concrete house on Badillo avenue in that town.

AUTO CRUSHES BOY.

Machine Kills Dog and in Mad Race Strikes Fleeing Child—Driver Escapes.

Twelve-year-old William Mullin was struck and perhaps fatally injured last night by a wildly-driven automobile at Washington and Berendo streets. The driver of the car escaped.

The powerful gray machine, driven more than forty miles an hour, dashed into the crossing, and killed a dog at one corner, foung Mullin, No. 1811 Grover street, playing in the street, saw the dog slaughtered, and ran for the sidewalk, but the big machine hit him before he reached the curbing.

At the Receiving Hosptial, where he was taken, the boy was reported to have a possible fracture of the skull and other serious injuries.

DIVORCED IN TIME.

Harry Earl, painter of scenes for the Burbank Theater, died at his home, No. 1306 West Forty-eighth street, last night. He was the son of Katherine Kelly, once a well-known actress in Los Angeles. The body is at Bresee Brothers' mortuary. Only a few days ago a local judge granted him a decree of divorce ahead of the regular court schedule so he could get away in search of health, but it was too late.

ALLEGORICAL OPERA.

Musical Extravaganza at [illegible] Agricultural High School Presented by Sixty Student Singers.

Sixty students of the Gardena Agricultural High School will present on the campus this and tomorrow evening what is expected to prove the most spectacular musical extravaganza ever staged by a student body in Southern California.

The opera, "Agriculture," will be in [illegible] acts and has a chorus of sixty voices, forty speaking parts and twelve dance parts. It is an allegorical treatment of the subject matter of the course, opening with a scene in the [illegible] age. The second act represents the medieval period and the third the present era.

Louis Woodson Curtis, head of the music department of the [illegible] who resides at No. 124 West Thirty-sixth street here, wrote the music. Harold A. Clarke, teacher of [illegible] the book, and Miss Agnes Peck, also teacher of English, the lyrics. Costumes, designed by Miss [illegible] Jones of the drawing department, were made by the girls of the school.

Donald Hilke, tenor, will have the leading male role, Ruth Sawyer the chief feminine part.

The extravaganza is the first in a series of exercises preceding the closing of the school for the summer. This is the second original opera Curtis has written for the school.

RECOVER LOST WOMAN.

East Side Police End [illegible] Hour Search for Wife of Local Employee.

After a nine-hour search by the county authorities, Mrs. J. S. Walker, wife of an attache of the [illegible] of fire alarm and police telegraph, who was lost from a nurse on a Spring street yesterday afternoon, was located at midnight on the east side by police from that division.

Mrs. Walker, who resides at 1807 West Forty-fifth street, has been ill for four years and during the last month she has suffered periods of mental abberation. She left the nurse came from a doctor's office on the H. W. Hellman building at 4 o'clock, on their way home.

Mrs. F. A. Ingersoll, the nurse in her patient on a University Heights car at Fourth and Spring streets, was preparing to get aboard her car when the car started, leaving her frantically screaming after her. The car did not stop, she says, although she ran after it for a block street.

PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

Victim of Mysterious Shooting Which Sweetheart Is Held, Refuses to Give Statement.

Miss Irene Noble, believed to be the victim of the [illegible] heart's bullet, is lying in the California Hospital in a precarious condition. Reports from her bedside last night gave little assurance of recovery.

The clinic chart showed no improvement, evidence of approaching death, the general slackening of her [illegible] has aroused further effort to secure a formal ante-mortem statement.

For fear of exciting her to an extent that might endanger her life, detectives have refrained from questioning her, but have conferred with her doctor that if she is sufficiently, the statement will be secured at the earliest moment.

DROPS DEAD ON STREET.

B. M. Hamer, separated from his bride of a few months, fell dead at No. 731 West Eleventh street last night under conditions that [illegible] suicide. An autopsy will be performed today at Bresee Brothers' mortuary where the body was taken.

Hamer, reported to the authorities that he had been married a month ago after a short [illegible] and his wife had separated from him. [illegible] to be graduated is seventy-one from the El Centro school, seventy-eight from the Marengo avenue school, and eleven from the [illegible] Paris school.

An elaborate programme has been planned by the El Centro school, the exercises to which the parents of the graduates are invited will be at 10 a.m. At this time the class will [illegible] which is a large statute of [illegible] of the Chase," which the class have purchased, will be presented by Carleton Clark, president of the eighth grade. This gift will be placed in the El Centro school as a memorial of the class. Class day exercises will also be held by the El Centro eighth grade, and these will [illegible] at the same time. All the numbers have been arranged by the pupils under the direction of the principal, Miss Augusta N. Sadler.

Got Even with the Judge.

[Judge:] The prisoner at the bar in the Police Court was sure of [illegible] treatment and could not complain wholly.

"If I should express my opinion of this court, your honor," he said, rising from his chair, "would you fine me for contempt?"

"I certainly should!" responded the judge, decisively.

"Thank you," bowed the prisoner. "I wish to extend my compliments to your honor and all those connected with the court for the very fair and impartial trial I have received at your hands."

The prisoner sat down and the judge was flabbergasted.

Huerta Officials Inquire Into Miami Race Riot.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) June 3.—Last Monday a local Justice of the Peace officiated at the marriage of G. H. Glynn and Maudie B. Stevens. An interested witness of the ceremony, in addition to a deputy marshal and the county Attorney, was the 3-year-old son of the happy couple. The pair had come from Southern California by way of Courtland. Here the woman worked in a dance hall at Morenci for three nights, conduct considered sufficient for the arrest of the man under the White Slave Act. When the woman learned Glynn had been arrested she promptly swallowed a handful of bi-chloride tablets, but medical help was promptly at hand and she was saved. Her story is that eight years ago she ran away with Glynn from her people at Bingham, Utah, but soon found that they could not be married owing to her youth. She said that Glynn had always been kind to her and she said that her life had been a blameless one except as [illegible] stated.

KILLED BY DEPUTY.

Saturday night Agustin Alderette was killed by Deputy Marshal Ellis Wright, while resisting arrest. Another Mexican, Francisco Barrelia, also showed fight and is now in the [illegible] on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The Mexicans had been disorderly but had promised to go quietly home if released. Instead of this they continued their disorder and defied the officer and Burt Higgins who had been called upon by the latter. Then the Mexicans were again arrested they showed fight, producing large butcher knives.

Ellis was badly slashed before he managed to shoot his opponent but Higgins in short order knocked Barrelia down and took his knife away.

Coroner's inquest developed the fact that a single instant of delay undoubtedly would have meant the death of the Deputy Marshal, as the man was crouching over him with upraised knife when the fatal shot was fired. The verdict was justifiable homicide.

DAMAGES FOR FIRE.

At Safford a jury has returned the verdict of $1375 damages in favor of [illegible] R. Walker and W. A. Moody and against Alphie Cluff and Burt White, held responsible for the burning of several stacks of barley, property of the plaintiffs. The same defendants were tried at the last term of the Superior Court upon a charge of arson in connection with the loss of the same property, but were acquitted.

In a suit brought by George R. Hayden, a director of the Arizona & New Mexico Telegraph and Telephone Company, that corporation was ordered dissolved this week. The A. N. M. Telegraph Company has ceased to exist and has been merged with the Western Union.

LIVES ARE IMPERILLED.

FIRE BURNS NEAR DYNAMITE.

[Santa Correspondence of The Times.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 3.—Last Tuesday the lives of more than 100 persons were seriously imperilled by a fire which destroyed five residences and damaged a number of others and which burned a miner's home in High [illegible] which was stored 100 pounds of dynamite, together with some fulminate caps. The caps exploded but the dynamite burned harmlessly. The total damage is estimated to have been $6,000 divided between Mrs. H. H. McNally, F. L. Wightman, I. W. Crandall, J. A. Putman, B. F. Van Wagnenen, Frank Dwing, W. J. Young and [illegible] Alberthal. A half dozen firemen were burned while dragging a hose [illegible] as exposed point. Only shifting wind saved at least a dozen more houses from destruction.

The Mexican government has taken diplomatically the race riot at [illegible], in which one Mexican was killed, and has asked Gov. Hunt to make a thorough investigation. Miami officers say that the affair should not have been considered as an anti-Mexican demonstration and point to the fact that an American and a Swede likewise were assaulted upon the same day by the same band of toughs. In connection with this case, Robert Lacey and Knox Laird, alias "The Mississippi Kid," have been held by the Superior Court on a charge of murder.

Sunday in the Old Dominion mine, Inocensa Marta was killed by the unexpected turning on of electric current while he was splicing a wire on the 400-foot level. The Coroner's Jury recommended that only electricians be allowed to make repairs on electrical apparatus in mines and that all electric switches be provided with locks, to prevent tampering.

According to figures prepared by City Engineer E. R. Stafford, an adequate sewer system for the city of Globe can be installed for about $150,000 together with septic tanks.

SOUTH PASADENA SCHOOLS.

Commencement Exercises Arranged for Eighth-Grade Graduates—Kindergarten Features.

SOUTH PASADENA, June 4.—Graduating exercises for the pupils of the eighth grade of the city schools will be held Thursday, each school having its separate programme. Prof. George C. PASADENA SCHOOLS.

Commencement Exercises Arranged for Eighth-Grade Graduates—Kindergarten Festivals.

SOUTH PASADENA, June 4.—Closing exercises for the pupils of the eighth grade of the city schools will be held Thursday, each school to have separate programmes. Prof. Frank Rich, supervising principal of the schools, will make the presentations of diplomas, and the pupils will render a programme of musical and literary numbers. The number of pupils to be graduated is seventy-two from the El Centro school, eighteen from the Marengo-avenue school, and eleven from the Pasadena school.

The commencement programme has been arranged by the El Centro school, and the exercises to which the parents and friends are invited will be held at 10 a.m. At this time the class will present to the school a large statuette of "The Chinese" which the class has purchased. The gift will be presented by Carleton Clark, president of the eighth grade. This gift will be accepted in the El Centro school by Principal of the class. Class day exercises will also be held by the El Centro eighth grade, and these will be given at the same time. All the numbers have been arranged by the pupils under the direction of the principal, Miss Mary E. Sadler.

The Marengo school will be the special feature of the exercises at both the Marengo-avenue and Lincoln Park schools, and the programmes will consist of selections by the school orchestras, piano solos and songs by the classes. At the Lincoln Park school the seventh grade will have charge of all the arrangements and the members are planning for elaborate decorations. An informal programme will be given at 10 o'clock and following this the pupils of the seventh grade will be hosts at a reception in honor of the graduates. The parents of all the children of the school are invited to the exercises and reception.

SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Exercises at the Marengo-avenue school will be held at 1:30 o'clock in the kindergarten-room, so that a large number of friends can be accommodated. The arrangements are in charge of the pincipal, Mrs. Ella Grey.

BEACH PICNIC.

The churches of the city have arranged for a picnic to be held at Redondo Beach, Tuesday, June 24. Already five churches have signified their intention to participate—Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Christian and Oneonta Congregational. A special train will leave the Santa Fe Station at 7:45 o'clock, and returning will leave Redondo Beach at 5:15 o'clock. The committee in charge is sparing no pains to make the day one of fun and frolic.

PASTOR RESIGNS.

After a two years' successful pastorate, Rev. J. W. Greathouse has presented his resignation to the Memorial Baptist Church, having accepted a position under the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist convention. This position has been open to Rev. Mr. Greathouse for some time. The convention is raising $1,250,000 to equip schools in the mission fields, and he will assist in this effort.

Rev. Mr. Greathouse's work in this city has resulted in eighty-seven additions to the membership of the church, twenty-five of which have been by baptism.

Officers were elected yesterday at the regular meeting of the Lincoln Park Study Circle, which was held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Penfield of Pasadena avenue. Miss Anna Herron was re-elected president; the other officers are: vice-pesident, Mrs. C. W. Overton; recording secretary, Mrs. F. S. Briggs; corresponding secretary, Miss Jennie Kennedy; and treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Burt.

WANT CHEAPER WATER SUPPLY.

FOOTHILL CITIZENS REBED AT PAYING DOUBLE.

Welcome Completion of Franklin Pipe Line and Will Move for Quick Relief—Building Fine Homes on the Foothills—Fine Drive South to Wilshire Boulevard.

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.—Building improvements in Hollywood are keeping pace with the great growth of the entire city, and the building of magnificent homes on the crests of several of the foothills will soon add striking picturesque villas along the entire northern border. Building is also brisk all over the section as far south as Santa Monica avenue.

The improvement of La Brea avenue, between Sunset boulevard and Santa Monica avenue, is well under way, and will soon make this thoroughfare from Hollywood boulevard to Wilshire boulevard one of the finest drives in the western section of the city. It is being improved with oil-macadam, the same as Sunset boulevard, and other streets in the section.

The loyalty of the people of Hollywood to the public market movement is worthy of a people who have so long suffered from the lack of a regular supply of fresh vegetables. The High School boys and girls are taking a lively interest in it and have formed an association among themselves to be present each market day with vegetables of their own growing and such other articles as they think will meet with favor among the buyers.

More insistently than ever the people of Hollywood are beginning to inquire among themselves why the Union Hollywood Water Company is permitted to charge people who live in the city double the rate for water that is charged by the city water department. Their rate is a minimum charge of $1.50 for the first 800 inches, and 9 3-4 cents for each 100 inches excess. The city rate is a minimum of 75 cents for the first 1050 inches and 6½ cents for each 100 inches excess. In other words, a consumption of 1600 inches of water from the Union Hollywood Water Company costs $2.18; at the lawful city rate, it would cost $1.05. People living out here were greatly pleased to learn through The Times of today that the Franklin pipe line will be completed by November 1, and if prompt relief does not come a movement will probably be started to if possible, compel the city to supply us with water. A question that occasions no little concern is whether the pipes of the Hollywood company will hold the pressure of the Franklin line. Breaks are constantly occurring and for the past two months or more there has been a bad leak at the corner of Detroit and De Longpre avenues. Recently an attempt was made to fix the break in some cheap way, probably looking forward to the time when the city is expected to purchase the plant, but it is now leaking as bad as ever.

What the people want and what they deserve is water at city prices, and it will take a lot of argument to convince them that there is any justice in permitting this company to charge double. Nothing apparently can stop Hollywood from growing, but many people are yet deterred from coming to this most beautiful suburb because of the exorbitant charge for water.

Where Big Alfalfa Crops Tell The Whole Story

"You're Safe at Firth's"

TALK is cheap, but farmers buy land on facts. Perris Irrigated Farms tell their own story of fertility. The proof of alfalfa land is in the quality and quantity of the cuttings. It takes exceptional soil and water conditions to produce the exceptional crops raised on Perris farms. As it is with alfalfa, so it is with deciduous fruits, vegetables and all the varied products of these lands. They excel because the natural conditions are superior. This section is fast becoming the one ideal live stock and dairy district of Southern California. Its location favors it. It is only 2¼ hours' ride from Los Angeles. It is near Riverside. It is close to Perris. It has the railroad. Extensions now under consideration bid fair to bring San Diego markets also within its reach. It is the largest body of watered, good land so close to all these big centers of demand. It has the natural conditions and the logical situation to make it the greatest producing district in Southern California. Farmers buying now, in the new area under Water Plant No. 2, will lay the foundation for independence for life. If you seek facts, not fiction, go and see Perris Irrigated Farms. Special parties almost daily. Map and illustrated booklet sent on request. Come in for full details.

Lessons Learned by Beach Disaster Heeded.

Northeast Owners Seek to Dislodge Hospital.

Land Agents Held to Answer for Alleged Frauds.

PASADENA, June 5.—Extra precautions will be taken to prevent any possible repetition of the recent Long Beach disaster, when the grand stand at Tournament Park will be crowded for the Fourth of July celebration. City Commissioner Loughery yesterday instructed the building inspector to make a careful inspection of the structure. If it is not found to be safe beyond all doubt, repairs will be ordered made before its use will be permitted.

There was a question as to whether the grand stand was absolutely safe when the motorcycle races were held at the park on Memorial Day, and the crowd was divided among the different sections so that no great weight would come on one place.

Tournament Park is city property. It was presented to the city with the provision that the Tournament of Roses Association shall have a lease on it for a stated period.

The Komical Knights of the Carnival are at work on the programme for the afternoon and evening Fourth of July celebrations at the park, which they say will this year be bigger and better than any that have ever been held there before. An unusually large display of fireworks has been provided for.

FAIL AGAIN.

A delegation representing the Northeast Improvement Association called on the City Commission yesterday and made another effort to dislodge the hospital of Miss Mary Jane Miller at No. 1295 North Stevenson avenue, where they allege tubercular patients are taken. Previous similar attempts were made by them with the City Council, before it was succeeded by the Commission, and the matter was finally taken into the Alhambra court. Miss Miller, however, still holds the fort.

Yesterday's delegation was headed by George C. Waite. The Commissioners replied that they can do nothing unless the license by which Miss Miller conducts the place is revoked by City Health Officer Black.

ARE BOUND OVER.

The trial of Leon Cory and John Ford, Elsinore Lake land agents charged with fraudulent deals, which was continued from time to time over several weeks, was completed yesterday before Justice of the Peace Dunham, and both of the defendants held to answer to the Superior Court. The charge against them is a misdemeanor.

The first case against them, in which Mrs. Ethel Reed of Pasadena was the complaining witness, was dismissed, and they were tried on a second complaint made by Mrs. Gladys Stewart of this city.

STUDENTS GIVE BANQUET.

The first of the social functions to be held in Pasadena in connection with the commencement exercises of the several educational institutions here and in Southern California took place at the Hotel Maryland last night when the twenty-two members of the College of Fine Arts of the University of Southern California sat down to a prettily-appointed dinner at the grill of the Hotel Maryland. The rooms were decorated with flowers and ribbons. Harry Hastings presided as toastmaster, and among those who responded to toasts were: Dean W. L. Judson, Fred Brown, president of the student body; E. Martin, president of the senior class, and Howard Wooky, president of the freshmen class.

CITY BRIEFS.

Ira J. H. Sykes of No. 338 Summit avenue yesterday was appointed a member of the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission. The appointment was made at a special session of the Board of Supervisors in Los Angeles.

Four additional mail carriers have been authorized for this city. The appointments will be made July 1. Postmaster Wood announced yesterday that he will now be enabled to extend the regular delivery into territory where there is at present only a rural delivery, and extend the limits of the rural delivery into territory that now has no delivery service at all.

Rev. Leslie E. Learned, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, will speak on "Masonic Relations Between Morals and Religion" at a stated meeting of Corona lodge, F. and A.M., to behold at the Masonic Temple tonight.

The project of establishing a municipal garbage collection system has been abandoned. City Commissioner Loughery said yesterday that the new budget will contain no provision for it. He estimates that the service would cost the city between $1000 and $1500 a month, and believes that the present plan of letting a contract for the work will continue to be satisfactory.

Members of the senior class of the Pasadena High School have determined to put in most of the time between now and the 14th inst. rehearsing for the class play, "A New Way to Pay Old Debts." A large number of the 150 members of the class have parts in it.

Before they have received their diplomas three of the five members of the graduating class of Throop College of Technology have already secured positions.

SOLDIERS' HOME NEWS.

Los Angeles High School Cadets Visit Veterans Who Are Pleased With Showing—Pension Matters.

SOLDIERS' HOME, June 4.—Cadets of the Los Angeles Military Academy under command of Capt. G. O. Lockwood, and accompanied by the cadet band, visited the Soldiers' Home this morning and halted at headquarters, all unannounced. The surprised Gov.-Gen. Barry complimented the bright young military aspirants upon their appearance, and tendered them the freedom of the camp.

Muster of pensioners for the quarter ending June 4, took place at Soldiers' Home today. Veterans lining up in barracks numbered over 2300. Payment of March pensions for some unaccountable reason, did not take place until April 8—more than a month overdue. It was the first payment under the law doing away with the intermediary office in San Francisco, from which monies were formerly available within ten to twelve days after muster, and proved very disappointing to veterans who had planned to visit with their families a fortnight earlier. All are hoping the delay at that time was due to an experimental cause, and that this time the pension bureau at Washington will prove more prompt.

Capt. C. H. Robinson, formerly commander of Home Co. I, is appointed weigher of Pacific branch, vice Capt. Webster resigned; Alfred Reinoehl, formerly of Co. I, 117th Pennsylvania Infantry, is appointed commander of Co. I, vice Robinson resigned.

Mrs. J. I. Moyse of Los Angeles is appointed organist in the Protestant chapel during absence of Miss Pipher on vacation.

Officers and employees numbering 535, were paid yesterday for the month of May. The amount thus disbursed was $11,586.07.

RECENT DEATHS.

Walter S. Sheldon, formerly of Co. D, Ninth United States Infantry (Spanish-American War,) a native of New York, admitted from Los Angeles in 1913, died June 1, aged 47.

Eugene S. Austin, formerly of Co. A, Eighty-ninth Illinois Infantry, a native of Ohio, admitted from Los Angeles in 1907, died June 1, aged 70.

Michael Dolan, formerly of Co. C, Forty-eighth New York Infantry, a native of Ireland, admitted from Globe, Ariz., in 1911, died June 1, aged 66.

SAWTELLE BOOSTERS.

SAWTELLE, June 4.—A reorganization and election of new officers of the Sawtelle Commercial Club was effected last night at a rousing meeting of the members. The officers selected are as follows: President, George S. Yant; vice-president, C. H. Wyant; secretary, George C. Wilson; treasurer, W. E. Clark; chairman of the House Committee, A. R. Grimm; chairman of the Auditing Committee, George M. Wiseman; chairman of the Membership Committee, J. M. Prudent. These officers will be installed Tuesday evening, July 1. For the past year the club has been more of a social organization than a boosting club. Greater efforts will now be put forward to boost Sawtelle, its fine homes and great prospects. A "get together" banquet is planned for next month.

Even in Death.

[New York Tribune:] Sam Bernard was talking at the Lambs' in New York about the recent arrest of some foreign dancers on the score of immodesty.

"Of course, these dancers were all right," he said, "and they got off. Their arrest was dictated by prudery. Such prudery reminds me of a hospital I know.

"In the building of this hospital a cold storage chamber for the accommodation of dead bodies was included. One of the hospital doctors, in going through this cold storage chamber, found that a partition divided it in two.

"'What's this partition for?' he asked.

"'Oh, sir,' said the foreman primly, 'that's to keep the sexes apart.'"

Venice.

HEART SMASHER ALSO BOGUS CHECK CASHER.

VENICE, June 4.—Posing as Lieut. George Wilson, U.S.A., a middle-aged, genteel-appearing man known as Henry L. Russell, passed checks to the amount of $900 on Venice and Ocean Park merchants and then, after engaging himself to a widow well known here, he departed. The police say the checks were forgeries, and a warrant is out for the heart-smashing bogus officer.

Russell, alias Lieut. Wilson, came to this place about two months ago. He presented a good-sized check on the National Bank of Commerce of Norfolk, Va., made out to himself, to the landlord of an Ocean Park hotel, and paid his way into the smart set with these alleged spurious checks. With his erect carriage and faultless manners, he soon became a favorite with the matrons along the Ocean front promenade. "Lieut. Wilson" was everywhere invited. Many wealthy women, it is said, were his dupes, but they are hard to find today for no one wants to remember the check casher.

CHEAP BEACH FARES.

Tomorrow the first of the bi-cent round-trip-fare excursions are to be given by the Pacific Electric, and the glad hand will be extended to the large crowd expected. Thursday, June 19, there will be another two-bit excursion to this beach, and there will be nearly a dozen more during June, July and August. The company runs these excursions on other days than Saturdays or Sundays, when the traffic here is heaviest.

PLAYGROUNDS HEAD.

Mrs. C. H. Ritchie was last night selected head of the Playgrounds Committee, and put in charge of the installation of playgrounds at the Venice grammar school. Others appointed on the commission were Mrs. O. C. Conley and Prof. C. T. Work, principal of the High School.

BOND BOOM.

A meeting to boom the High School bonds, which are to be voted upon June 19, will be held at the City Hall tomorrow evening. Dana Burks, Charles W. Lyon, Howard S. Lorenz and T. A. Bell will tell why the people should vote for the school bonds.

Long Beach.

VETERANS ANGRY WITH OUR MAYOR.

Says Alexander Would Discriminate Against Real Gettysburg Boosters. Civic Boosters Left High and Dry on Bond Issues When City Council Substitutes Resolution.

LONG BEACH, June 4.—The veterans of the Civil War, members of the local G.A.R. post are so vexed with Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles that on next Saturday night they will go on record as opposed to his appointment by the Governor as a member of the commission handling the fund of Gettysburg reunion funds, and as against the plan of appropriating a State appropriation for expenses of the veterans to the famous battleground on the ratio of membership plan. Today Rev. T. W. Lindsay, adjutant of the local post, was authorized to forward a letter of protest to Department Commander Thomas of Oakland asking for a square deal.

The legislature appropriated $5000 for expenses of all California veterans who participated in the battle. Of this sum it has been ascertained that less than one-third of what it will be necessary, the roll of surviving veterans being greater than was expected.

So as to meet this it is claimed that Mayor Alexander, who is a member for the commission appointed as the Southland's representative, advised the scheme of apportioning the money not according to the paid membership which had taken part in the battle, but according to the present post membership roll. Thus the larger posts would get a larger representation regardless of the number of veterans in such posts. According to this plan Long Beach would receive a rata of its 250 members as against for only five Gettysburg veterans, though it has 47 on its rolls, which they characterize as unfair and discriminating.

WANT QUICK ACTION.

All the well-laid plans of the boosters of the city to merge the warring factions of the city by a bond issue of $1,250,000 which will include the carrying out of a half dozen propositions, each the subject of one of the factions, thereby securing the united efforts of the city and all for each, were swept aside last night when the City Council at the midnight hour shelved the following resolution of intention, calling these propositions, and substituted a resolution calling for an election on an issue of $285,000, of which $235,000 is for a new outfall sewer, and $50,000 for an incinerator, projects which they deem as absolutely urgent from a sanitary standpoint.

This action followed a statement from the City Attorney that the probability the placing of the entire union project before the people in one election would result in the defeat of all, should one fail of receiving a two-thirds favorable vote. This, due to the effort of the charter revision committee last winter in seeking to amend a section of the charter which provided that where more than one proposition is voted upon they must receive two-thirds of the total votes cast. At a former election a proposition for a plan of the Alamitos Heights received a two-thirds majority, but not of the total vote cast at the election. The revision committee amended the section as above but made it too strong.

As amended it received a majority vote of the people and was ratified by the legislature, but when it came before regular bond attorneys, they picked it to pieces, pointing out that in the language used, providing for the issuance of the bonds, "providing two-thirds of the vote cast on the question of the said issue of bonds shall have been cast in favor thereof" meant that each proposition must carry to insure the success of the whole, that one failure invalidated the result. It was pretty certain that one or two of the propositions would contain of defeat and so council decided not to risk two projects which they say are necessary from a sanitary and health standpoint.

GO TO THE BOTTOM.

So many applications were filed by officers of the Cage school and by women desiring the distinction of being the first of their sex to take a ride to the bottom of the ocean that Manager Cage this morning enlarged the privilege to six instead of three as first intended.

This half dozen, with an equal number of men, entered the submarine this morning, left here at 9 o'clock disappeared in the waters of the inner harbor to a depth of 60 feet where they remained for 20 minutes, and then came to the surface every one delighted with the experience and protesting that no inconvenience or discomfort was noticed in the first few minutes of submergence, and when the fresh air pump on board was started the interior was as comfortable as out of doors.

Those making the trip were Mrs. John M. Cage, Miss Lora Bennett, Miss Myra K. Miller, Mrs. Manchester, Miss Linnie Bishop and Miss Hazel Ringer. The mas accompanied by Mrs. John M. Cage, Will Cage, Assistant Engineer Marshal R. C. Zellmer and G. E. McNamara.

BOATMEN PROTEST.

Boatmen have filed a protest with the City Council regarding the repair of the decks of the pleasure craft. The structure they assert is unsafe, and this was by reason of extensive repairs recently completed and also by reason of the reference to the late disaster at the pier wreck. Council referred the boatmen and have asked the Board of Works to place a guard on the wrecked portion and open the balance of the long pier to the public.

SEASIDE NEWS.

The Municipal Band returned from a tour of the central part of the State where they played sixty-six concerts and scored a success. Long Beach for a day's rest and then tomorrow they go to Ontario and will play concerts in San Bernardino and Riverside counties will go to Imperial Valley, returning here June 15.

Mrs. Mary Savery aged 76, who recently came here from Minnesota and purchased the Schooler home on the bluff, fell this morning while taking a walk, suffering a fracture of her left shoulder. Owing to her advanced years the injury is regarded as very serious. Savery was painting the house for Mariana at the time of the accident.

Highway Commission to Outline System.

County Boosters Working for Good Roads.

Santa Fe Shops Crowded With Business.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 4.—As a result of the action of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Bernardino county last night, when a highway bond issue of not less than $1,500,000 was indorsed, the Board of Supervisors at its next meeting will probably take up the question of naming a county highway commission for outlining the system of roads to be built by the bond issue.

The men who have been most prominently mentioned in this connection are J. B. Gill of this city, City Engineer Hinckley of Redlands, Morgan W. Beattie of Highland and W. A. Freemire of Ontario. It is probable the commission will be selected from these four men.

The action comes as a climax of the agitation that has been carried on in the county for six months. The sentiment in each locality was felt through the local Chamber of Commerce and reported to the central body, the result being the unanimous expression from the county that there being no voice raised against it.

WORKING SCHEDULE.

Prosperity has again hit the Santa Fe shops. The working schedule for which has been raised to fifty hours a week instead of forty, which has prevailed through most of May. It is announced that the longer hours will prevail all through the balance of June and perhaps all summer. The shops are crowded with work, and a large force will be required the balance of the year.

NEWS NOTES.

The baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the High School will be preached next Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church by the A. F. Roadhouse of the First Christian Church. The class colors of green and white will be used in the decoration of the church, and the class and faculty will attend the service in a body.

A large delegation will be turned out by the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce for the opening of Fontana and the starting of work on the new Electric line next Saturday. The San Bernardino delegation will join the national orange show demonstration, decorating their automobiles with pennants and wearing orange badges.

ORANGE COUNTY ASKS FOR BIDS.

ROADS TO BE BUILT BY SUPERVISORS.

Beach to Lead to the Beach to the Other from Santa Ana to Anaheim—Child Falls Over Dashboard Under Horse's Hoofs but Escapes—Small Fire Losses.

SANTA ANA, June 4.—Today was a big day in the history of good roads in Orange county, for today the Board of Supervisors ordered that bids be advertised for building two sections of road, segregating nine miles, to be built under the county's $1,276,000 bond issue. Bids are to be opened on July 11.

The first section comprises five and one-quarter miles between Santa Ana and Huntington Beach, most of the mileage lying on West Fifth and Pacific Coast streets. The second section runs from Orangethorpe avenue south of Fullerton. Three and a quarter miles of road is to be built there.

It is expected that other roads will be ready for bids in a short time. Bids will be let all over the county as rapidly as the survey work is completed and road titles cleared up.

AUTO SCARES HORSE.

The fifteen-months-old daughter of Mrs. Wallenberg had a narrow escape from death last night. Wallenberg shied into an automobile standing on the street, and caught a wheel on a fender. The jolt stopped the car so suddenly that the baby was thrown from Mrs. Wallenberg's lap over the dashboard and to the pavement in front of the frantic horse. Before the driver could rescue her forehead had been struck by the horse's hoof.

NEWS NOTES.

The annual report of the Santa Ana Chief of Police shows that in the last twelve months fires in this city have caused a loss of but $3100, of which $2000 was recovered in insurance. Santa Ana has never had a fire of any magnitude, and its department has made an excellent record for getting fires under control. In the last year twenty-two alarms were turned in, of which twelve were false alarms. Fire Chief is the name used by a man who is alleged to have forged checks here, each one accepted by Knoller Brothers, and the other by the Rose Store. Stein forged the name of George C. Condon, a Los Angeles contractor on two buildings being erected by the Polytechnic High School district. Stein had not been employed on the job, but had been about it a good deal. The checks were rubber stamp with Condon's name and counter checks on the Los Angeles National Bank were used. Stein is an Englishman.

With the prospect of having more water to handle than ever before, the Santa Ana Valley Walnuts Growers' Association is putting on an additional packing-house. The addition will be 50x250 feet.

Three years and two is the age of the baby who was made a bride-groom by Rev. Rufus Chase, pastor of the Church of the Messiah. Dr. David W. Cunningham of Santa Ana has given his occupation as farmer, and despite his $2

...DAY'S RECALLED.

COALINGA, June 4.—The five members of the board of City Trustees, O. D. Lostus, H. Salisbury, H. C. Williams, H. H. Lukins and H. M. Shaffer, were ousted from office in yesterday's recall election here. The total vote was 1166 and the majority against the board was 250. The trustees were opposed by the Anti-Gambling League ticket. More than a hundred votes were challenged and ten were arrested on charges of illegal voting.

years he signed the application in a clear, strong hand. The bride's name was Minnie A. Holderbaun, aged 46, of Los Angeles.

James M. Kerr, aged 60, of Los Angeles, giving his occupation as literature, and Winifred J. Stansfeld-Lamborn, aged 30, also of Los Angeles, were married by Rev. Paul E. Wright, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Other marriage licenses are: Leonard Lowe, 26, and Grace Evans, 25; Victor J. Fourney, 26, and Pearl M. Fairweather, 19; William Weis, 33, and Pauline Higlin, 32, all of Los Angeles; Harvey O. Waterman, 35, of Los Angeles, and Jessie M. Grant, 28, of Vallejo; Michael Bernius, 44, and Lenna L. Landis, 33, both of Santa Ana; Alfred C. Nearing, 20, and Eva Roll, 20, both of Garden Grove.

HALF MELON CROP.

DINUBA, June 4.—That not over half the usual tonnage of melons will be shipped from the Dinuba district this year is the statement of officials of the growers' association. Owing to the unfavorable conditions this spring only about 900 acres were planted to melons this year. Only about half of the usual number of blossoms have set and the crop will be short even on the short acreage planted.

SANTA MONICA NEWS.

Los Angeles Speeder Chased Away From Beach and Fails to Return as Ordered.

SANTA MONICA, June 4.—E. K. Hillegas, of Los Angeles, who was chased at great speed from this beach to Los Angeles by Motorcycle Officer Sutte Sunday, did not appear before Justice Carillo Monday morning and has not yet shown up. A bench warrant for his arrest has been issued, but so far the officers have been unable to locate him. Judge Carillo is indignant.

William E. Carter has resigned as captain of Co. K, N.G.C., located here, and the company, which has been much depleted since the Ocean Park fire, is thus further decimated. Carter attempted the reorganization of the company three months ago but has since been appointed street superintendent and the job of captain takes up too much of his time, he says. Lieut. G. P. Frazier, who is now ranking officer, will probably be boosted to the vacant post at an election to be held in July.

Chief of Police Randall will start tomorrow with other police heads of Southern California for the annual convention of police chiefs, which will be held at Washington June 8. The chief will be absent about a month and will visit the big cities and his old home in Pennsylvania. Calkins will be in command while he is away.

Thursday evening, June 26, the graduation exercises of the class of 1913 will be held in the auditorium of the new High School. This event will culminate a busy week for the graduates. They are to present a class play Friday of next week, and class parties, and class day exercises will be held.

Santa Barbara.

SALOON LEGISLATION SLATED FOR TONIGHT.

SANTA BARBARA, June 4.—No council meeting in years has been looked forward to with more interest that that scheduled for tomorrow night when the solons are to decide whether they will pass two ordinances legislating the saloons out of business and prohibiting restaurants from serving drinks with or without meals.

By a majority of less than 200 the voters of Santa Barbara on May 13 voiced their disapproval of the saloon and restaurant license but refused to place the ban on hotel and wholesale licenses. The day following the election City Attorney Butcher held that the election was not legal owing to an error in the publication of the notice. That his judgment was correct has not been questioned but when he suggested to the council that the only solution to the problem was for it to pass the ordinances he placed that body in a peculiar position.

Since the election, the saloon interests have appealed to the council to hold off the passage of the two ordinances until January 1, 1914. The saloonists feel that inasmuch as the saloons were not legally voted out they should have consideration in their request and are making a hard fight for it. They contend that if ordinances are passed legislating them out of business on August 1, which was the date set by the election, they will not have time to dispose of their stock and will lose thousands of dollars.

The anti-saloon forces are still well organized and it is expected they will be at the council meeting in large numbers to insist on the passage of the ordinances. Whether they will have a spokesman is not known but the "wets" have employed one of the most prominent attorneys in Santa Barbara county to present their side of the issue.

Of the seven councilmen it has been impossible to find just how each one stands on the question though at least three of them are believed to be firmly allied with the "drys." What the remaining members will do is causing the interest in the meeting and that the council chamber will be filled to its capacity seems certain.

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN?

VISALIA, June 4.—That the practice of having baccalaureate sermons for senior classes of high schools is in contravention of the State law which forbids religious education in the schools, is the statement of Rev. Fr. J. L. Foin, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city, who has filed with the school board a protest against continuing this usual feature of school commencement.

The Mountains—or—The Beaches—Which?

Trees! Trees! Trees!

And the Water Brooks of Glendale Heights

Forest trees, Big trees, Live Oak trees, Sycamore trees, Cottonwood trees, Alder trees, Ozone and shade-giving trees, trees in your front yard, back yard and side yard. Or, adjoining foothill slope lots—overlooking these trees. No other spot has so many and so large Natural Forest Trees as Glendale Heights. Why pay $1500 to $2500 for a 40 or 50-foot sand or adobe lot when we will sell 150 by 180 feet (practically three lots in one) and more of splendid soil, 1000 to 1200 feet elevation and beautiful trees for $1000 to $2000 on easy terms? Electric cars and light, streets paved and mountain water.

The opening of the Panama Canal during the coming autumn season means the beginning of a new era on the lowlands of the valley.

"Industrial cities" and "Industrial centers" will play havoc with the residential features of many portions of the open territory in the lowlands, and we will be crowded in upon by a new mass of citizens from foreign lands.

The hour has come when fathers and mothers must choose the place for their permanent home near Los Angeles. The formerly beautiful Angel City is becoming a seething mass of commercialism.

You must decide what environment you will select to rear your children. Whether you will dwell amidst the pure and refining influence of the hills with mountain recreations and outdoor life or at the beaches with the inevitable accompaniment—of vice and glare and noise.

There is only one place in the foothills near the city where you have running brooks all summer, and an abundance of trees.

Opening prices still prevail. Convenient terms, conservative restrictions and a host of buyers that will please you as neighbors. Call and take auto trip at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. daily—other hours can be arranged for.

Morosco.

The Morosco company's presentation of J. M. Barrie's delightful fantasy, "The Admirable Crichton," has proved one of the most substantial successes that has occupied the stage this year. The play will be given for this week only, however, closing with the performance next Saturday night.

On Sunday afternoon the Morosco company will offer for the first time by any stock company Leo Ditrichstein's famous success, "The Concert." This play has proved one of the biggest hits of recent years on the native stage, and its production at the hands of the Morosco organization should prove one of the really interesting and important stock offerings of the year. Harrison Hunter will be seen in the role created and played with so much success by Mr. Ditrichstein and in which he recently appeared here.

This is the best part Mr. Hunter has been given since coming to the Morosco stage and it is quite likely that he will score a pronounced hit in the chief role. It also affords excellent opportunities to William Desmond, Frances Ring, Grace Valentine, Howard Scott, Lillian Tucker and the others of the Morosco company.

Burbank.

Frederic Chapin's farce, "C. O. D.," has proved the biggest laughing success the Burbank Theater has known this season, and is nightly attracting delighted audiences who find two and a half hours of continuous laughter in the hundreds of screamingly funny situations in which Mr. Chapin incovires his characters.

"C. O. D." is pure farce from start to finish, and was constructed for laughing purposes only. Therefore any one who is looking for the problem play, the serious drama or anything except the merriest sort of fun should keep away from the Burbank this week.

The farce was originally announced for but one week only, but the attendance has been so uncommonly large that it would not be surprising to have the Burbank announce the piece for a second week.

In the meantime Byron Beasley is rehearsing every day with Forrest Stanley, David M. Hartford and the others of the Burbank company and Lee Arthur's mystery play, "The Fear," which won such a distinct hit on the occasion of its premiere, at the Burbank, is in preparation for Mr. Beasley's return to the Burbank stage next Sunday afternoon.

LEVY CALLS OFF TITLE BATTLE.

"SAN FRANCISCO (Cal.) June 4, 1913.

"Harry Carr,

"Los Angeles.

"Rivers-Ritchie match is off. Ritchie refuses to weigh 133 in the morning or do any weight at ringside, Ritchie wanting to do 134 at 9 a.m., would bring Ritchie in ring at 133 at ringside, which would give Ritchie five pounds advantage.

"JOE LEVY."

All in the Air.

RIVERS MAY FIGHT HERE ON JULY 4.

UNCLE TOM M'CAREY HEARS FIGHT'S OFF.

Will Stand by His Agreement to Give Bud Anderson the July Date if Bud Still Wants It—But if Bud Should Sign Up to Fight Ritchie, Then Rivers and Leach Cross.

Uncle Tom McCarey, when informed that the Ritchie-Rivers fight was called off, made the following statement:

"It is all news to me; haven't heard a thing about it.

"I don't know yet how this will affect my Fourth of July date. Of course, Bud Anderson and Leach Cross have the first call on it, as I have given them my word, and that goes.

"However, these people in the north will have to get somebody to fight Ritchie, and Bud Anderson will naturally be among those considered. Should he sign up to fight Ritchie I always have an open door for little Joe. He has been my best drawing card, and I would be glad to have him fight here.

"After my getting both Anderson and Rivers booked for Vernon, I don't suppose that the northern promoters would have the nerve to try to entice both of them away."

NEW ANGLE IN FIGHT SITUATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new angle has arisen after all, as regards the lightweight situation and the fight that is on between Nolan and Joe Levy. Jimmy Coffroth may after all, stage a lightweight bout on the Fourth of July.

He met Joe Levy tonight and learning that the Rivers-Ritchie match was up in the air, offered Levy a guarantee for Rivers to fight twenty rounds against Harlem Tommy Murphy at the Colma arena on Independence Day.

Coffroth stipulated that Murphy would make 122 pounds ringside for the Los Angeles boy and Levy promised that he would give "Sunshine Jim" his answer some time tomorrow afternoon, in the event that he cannot agree with Nolan.

The Ultimatum.

NOLAN AFRAID TO LET CHAMP MAKE LIMIT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There will be no Ritchie-Rivers match on July 4.

That, at least, was the announcement made by Promoter Eddie Graney this evening, after he had talked privately with the two managers and reached the conclusion that he couldn't bring them to terms.

It is quite possible that the bargaining will continue and that the lightweights, who are conceded to be the logical match, will eventually come together. At all events, the situation was gloomy this evening and Graney was busy laying his plans for some other lightweight to take the place of the Southern Californian.

Half a dozen of the best lightweights in the country have rushed telegrams to Graney offering their services as a substitute, and Eddie expects that he will be able to select one of them.

GRANEY FAVORS BUD.

There is no secret that Graney favors Bud Anderson, if he is forced to the step, and he already has a wire from Dick Donald, assuring him that Anderson stands ready to fill the shoes of the Mexican.

Tom Jones will arrive in San Francisco tomorrow morning for the purpose of offering Wolgast as a feasible opponent.

Sam Wallach, manager of Leach Cross, has telegraphed that if McCarey will release Cross from his engagement to fight Bud Anderson in the south on July 4, Leach will take the match in a moment.

Freddy Welsh is also in the center with a challenge to Ritchie, and he doesn't overlook his opportunity to assert that as champion of England and because of a prior win over Ritchie, he ought to have the first chance.

NOLAN GIVES ULTIMATUM.

Nolan declared last evening that no matter what happens, Ritchie will leave with him this morning for a ranch close to Harbin Springs. He has given Graney carte blanche to select any opponent who is willing to accede to the terms that have been laid down for Ritchie's benefit.

There was little or no conference today, so far as Nolan and Levy are concerned, although Graney talked first with one and then with the other.

But his efforts had no result.

Nolan stuck to it that Ritchie's demands must be accepted.

Levy said that he couldn't allow his boy to carry so much of a handicap, and it was in desperation that Graney said there was no chance for the fight.

Nolan's demands have not changed in any degree. He still declares that he wants the weight 134 pounds at 9 o'clock in the morning, and that he will not do ringside weight.

NOLAN SEEMS UNFAIR.

The Mexican, speaking through Levy, has replied that he is willing to do 134 pounds two hours before the fight, but will give way no further.

A well-known follower of the ring said tonight:

"The stand taken by Nolan seems to be far from fair, although it is said that all is fair in business, and the boxing game is more of a business than a sport these days.

"Ritchie's manager can hardly deny that there should be some line drawn, some weight fixed which is to be regarded as the lightweight limit, if Ritchie is still a lightweight, so far as poundage is concerned.

"When he was with Battling Nelson, a light boy, Nolan insisted not only upon ringside weight, but, in that never-to-be-forgotten case at Goldfield, forced Joe Gans to go into the ring to weigh with his fighting togs on.

"Ritchie is doubtless a bigger boy and Nolan has changed his tune."

Ritchie himself declared last night that he hoped the match would not fall through, although he said that he had nothing to do with the making of the conditions.

Badly Needed.

TIGERS MAY PURCHASE DES MOINES CATCHER.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE Venice catching staff is to be strengthened, and it is possible that Roy Brashear may permanently succeed Patterson at first base, which would mean the release of Pat or his transfer to some other club.

Tonneman's release, and the fact that Elliott faces permanent injury every time he goes behind the bat in his present condition, makes the addition of another catcher imperative. Maier and Hogan have realized this for some time, and for two weeks past have been scouring the country for a likely backstop.

Good catchers, meaning strong in the head as well as in the arm, are something of a luxury. Mighty few clubs, major or minor, with a catcher of this description, care to have the ties severed, and would be inclined to demand his weight in gold if it came to a question of bartering.

But Maier and Hogan are in the market and expense will cut no figure if they can land a man who will help the Tigers into the pennant.

A member of the Des Moines catching staff has been recommended to them by the manager of one of the Chicago clubs. While nothing definite has been given out, it is believed that Catcher Sjeight is the gentleman recommended. However, as Sleight has been doing the bulk of the catching for the Iowa club, Des Moines may not see fit to part with him. Whatever the result of the negotiations with Des Moines, the fans may rest assured that President Maier will see that the Tigers are bolstered behind the bat if money will turn the trick.

Crippled Behind Bat.

It is not putting it any too strong to say that most of the Tiger games have been lost behind the bat. At times the pitchers were at fault and at other times the club failed to hit up to form—in fact, some of the heavy sticksmiths have not yet struck their stride—but the most noticeable weakness has been in the wake of the wood. Elliott's injury forced Tonneman into the game when his arm should have been in a sling, and Rowdy should be off in some quiet place right now recuperating instead of doing manual labor behind the bat.

* * *

Put May be Released.

The switch of Brashear to first base may mean the passing of Patterson as a Tiger. Pat is a wonderful fielding first baseman, and the games which he broke up with his big bat in 1911 are still fresh in the minds of the fans. Last season he was out for a protracted period with a bad ankle, and recently he has not been hitting the ball with his old-time vigor. Patterson's future as a Tiger depends on Brashear's ability to deliver the goods at first base. If Brashear does this Pat will probably be placed with some other club.

* * *

Tonneman Now a Seal.

Charley Tonneman, eagerly sought by San Francisco since the release of Tub Spencer, yesterday accepted the terms submitted by Howard and will leave for the North tonight. Tonneman held out for more money than was offered him in the original exchange of telegrams, and won his point.

STATEMENTS BY LEVY AND NOLAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By Joe Levy:

"Joe Rivers is anxious to fight for the lightweight title, but he wants to fight at the lightweight limit. If we are going way out of our class and box at the welterweight limit, we might as well meet Packy McFarland and be done with it. Nolan isn't consistent, but is just trying to work things his own way.

"I would rather lose the match than to send Joe in the ring against a boy weighing 139 pounds. If we won, they would say I was lucky. If Joe lost, then I would be rated as a poor match-maker. I offered a compromise, in the way of 134 pounds ringside, but Nolan says he will not do ringside weight. I have gone as far as I can. I don't know what McCarey's plans are, but I suppose that Joe will be able to get a match in the south."

By Billy Nolan:

"Levy has my terms, and if he doesn't want to accept them Graney will have to arrange another match. If it were any other time I would be willing to shade the weight. As it is, bringing Ritchie right off the road after so many months on the stage, I don't think it would be doing the boy justice to call upon him to make ringside weight. When Nelson was forced to meet Gans, it was public sentiment, and not because we wanted the match. That was why we made it as hard as possible for the black. The champion usually dictates in such matters."

Three to One.

PERRITT WINS HIS OWN GAME.

Paddles Out Triple With Runner on Base.

Should Have Been Homer, but Poll Can't Sprint.

Ralph Stroud Holds Angels to Half Dozen Hits.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Another popular majority!

Not referring to the election, good "pee-pul"—just baseball, that's all.

Sacramento was unable to poll enough votes, and Los Angeles won the count, 2 to 1. Both seem to be common ailments of late—lack of votes and the inability of Sacramento to win.

Sacramento has one slender alibi. Wolverton's men can point to the fact that they made nine hits, as against six secured by Los Angeles off the scintillating slants of Ralph Stroud, and in this subtle and somewhat roundabout manner charge their defeat to the "luck of the game."

Can't blame 'em for that, but I'm going to be real honest about it and lay their defeat at the door of Poll Perritt, a long, rakish, piratical individual from the banks of the Rio Grande.

PERRITT WINS HIS GAME.

Poll won his own game in more than one way. Sacramento could solve his shrapnel successfully in the eighth only, when Eddie Hallinan aced a run on his own double, a single by Shinn and the latter's force-out at second by Van Buren.

Long before this, 'way back in the third, Poll had placed his mates in front with a triple to the right field bleachers. In so doing, Poll started something that didn't stop until three runs had flitted over the plate.

When interviewed on the subject of his three-base hit, Mr. Perritt said:

"I am utterly unable to account for the accident. However, I regard it as a great triumph for civic decency."

Might as well tell you about that triple right now, and get the load off my mind, for it is not every day in the week that Poll runs amuck with the bat.

THREE IN A CLUSTER.

Just before it happened, Stroud struck Clarence Brooks on the pot roast section of his anatomy with the ball. Clarence simulated great anguish, and writhed his way to first. One was out when this befell Clarence. Poll prospected the wood pile at some length, selected a likely-looking mace, advanced to the plate with measured tread and socked the ball 'way out between the Moran-Shinn combination. The ball kept going until it bumped into the enlarged seating capacity, when it was compelled to stop. Brooks easily got over the plate, but Perritt didn't seem to make much progress. Poll worked hard enough, but his stride is faulty in that he seems to run straight up and down. He would be a bear at climbing a ladder. Poll wouldn't have any trouble qualifying as a member of the village fire department. Then, in after life, he could become a paper-hanger.

After a time, Perritt arrived at third safely in advance of the ball, and he was dinged glad that he didn't have to do the last lap of the grand tour right at that moment. A little later, Stroud armed over a wild pitch, and Poll struggled feebly to the plate.

Page popped an easy fly to Jimmy Shinn, who, as a rule, can catch them on his eyebrow or in his hip pocket. This was a case of "too easy," and Jimmy, on examining his hands, was greatly chagrined to find that he had not caught the ball. There were then snapping singles by Ellis and Moore, and what sound is sweeter than the rasp of a single in good working order about 2:15 p.m. on June 4 with the home team at bat? Billy Page, our accomplished little second baseman, was aided and abetted over the plate by said rasps. Mr. Page symbolized tally No. 3. The other straps

Van's Remarks.

DUNDEE WORKS LIKE MAD FOR CLASH WITH AD.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

JOHNNY DUNDEE shows more determination to get himself into first-class condition for his coming match with Ad Wolgast than I have seen displayed for some time by any fighter. He is fast, strong and is boxing fast and hitting hard.

Scotty Montieth says he is training for rough work alone. He figures Wolgast an aggressive boxer and Johnny must be ready to stand and slug it out with Ad at any time. Scotty is showing good judgment in this respect. Johnny works as fast and hard as he can during his forty-five "minutes" workout and is one of the most serious boys I have ever seen training.

There was quite a crowd watching him yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Dundee has never seen her husband train until she arrived on the Coast, and was much interested in everything he did.

MRS. DUNDEE WORRIED.

When Johnny entered the ring after punching the bag and skipping the rope the crowd immediately got up and walked closer to the ringside. Mrs. Dundee looked astonished and said:

He boxed two rounds each with Charlie Dalton, Charlie Kirby and Joe Marto of Cleveland. Then he wrestled a couple of rounds with Harry Carter. "Hobo" Dougherty wanted a day off, as Montieth allowed him his much-needed rest. "Hobo" has had the easiest time of his life since joining the Dundee camp, but is overworked now. A good job for "Hobo" would be picking blossoms off of century plants.

Dundee tore into Dalton and they smashed away as hard as they could at each other, giving and taking no quarter. Dalton weighs about 140 pounds and Dundee about 128. He then took on Charlie Kirby, who weighs 145 pounds, and punched him good and hard, but got some hard ones himself.

Scotty Montieth then sent in Joe Marto, who weighs 150 pounds, and the two rounds were hummers. Marto is a hard hitter and aggressive, but Johnny held his own with little trouble.

WILL TAKE LAY-OFF.

Dundee is looking and working so well that Montieth has decided to lay him off on Friday to rest. Johnny has always been used to wearing plenty of clothes during his workouts, but Scotty thought he would be better in the coming match if he worked in a lighter outfit, as the weight is easy for him. Monday he induced Johnny to try it, but Dundee came back yesterday and said he wanted his heavy clothes on again.

YOUNG AND MONAHAN.

"Bull" Young and Walter Monahan are working out about three times a week at Peters's gymnasium at Venice. "Bull" expects a match with Jess Willard next month and is taking no chances in not entering the ring in good condition.

Monahan is very enthusiastic over "Bull's" improvement in his boxing and says he surely expects "Bull" to be the next heavyweight champion. Both of these young heavyweights are clean livers and each has a chance for the title.

If "Bull" beats Willard he intends to go after the title as fast as he can get the matches. Walter also says he will take a trip back East and try his hands with some of the eastern big men.

CAMPI TO HEAR.

Eddie Campi expects to hear definitely today about his coming matches with Ledoux and Williams. He has been laid up for a few days nursing a big boil on his neck.

M'GRATH SPINS YARNS.

"Bull" Young, Walter Monahan, Johnny Dundee, Eddie Campi and Joe Mandot often get together down at Venice, form a circle and invite Tim McGrath to tell stories. A few nights ago they enjoyed Tim so much that they sat on a bench until 3 o'clock in the morning listening to his yarns.

CHEWING GUM SAVED KILBANE'S TITLE.

"If Johnny Dundee hadn't swallowed a hunk of chewing gum two days before the Kilbane fight he would now be the featherweight champion of the world," said Scotty Montieth yesterday.

"You can imagine how sick he was. He went into the ring so weak that I was afraid to send him in after Kilbane. If it hadn't been for that gum, he would have chased Kilbane all around the ring and would have won the championship for aggressiveness if nothing else.

JONES MAY BE FIT FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 4.—A. B. Jones, member of the Australian international lawn tennis team, was out on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club today for the first practice he has been able to take since he became ill of tonsilitis three weeks ago in Boston. I. N. Doust, captain of the team, said he hoped to get Jones in shape to play in the doubles matches Saturday.

ENTERS THE JAMES GORDON BENNETT RACE.

Frank L. Champion, the Long Beach aviator, who holds the world's speed record, has entered for the James Gordon Bennett Aviation cup to be contested for at Villacoublay, France, in September. So far, he is the only American entrant.

Champion's aeroplane will be purchased in France and all his expenses will be paid by Otto Wannock and Fred W. Walter of this city. Their plan is to take moving pictures of twelve leading cities of Southern California and show them through the East in connection with a series of aviation shows.

Champion will leave July 25, going from Los Angeles to New York by automobile over the old Santa Fe trail, giving aeroplane exhibitions on the way. He will sail from New York August 1.

Goodrich Tires

There is nothing in Goodrich Advertising that isn't in Goodrich Goods

Not because the makers of practically half 1913's output of new cars have bought Goodrich Tires to equip them—

Not because so many well known car makers have always equipped their output with Goodrich Tires—

But—

Because the Goodrich principle of unit molding, which was crystalized from our twenty-seven years of experience in rubber manufacturing before we made the first American clincher tire and which we have never changed, demonstrated its soundness from the start—

And because our long experience in selecting the best crude rubber and compounding it gave us the ability to give it toughness and durability and at the same time keep the buoyant life in it—

And because we make Goodrich Tires of the finest fabric that can be woven of Sea Island Cotton—fabric that costs as much as silk—and of pure rubber—

Your tire dealer will supply you with whatever style of Goodrich Tire you need—but there is only one kind and quality.

Write for free set of folders telling you how to get the most service from your tires and how to avoid the common tire injuries.

MAPS DOWN CHANCE AND FOUR PITCHERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Cleveland team again defeated the local American League club today, 9 to 5. Manager used four pitchers and Cleveland hit them all hard. The New Yorks also hit Blanding hard, but he was strong with men on bases, and three of the locals were left. In the fifth Jackson hit a ball over the right field wing of the grandstand, the first time this feat has been accomplished since the Brush stadium was constructed in 1911. Scores:

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A shut-out for the Oaks and McCredie is himself again. The score was 1 to 0, and oh! it was a game worth seeing, despite five errors chalked up, three against the visitors and two against the home team.

McCredie lifted Pitcher Hugin-nothan's suspension today, after the big fellow promised to be good. "Hig" probably will twirl tomorrow against the Oaks.

"Bill" James and Malarkey were the opposing pitchers today. Crisp, a new man from the International League, caught for the visitors.

The only runs of the game were made in one, two, three order in the second, third and fourth innings, Doane making two of the three and Chadbourne scoring the third. It was in this wise.

In the second Kores went out, Cook to Ness; Doane doubled to the right field fence and then took third, when Malarkey made a bad throw to catch him napping.

Coulson singled to left, scoring Doane. Coulson stole second. McCormick out, Cook to Ness, Coulson taking third. Fisher out, Leard to Ness. In the third, James fanned as first man up and Chadbourne singled over second and went to second when Zacher hit the ball get away. Chad went to third on a wild pitch. Rodgers beat out a hit to Cook, Chad scoring. Kores out, Malarkey to Ness. One run and two hits were recorded.

In the fourth Doane beat out a hit to Ness. Coulson went out, Malarkey to Ness, Doane taking second. Doane went to third on a wild pitch. McCormick singled to center, scoring Doane. Fisher flied to Zacher. James fanned, and again there was only one run and two more hits, Doane, Chadbourne and Coulson were the stars today.

The score:

STOCKTON ON ROUTE.

STOCKTON, June 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stockton has been placed on the route of the Panama-Pacific automobile road race which is to take place July 4, according to an agreement signed here this afternoon between Harold Ostrom, field manager of the Racing Committee, and the representatives of the local Fourth of July Committee. Already twenty-four cars are entered in the race and a third as many more are expected to face the starter early on the morning of July 4 in Los Angeles.

The cars will come from Manteca to Stockton and turn in Sharp's Lane, then go to the race track, where two-thirds of a circuit will be made and then out of the grounds to the French Camp road on to San Francisco.

ABBOTT CHANGES.

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) June 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Spencer Abbott, who has been managing the San Diego Club of the Southern California League, is in Long Beach today as the new manager of the Pasadena Club. The management of the San Diego Club will be assumed by Dick Cooley, owner, who will sign a new outfielder to take Abbott's place in the line-up.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 4.—Philadelphia bunched hits off Camnitz in the seventh inning today and won from Pittsburgh, 4 to 0. Camnitz had allowed but three safeties up to the seventh, when singles by Doolan, Killifer, Becker, Knabe and Lobert and a double by Magee gave the visitors all their runs. Carey made the most wonderful catch seen on Forbes Field this season when he ran far back in left center and speared Killifer's bid for a home run in the web of his glove. He juggled the ball, but grabbed it with his bare hand. The score:

AMATEUR BOXERS WEIGH BEFORE 7.

Between 5 and 7 o'clock tonight at Los Angeles Athletic Club gym all entrants for the Southern California amateur boxing championships must weigh in to be eligible to compete. At the same time a club physician will be on hand to make certain that every boy is in fit condition to go into the ring. The amateur rules call for this preliminary inspection, and L.A.A.C. officials urge all entrants to report early in order that the matches may begin on scheduled time.

Home runs—Hummel, Hitz—Off Curtis, 2 in 2 1-3 innings; off Mamaux, 1 in 1 2-3 innings. Sacrifice hits—Miller, Mamaux. Left on bases—Brooklyn, 7; Cincinnati, 8. Bases on balls—Off Curtis, 1; off Mamaux, 2; off Ragon, 2. Struck out—By Curtis, 1; by Mamaux, 4; by Ragon, 4. Time of game—1:55. Umpires—O'Day and Eason.

MATTY HIT FREELY BY ST. LOUIS; GIANTS LOSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 4. — St. Louis stopped the New York Nationals' winning streak today by hitting Mathewson freely. The score was 6 to 4 in favor of the locals. St. Louis' eleven hits were all made in the six innings Mathewson pitched. Griner was hit hard, but he kept the hits scattered except in the seventh inning, when two singles, a double and a triple netted the visitors three runs. The score:

ST. LOUIS.

NEW YORK.

CANADIANS COMING AFTER YANKEE TROPHY.

Because of the possibility of yacht races in 1914 for the America's Cup, the fact is, rather lost sight of that there is to be an international race this summer for the New York Canoe Club international trophy. The Gananoque Canoe and Motor Boat Club of Canada is the challenger for the trophy, first offered in 1886. Six attempts have been made to lift this cup, the race conditions of which are similar to those governing the America's trophy now in the possession of the New York Yacht Club.

In 1886 and 1887 London conceits endeavored to win the cup, but failed. In 1890, '91, '92 and '96, Canadian clubs sent the fastest of their tiny racing craft after the trophy, but went back empty-handed.

Now, after a lapse of eighteen years, during which time dust has been accumulating heavily on the silver pitcher in the custody of the New York Canoe Club, another effort will be made to take the prize across the border.

MOTORCYCLE RIDERS GUEST OF RISDEN.

Twenty-five motorcycle riders and a few of their friends were the guests last night of C. W. Risden at a banquet at McKee's cafe in memory of the recent endurance run of 570 miles up the Coast and through Bakersfield and return.

Twenty-three of the boys started from here last Friday and fourteen returned Sunday with perfect scores. The first day's run was from here to Santa Maria; the second from there via Paso Robles to Bakersfield, and the third was the homeward trip via Tejon Pass. The worst stretches of road were found in San Marcos Pass and the first twenty miles out of Bakersfield returning home.

Sacramento-Los Angeles

Sacramento became threatening in the seventh, but by the time "Red" Heid got through with them there weren't enough of them in the place to pile up much of a score.

HELD FIRES A FEW.

Tennant was hit by Perritt and Stark sprinted to first ahead of a bunt. Bliss shoved each runner along a peg with a sacrifice. With Stroud at bat Harry Wolverton went out in the center of the diamond to hold social intercourse with Mr. Heid. When Harry returned it was observed that he did not stop until he reached the clubhouse. That is, he did not stop permanently. He merely lingered at the bench, gathering together his worldly goods until Heid felt constrained to consult his Waterbury. Having gotten under way he then fired "Toots" Shults and a few others. Believe me, I'm never going to talk with Mr. Heid in the seventh inning, because I always like to see the finish.

After the deck had been cleared for action, Stroud struck out in a pitcherly manner. Wenworthy, elite of the batting order, tried to punch George Metzger in the solar plexus. George threw up his guard, and then threw Wenworthy out at first. It was a nifty stop and caused two budding runs to fade and wither.

SACRAMENTO'S RUN.

Hallinan opened the eighth with a smart blow. Johnson, ever on the job, made a noble effort, but merely succeeded in deflecting the ball into center. Maggert didn't seem to want it particularly, and Eddie ran the hit into a double. Shinn swished a single to left, and Hallinan took third. Van Buren, very vicious as a rule, popped to Page. Hallinan scored when Moran forced Shinn at second. About this time Page fumbled Tennant's slow bounder, and things began to look right squally. Dolly Stark tried to sing "Old Hundred" for his team, but only got as far as "twenty-three." Dolly banged the ball into Ernie Johnson's horny hands on a line.

Mention of Eddie Hallinan reminds us that he came near breaking his neck in the sixth. With Maggert on third and Howard on second a hit-and-run was attempted and Metzger missed the ball. Maggert was half way home and Howard went to third. There was a lot of running hither and thither. Hallinan finally got hold of the ball, and started to chase Howard back to second. Seeing this, Maggert started for the plate again. Hallinan then turned his attention to Maggert and Karl beat it back toward third. Eddie made a dive for Maggert, got his man and landed on his head. For about a minute Eddie looked like a good bet to the undertakers in the audience. Pretty soon, however, he was observed wiggling his toes. He then got to his feet, and was found to be all right after they had scraped the gravel out of his eye.

SACRAMENTO.

FAMOUS TRAINER MURPHY PASSES OUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Michael C. Murphy, famous as a developer of athletes, died today of a complication of diseases. He had been ailing for the last fifteen years.

Murphy was born in Natick, Mass., in 1860, and early in life became prominent as a trainer of athletes. He had charge of the American teams at three Olympic meets, the last being the victories of last year. Many of the best college athletes in America had been developed by Murphy.

He had charge of the combined teams of the New York Athletic Club and the University of Pennsylvania in the Olympic games in Paris in 1900; the American team to the London Olympics in 1908, and the American tournament to the games in Stockholm in 1912.

He became physical director of Yale in 1887, and since then has been considered the greatest coach of track men and trainer of men in other branches of sport that America has ever known.

Vaudeville Bills Here.

Bradshaw, headed by Joe Bonner's troupe of Lunatic Bakers. This act is unquestionably the acrobatic sensation of the various bills, and the whirlwind feats of this troupe with their funny antics and clever comedy have made them the talk of the day in vaudeville.

Another new seven-act bill comes to the Empress Theater next Monday afternoon, headed by Marguerite, about whom the Sullivan and Considine people seem to steadfastly maintain a secrecy as to the character of her offering. Anyway, Marguerite was a discovery of Willie Hammerstein, who has brought forth more vaudeville sensations than any two men in America, and after playing a long engagement in New York under his direction, she was immediately booked to head one of the Sullivan and Considine shows.

Another offering on the new bill that is well known to local vaudeville lovers is Joe Fanton's Awakening of the Dawn. Besides these two splendid features there will be five other new acts, besides the new comedy motion pictures.

Pantages.

The Ella Hobson return to Pantages next Monday to complete the two weeks' engagement for which they were originally scheduled here. The second big comedy event of the coming Pantages show is Shaw's Comedy Circus, an aggregation of warranted fun makers, including the champion of all the laughing makers, Clare Howard, who has not been heard in Los Angeles for several months, returns from an extended engagement in San Francisco, and will be at Pantages next week. Another feature of musical interest will be supplied by June Roberts in "The Doll-Maker's Dream."

Reeves and Werner, a singing team, and Carl and Lillian Mueller, with a hoop-rolling stunt, are also announced.

AQUATIC STARS IN BIG MEET.

SOCIETY HIGH SCHOOLS TO CLASH AT LONG BEACH.

Conference Meeting Should Witness Some Good Sport in the Seaside City—Long Beach High Is Rating Favorites—Scores of L.A.H.S. to Be in the Diving Contest.

Local swimmers are much interested in the big events that are to be held Friday night at the Long Beach natatorium under the auspices of the Long Beach High School and it is expected that there will be about twenty-five entries.

Cliff Bewrs, champion diver; Campbell and Lees of Long Beach, and Gordon and Howard of Los Angeles are to be among the contestants and with these in, the affair should be a peach, even if no others competed. The events will be the 50 yards, 220, 440 and diving and all of these should be interesting. The chances are that four teams will be represented in Los Angeles High, Polytechnic High, Long Beach High and Redondo and there will be sufficient class to interest every swimming enthusiast.

The Los Angeles High won the previous county meet and the major part of the championships and expects to repeat this week, but the victory has not been won yet, for several final swimmers are entered this week.

The feature of the evening is expected to be the 220-yard dash, in which the principal entries are Pete Lees of Long Beach and Howard of Los Angeles High. At the previous meet Lees beat Howard in the 220 but had to hide in the 100 and they are expected to furnish a battle royal in both events.

It is said that the Los Angeles High will have but six men in the meet, but expects to shine even with this small number. All told nineteen entries have been made to date and a number of others are expected before tomorrow.

AFTER BIG TROUT.

Jeff Steward and W. C. Brodie have gone to the Santa Ynez country for a few days' fishing, and Dr. H. E. Rogers and family have started for Santa Ynez for a week's trial at the creek.

SOUTH COAST CLUB TO HOLD SNAPPY RACE.

THE next big event of the South Coast Yacht club will be held next Saturday, when the Montgomery perpetual cup will be contested for. The preparatory gun is to be fired at 12:15 o'clock and the starting gun at 1 o'clock.

The start is to be made between the breakwater at San Pedro and the breakwater bell buoy and the course will be around Catalina, with the island on the starboard side and then back to San Pedro. All the yachts are to be in cruising trim.

Each skipper is to take his own time passing the East and West end of the island, if at night, for the finish. The time allowance is to be computed on a basis of 6½ nautical miles. It is expected that all of the best boats in the club will enter this race, for a sail around Catalina is always a test of a yacht's capabilities in all kinds of work. They will strike calms, puffs of wind and good breezes.

The next race of importance will be June 15 and this will be for the Rear Commodore Elsen cup. The start is to be made from the end of the breakwater and the boats are to sail up to Point Vincente and back, a distance of more than 17 miles, with a long stretch of beating against the wind.

In all probability the entrants will be Mischief I, Alert, Wasp, Mischief II, Siwash, Marie and Myth and all will be handicapped, with the Siwash on scratch.

On June 7, the date of the Montgomery cup race, the club plans to have an informal dance at the club house and the following day will be celebrated with a number of sailing parties.

HAM'S HAMMER.

The fact that the ability of one of our local athletes was spoiled by too close attention to his studies confirms my previous opinions that our old universities can never become successful schools for instruction in football, baseball, track work and rowing until they cut out all such stuff as geography, reading, spelling and grammar. Just imagine a college boy trading his ability to make a forward pass for the knowledge of how to spell chair, believe, horse and all such hard words.

As all motor boats are built big enough these days to hold a case of beer and half as much whisky, as balloons, I fail to see why motor boating is not a more popular sport.

One good feature about Jack Johnson going to jail for a year is that he won't be afraid now to accept Tham Langford's challenge for a fight in six months.

The disqualification of the winning horse yesterday in the English derby, on which $1,000,000 had been bet, was probably due to the fact that the bookmakers wanted the money to buy farms on which to raise horses for the army. Still, the judges might have had a bet down on the second horse. Not being a bookmaker, I can't tell just which one of these reasons is the right one.

SUNSET YACHT CLUB READY FOR SEASON.

The Sunset Yacht Club, which now has about twenty boats in its fleet, is to have its first real race on the afternoon of August 15, when there will be a contest for the Commodore's cup, for club boats. The Los Angeles Motor Boat Club is to start the day off with a race in the morning, for which there will be two prizes.

On the following day, Saturday, there will be a motorboat race in the morning and in the afternoon the yachts will sail for the Virginia cup, starting at 2 o'clock, the day to conclude with a dance in the evening at the Hotel Virginia. The same kind of a programme will be given on Sunday, August 17, when there will be another cup race.

GERMANS ENCOURAGE ALL-AROUND ATHLETICS

Following the footsteps of the English Association, the German athletic authorities have adopted a plan to encourage all-around athletic development by means of "efficiency" medals. The Imperial Committee of the Olympic Games has worked out a system for the awarding of gold, silver and bronze medals for athletes who perform above a set standard in any one of five groups of athletic games and sports.

The first group consists of swimming and gymnastics, the second of high jump and broad jump, the third of running 100 yards or a quarter of a mile, the fourth of fencing, discus-throwing, rowing, lawn tennis, wrestling, hockey and golf, and the fifth group includes long-distance running, swimming, skating, skiing and cycling.

The idea is that moderate efficiency in five of these things shall be rewarded by a bronze medal. A silver medal will be given if the performances are repeated in each of four years, and a gold medal if the performances are repeated on each of eight years. A competitor of more than 12 years of age will obtain the gold medal if he satisfies the tests only once. The schedule, which is confined to Germans, is no doubt well adapted to German tastes and to present German conditions.

M'LOUGHLIN TO PLAY TENNIS ON FRIDAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 4.—The line-up of the Australian and the American tennis teams for the preliminary match for the Davis international cup was announced tonight by George T. Ades of the International Committee. Stanley N. Doust, the captain of the Australian forces, named himself and Horace Rice for the singles, and Doust and A. B. Jones for the doubles.

The American team will play Maurice E. McLoughlin, the national champion, and R. Norris Williams in the singles, and McLoughlin with Harold H. Hackett, captain of the team, in the doubles.

The first of the singles matches Friday afternoon will engage McLoughlin, the American, and Rice, the Australian. At the finish of this contest Williams will take the court against Doust.

The doubles match will begin Saturday afternoon, McLoughlin and Hackett meeting Doust and Jones. On Monday McLoughlin will face Doust in the singles, and Williams will play against Rice.

The Australians have shown greater strength as they approach the contest, while the Americans have done much in and out playing.

The performance of McLoughlin and Hackett in the doubles today was the best they have shown in practice. Hackett at the end declared that the pair was really finding itself.

ROBINSON IS CRITICISED FOR PROPOSED PLAN.

The announcement that Arthur Robinson, the phenomenal boy sprinter of Mercersburg Academy, is considering an athletic tour of Europe this summer, has aroused much adverse comment in amateur track and field circles. The idea of a youth still in his teens traveling through England and the continent competing in numerous track meets savors strong of pot hunting, to put it mildly, according to veteran athletic followers. It appears to be the consensus of opinion among close followers of sport that such a campaign is both unwise from a physical and amateur standpoint.

Robinson has an athletic career of great promise before him if properly handled. To attempt, at his age, to duplicate the feats of Arthur Duffy, Nat Cartmell and other famous and seasoned sprinters appears to be carrying the craze for competition to extreme. It is quite within the bounds of possibility that the Amateur Athletic Association will refuse to grant a permit for such a trip.

BUNGAY SHOOTING WELL.

The Los Angeles Gun Club has commenced on its class shooting and will continue it every month until the end of the year, when a prize of a fine gun will be awarded to the high gun in each of the four classes. Last Sunday at the Venice grounds Bob Bungay broke 100 straight blue rocks at sixteen yards, and later, on at the twenty-one-yard mark, broke twenty-four out of twenty-five birds. There is to be a practice shoot every Sunday.

Spoiled Classic.

DERBY FAVORITE IS DISQUALIFIED.

Finish of Famous Event Marred by Suffragette.

Hundred-to-One Shot Is Declared Winner.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EPSOM (Eng.) June 4.—Today's race for the Derby, the "blue ribbon" of the British turf, was one of the most sensational on record. It was made memorable by a daring militant suffrage outrage, in which Emily Wilding Davi was terribly injured while trying to stop King George's horse Anmer, when he was running at full speed around Tottenham corner, by the disqualification for bumping of Craganour, the favorite, after he had finished first; and by the award of the race with its stakes of $33,500 to a rank outsider, Aboyeur, a 100-to-1 shot.

King George, Queen Mary and a large assembly of royalties were witnesses of these exciting incidents, which caused something like consternation among the immense crowds.

While interest in the classic was at its most tense point, just as the fifteen horses were turning the Tottenham corner into the stretch, a woman rushed out of the dense crowd and threw herself in front of Anmer and another horse, Agadir. She apparently hoped to interfere with the progress of the race by seizing Anmer's reins and placing not only herself, but the two jockeys, in danger.

THROWS ANMER.

Fortunately the horses were at the end of the string, or the consequences might have been more serious. Agadir, ridden by Jockey Eart, passed in safety, but the woman managed to cling to Anmer's rein and brought down both horse and rider.

Jones, the King's jockey, received injuries necessitating his removal in an ambulance, while the woman was thrown under Anmer's hoofs and terribly kicked. She was taken unconscious to a hospital, suffering from severe injuries to her head. Suffragette papers are said to have been found in her possession, and a suffragette flag was bound around her body.

Jones, the jockey, suffered from a nasty cut in the head, but his injuries otherwise were not serious.

Meanwhile the race had ended in a close and exciting finish with Craganour, the favorite, first past the post. Then it became known that an objection had been raised and after many minutes of suspense it was announced that Craganour had been disqualified for bumping in the stretch and that the race had been awarded to the outsider, Aboyeur, who had made all the running and led into the stretch.

STEWARDS DISQUALIFY.

It was stated that the owner of Aboyeur had raised no objection to the winner, but the stewards of the jockey club had instituted an inquiry.

It is almost unheard of for an objection to be raised to the winner of the Derby. The last occasion was in 1844. The stewards' decision brought about an extraordinary contrast to the scenes of enthusiasm which had followed the putting up of Craganour's number.

The stewards stated tonight that they did not disqualify Craganour simply for bumping, but because they were satisfied that Johnnie Reiff, his jockey, had unduly interfered with other horses throughout a greater part of the race.

It is said by experts that there was a remarkable amount of unfair, if not foul, riding, and this year's Derby is regarded as one of the most unsatisfactory in the history of the event.

Touvois ran second and Great Sport was given third, after a long dispute, over Nimbus.

POLO SHAKE-UP.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] It was rumored this afternoon that there is to be a big shake-up in the formation of the American polo team that will face the British challengers for the International cup next week. The Polo Association is, it is said, considering the advisability of dropping all the members of the famous "Big Four" except Devereaux C. Milburn.

The Polo Association is considering, according to gossip this afternoon, to line up the defenders in the following order: L. E. Stoddard, No. 1; Devereaux Milburn, No. 2; Foxhall Keene, No. 3, and Malcolm Stevenson, back.

H. L. Herbert, chairman of the Polo Association, refused this afternoon to either deny or affirm the truth of the rumor. He admitted, however, that the association was considering changing the American line-up.

According to the stories that were current at Meadowbrook and Piping Rock, Capt. Harry Payne Whitney had resigned his position on the team and also the post of captain. Foxhall Keene is to take both positions.

GLENDALE CLUB SHOOT.

The Glendale Gun Club is to have a "jack rabbit" shoot one week from next Sunday, to which all shooters are invited.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM WINS.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HEMPSTEAD (N. Y.) June 4.—By the score of 12 to 4 the English international polo team defeated a strong picked team this afternoon at Meadowbrook, where the matches for international honors will be contested next week. Luck favored the British, one of their goals being scored when Capt. Cheapes's pony kicked the ball through, but they showed clever, dashing work.

OPERATOR GETS TWO BIG JOLTS.

[By Wireless Line to The Times.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] What would you do if you were working at the grind of a telegraph key for eighteen years and have it come to you in a flash over the wire that you had just won $15,000?

That is the experience which befell Herbert W. Robinson, an operator in the employ of the Commercial Cable Company, today. When it was announced that the winner of the English derby was Craganour it meant that Robinson had won $15,000. He himself received the cable message.

Then came the news that Craganour, whose jockey was Johnny Reiff, the American rider, had been disqualified for interfering with Aboyeur and the race was given to the latter by the judges. They say that Robinson showed not the slightest emotion, no matter what he felt.

Coming Back.

THOMSON AFTER RECORD TODAY.

Former Occidental Athlete Hopes to Beat Records of Both Thorpe and Sheridan Today—Will Wear Oxy Colors in Local Meet—Suit Gift of Local College.

Fred Clifton Thomson, late all-round champion of the United States, who is to try to break Martin Sheridan's world record today at Princeton, N. J., is to compete here in Los Angeles July 12 in the national championships wearing a brand new Occidental College track suit which is to be presented to him on his arrival here by the students of the Highland Park institution.

Thomson, who made a wonderful record in athletics while at the local college, went back to Chicago after his graduation and won the national championship in 1910 and 1911, wearing his old Occidental track suit each time. This time he is to celebrate by wearing a brand new uniform, the gift of his former fellow-students.

Inasmuch as Thomson has been improving all the time and has already shattered not only Sheridan's but also Jim Thorpe's marks several times in practice, the local rooters are expecting to see him smash all standing records in the big meet today at Princeton. Thomson will be out here in a couple of weeks and will enter the ministry immediately after the big meet here in July.

Amateurs.

NEW CHAMPIONS TO BE CROWNED.

AMATEUR BOXING TOURNAMENT STARTS TONIGHT.

Buzz Hughes and Ernie Clark Will Defend Their Titles in Light and Welterweight Classes—Hawtery of the Terrible Punch Will Take Part. Unusually Classy Boys Entered.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

The Southern California amateur championship boxing tournament that starts tonight at the Los Angeles A.C. has brought out over forty entries. Each class is well represented and the heavyweight class is the largest ever had in the South. Out of the five entries in that class four come from Billy Hart's Western club and the fifth is an unattached man.

The L.A.A.C. has nine entries but several will be compelled to box unattached as they have not been in the club long enough. It is an amateur rule that an athlete must be at least one year in a club before he can box under the name of the club. This applies only to those who have resigned from other clubs of the association.

Buzz Hughes and Ernie Clark are the only champions who have entered. Hughes in the lightweight class and Clark in the welters. This leaves several titles to be settled that are much in doubt. Then again it is possible that Hughes and Clark may lose theirs before the tournament is over.

The next nearest champions are Joe Nieto and Fred Hawtery. Nieto in the 115 pound class and Hawtery in the middleweight. Both of these boys won second places in the Coast championships last November.

Nieto is up before the A.A.U. under charges of professionalism, and may not be allowed to enter. His case will be settled today.

There is a much better quality of boxers in tonight's tournament than has been presented in several years.

The St. Joseph's Young Men's Club has a number of entries and all are good boys. These boys always give a good account of themselves and always come in well trained.

The Columbia and Pasadena Clubs also have entries, but not as many as usual. Heinie Brand of the L.A.A.C. has withdrawn his name on account of taking a trip to Europe with his parents. Pete Town will also be missed.

He is training for the swimming championships that take place next month in San Francisco and will be unable to enter.

Every entrant will have to be registered under the A.A.U. rules before he will be allowed to do this. It will be have neglected to do this, it will be well for them to get busy. But this can be done at the club this afternoon.

The weighing-in will take place in the gymnasium between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock tonight, and weigh each night before starting.

The committee has decided to start the tournament at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock as formerly. Comfortable dressing rooms have been provided for all the boxers on the gymnasium floor.

The tournament will be open to the public.

The tournament will run three nights. The preliminaries tonight in each class, the semi-finals tomorrow night and the finals Saturday night.

MIDDLE WEST GOLFERS TO INVADE THE COAST.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 4.—[Special Dispatch.] Headed by Champion Charles Evans, Jr., the Western Golf Association team, composed of a number of the most expert amateur golfers in the middle western district, departs tomorrow night for an invasion of the Pacific Coast. The journey out will be over the northern route and return will be through Colorado, the team arriving home about June 26.

With the exception of Howard Lee of Detroit, Phil Stanton of Grand Rapids and Harry Legg of Minneapolis, the team will be composed of local players, including Jared K. Wood of Homewood, D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton, Carl Devol of Riverside and Frazier Hale of Skookie.

The itinerary will include a number of stops en route. The first will be at Minneapolis, where the tourists will play over the Minikahda Club in the morning and in the afternoon they will be entertained by the St. Paul club.

On Sunday the players will stop over at Butte, Mont., and on Monday they will visit Spokane. Tuesday they will visit the club at Victoria, B. C., and on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week the tourists will play over courses at Seattle. On June 14, 15 and 16 the visitors will be entertained by the Tacoma club. From there, Or., they will be visited on June 18 and 19.

On the return trip the party will stop at Salt Lake City, where they will play on June 21 and 22. Colorado Springs will be visited on June 24 and the last stop before returning to Chicago will be at Kansas City on June 26 and 27.

MRS. GRIFFITH AND ORR WIN MIXED FOURSOME

WILLIAM MEADE ORR and Mrs. Frank Griffith were the winners of the mixed foursomes golf match, played on the links of the San Gabriel Country Club yesterday afternoon. They made a gross score of 92 and their handicap of nine strokes gave them a net of 83.

It was the final event of the women's invitation tournament and was well supported. Mrs. A. C. Scales and Carlton Wright made the second best score with 97-8-89, and two couples tied for third place with 91 net. Edward Tufts and Miss Fanny Shoemaker and Mrs. H. D. Requa and W. Bacon.

Mrs. Guy Cochrane and her partner came in with 97-8-94, so Mr. A. C. Scales cannot take very much credit unto himself for his share in that result. Mrs. Guy Cochrane won the choice score event of the day before with net 83 all by her very lone.

Mrs. Herbert Munn and Robert C. Devereux did not do so badly, 105-7-92, the same net which Mrs. J. V. Eliot and F. O. Wood brought in, but their mutual handicap was only 8.

MISS SUTTON SHOWS WELL.

Miss Florence Sutton played with S. Melvin Butler and considering it is only the fifth time she has played they can congratulate themselves upon their net 86. Capt. Mrs. Wood evidently held a high opinion of Miss Sutton's possibilities for she only conceded her 36 strokes handicap while the limit, enjoyed by such regular players as Miss Lolu Roberts was 24.

Mrs. Harry Kearns brought her partner, with her in the person of Martin Redmayne, and one over for luck and to give the girls a treat, in that captivating Mr. Roy Holland. The luck wasn't obstreperous at all and their net 95 did not surprise.

Miss Roberts played with a representable Arthur Chipson, and Mrs. Perley, who enjoyed the distinction of playing from [illegible] cap thereby, played with Wright; they made a net 92.

Miss Wright, with whom Parker was to have played, a gay philanderer but he was [illegible] by Mrs. J. P. Lawton, whom [illegible] judge in some consolations. Mrs. Griffith played with "Colonel" Burns and their net 93 was presentable.

Mrs. Marmion played with Campbell and Mrs. Roberts with Howard.

NOTED ABSENTEES.

The notable absentees were [illegible] H. Woodcock, Conde Jones and [illegible] Tatum, Walter Marsh, J. J. [illegible] Geoffray Purcell and Lee Gates. The first named is said to be [illegible] from a heavy cold. We are not [illegible] prised. What could he expect [illegible] would shed his moustache before [illegible] was out?

Miss Katherine Mallus who [illegible] out with Mr. Urmston, did not complete the round.

Mrs. F. Ogilvy Wood, who won the tournament and still [illegible] bearing her blushing honors upon her. Last week she took [illegible] prizes at the dog show with [illegible] Blenheim Spaniels and this week has awed and subdued more than a dozen normal women into [illegible] docility and sweetness. The [illegible] distinction for one lone female.

There is a happy rumor in effect that the San Gabriel Club is planning another "hot one." This will please a lot of people who are desperately anxious to [illegible] hospitality and show of recherche dinner parties.

For National Honors.

KELLY HAS GOOD CHANCE AT AMERICAN OLYMPIAD

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THE first step toward developing the American Olympic team for 1916 is to be taken this month in Chicago, where the American Olympic games are to be held for the first time this year. The meet is to start June 28 and will close July 6. The events of the programme cover all the Olympic sports.

In the meet this year the Swedish athletes will compete for the American trophies, as since the games last year in Stockholm the Swedes feel sure that their national team can easily compete in the same class with that of the United States.

As a matter of fact, there is not much room for such a statement, as the United States athletes are too good this year for any of them, but it lends a lively feature of interest to the games in producing some foreign competition.

Fred Kelly of the University of Southern California is the only man who will represent the south in the games. Kelly has proven his worth this season in both the high and low sticks and I doubt if there was ever a more consistent hurdler in the history of athletic sport. He is being sent by some prominent friends of the university.

Kelly is already in training for the meet and will leave for Chicago June 20, in order to get in a few days' work on the ground. In competition at Chicago, Kelly is meeting the best class of the world, as Weaver, Hopkins and Nicholson are all to be there. Kelly has beaten the entire bunch and they are now looking for the observer's goat.

Kelly says that he figures Weaver will be the man to beat, as Hopkins and Nicholson are rather broken and lose their form and speed in hot weather.

Kelly may not equal his mark of 15s. flat in this meet, as he expects to enter the low hurdles as well as the high sticks, which makes it unusually a little harder than if he were going to run out for a record in one event.

However, he is one of those athletes who can run fast every time and win no matter how the pace or the going is. He will, of course, have a hard time winning the low hurdles, but I think that he is good for at least 24 4-5s. in the event, and should equal his record of 15 flat under favorable conditions, in the high jumps.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Police Commission yesterday received three applications from persons who are after the one saloon permit which it can issue. Many more are expected, but the commission will not act for two weeks.

The Harbor Commission will issue an order today directing the Standard American Dredging Company to resume work on Area A at the Huntington Fill and to continue this until the contract is completed.

The ordinance imposing a tax upon all vehicles that use the streets will be before the City Council this forenoon for action. If it is adopted there is a possibility that some of the business organizations will combine in a referendum movement.

The City Council and Harbor Commission made provision yesterday for sending Senator Hewitt to Sacramento to urge the Governor to sign bills that are of special importance to the city.

At the City Hall.

TRIO OF FORMAL APPLICATIONS FOR SALOON PRIVILEGE.

Police Commisadon Expects an Avalanche of Similar, Requests but Will Not Act for Two Weeks. May Limit Hours During Which Restaurants May Serve Drinks.

Although there have been visitors by the score to the Mayor's office and the secretary of the Police Commission, by persons desirous of securing the one saloon permit which the commission may issue, in order to make the full limit of 200 saloons provided for by the liquor ordinance, the first formal applications for this privilege appeared yesterday before the board. There were three of these applications. They were made by D. H. Hart for No. 131 West Fifth street, Milas G. McGuire for No. 111 East Third street, and Edward W. Thompson, for No. 827 South Spring street. The commission expects that these will be the forerunners of an avalanche of similar applications, but it has determined that it will take no definite action on the issuance of this one permit for two weeks. Meantime these applications have been referred to the Chief of Police for investigation and reports.

It is highly probable that the one remaining permit which the commission may issue, and which was made possible by the annulment of a saloon license on the East Side through the death of its proprietor, will be issued before the new administration takes office.

There is also a possibility that the commission will adopt a rule limiting the hours within which restaurants holding liquor permits may serve drinks. This subject has been discussed by the commission and the plan meets with its approval. It was given renewed impetus through the disclosures made at the recent hearing before the commission of the cases of Zucca and Vergano, restaurant-keepers whose permits were suspended for five days because of their using their restaurant business simply as a subterfuge for Sunday liquor selling.

Commissioner McDill has prepared a rule to cover this situation, and this may be presented to the commission and become mandatory upon restaurant-keepers before the change in the administration.

Talks About Monument.

The Municipal Art Commission met with the Mayor yesterday to have explained to them by Martin C. Neuner and G. A. Howard, the plans for the proposed monument to commemorate the completion of the Los Angeles aqueduct. Neuner is the representative of the Citizens' Committee appointed to provide a suitable memorial for this great project, and Howard is the architect who prepared the plans and sobechts submitted to the commission. It is proposed to build the monument by public subscription. No definite action was taken by the commission, the subject being taken under advisement.

Continue Canvass Today.

The City Council met yesterday afternoon to begin the official canvass of the votes at the municipal election. It completed the canvass of 143 precincts, this bringing about no material change in the figures unofficially reported, and will resume the task this morning at 10 o'clock. It is not expected that the canvass will be finished until late this afternoon.

Will Issue Order.

An executive session of the Harbor Advisory Board was held in the Mayor's office yesterday to consider demands that will be made upon the Governor by its special counsel, Hewitt, who is to visit Sacramento for the purpose of urging the Governor to sign bills pertaining to harbor control, etc. The board also considered the situation at the harbor in connection with the Standard American Dredging Company's work and received the report of the special committee, composed of the Harbor Commission, Commissioner Handley of the Public Works Board, and the special counsel, who visited the harbor during the forenoon and made an inspection of the work.

An order will be issued by the Harbor Commission today, directing the dredging company to resume work on the dredging in area A, on the westerly side of the Huntington fill, and to continue this work until it is fully completed. It is understood that the Standard American Dredging Company has tacitly consented to do this, and that there will be no friction developed through this action of the Harbor Commission.

Move Time on Tunnel.

On account of "unexpected delays"—which doubtless refer to the city's investigation of a substitution of materials—Wattson & Spicer, contractors for the Hill-street tunnel, asked the Board of Public Works yesterday for an extension of sixty days' time within which to complete the tunnel. This was promptly granted without discussion.

Vehicle Ordinance Today.

The City Council carried over until 10 o'clock this morning consideration of the vehicle tax ordinance as finally evolved through conferences of the Legislation Committee with representatives of business organizations. This provides a tax upon every vehicle using the city's streets.

That this will not be satisfactory to some of these organizations, particularly the retail grocers, was evident yesterday, when a delegation appeared to participate in the discussion of the measure. It is possible that a referendum movement will be started at once, should the Council adopt the ordinance today, as it is understood that all plans have been prepared for such a move and the petitions are ready to put into circulation, should the move be decided upon.

Appeal to Governor.

The City Council at yesterday's session gave its approval to the request of the Harbor Commission that it be allowed to appropriate $75 for the purpose of paying the expenses of Special Counsel Hewitt on a trip to Sacramento for the purpose of urging the Governor to sign bills of special importance to this city. Hewitt left last night on this mission.

Councilman Topham voted against the appropriation being made by the Harbor Commission. "The city has appropriate money for the purpose of the City Attorney visiting Sacramento and acquainting the Legislature and the Governor with the needs of the city in connection with these bills," said Topham, "and the Governor ought to know all about them. It should not be necessary for officials of this city to urge him to do his duty."

Declared Irresponsible Bidder.

O. A. Nichols, a contractor for street work, was declared to be an irresponsible bidder by the Board of Public Works yesterday. This will bar him from further bidding on public work in this city.

Nichols bid on a piece of street work, was awarded the contract, but for what he declared were "sufficient reasons" he failed to sign up the contract and refused to appear before the board when summoned to explain what these reasons were.

City Hall Brevities.

Mrs. Nettie Hammond, who conducts a massage establishment at No. 111½ South Broadway, was before the Police Commission yesterday on the charge of irregularities in her establishment. She admitted treating male patients, but declared that she did not know she was violating the rules of the commission, and promised to strictly obey the letter of the rule hereafter.

The Police Commission yesterday declared South Main street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, closed to the issuance of further wholesale or retail liquor permits, a majority petition for this having been presented. The block has been closed heretofore, but was declared reopened only two or three weeks ago.

The City Council granted a sixty-day leave of absence yesterday to R. F. Del Valle, a member of the Public Service Commission.

The Board of Public Works yesterday set 10 o'clock on the forenoon of June 18 as the time for offering for sale at public auction three buildings on Timms Point, recently acquired by the city through condemnation proceedings. One of these buildings is the old Peck residence, at one time one of the show places of San Pedro. The board also set next Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock as the time for selling the accumulation of doors, sashes, partitions and other materials that have accumulated for several years at the City Hall.

At the Courthouse.

"I LOVE HIM," SAYS WITNESS.

REFUSES TO TESTIFY AGAINST PHOTOPLAYER.

Court Orders Girl Involved in Dependency Charge Committed to Whittier for Contempt—Six-year-old Tartar a White Elephant on Humane Officer's Hands.

Christine Neal was a recalcitrant witness yesterday. She refused to answer questions tending to show how J. P. Hartigan, a motion-picture man, had contributed to her dependency. She declares she loves him.

Judge Wilbur explained that such conduct was contempt of court and that if she did not answer questions Deputy District Attorney McCartney was propounding at Hartigan's preliminary examination, he would be compelled to send her to jail.

Miss Neal tossed her head and declared she would not testify against Hartigan. She was judged in contempt, but when she still proved recalcitrant, the order committing her to jail was changed to commitment to Whittier until she is 21. She is now 17.

The order will not be carried out until she is brought up again today, to which date the examination was continued. If she still refuses to give evidence, the gates of Whittier will close over her for four years.

Evalyn Nesbeith, also a dependent, proved more tractable. She gave her testimony. It showed joy rides, attendance at a prize fight with Miss Neal, and visits to Hartigan's room.

CAUGHT A TARTAR.

MITE FULL OF FIGHT.

Humane Officer McLaughlin caught a tartar yesterday, a tartar diminutive, but as full of fight as a wild cat, and the puzzle was what to do with him. When McLaughlin and his find entered Deputy District Attorney McCartney's office the tartar, Bito Gracia, 6 years old, began to investigate the office papers.

"Stop that," ordered McCartney.

"I won't," replied Bito, defiantly. McCartney made a threatening gesture.

"Don't you touch me," shouted the lad.

"He's a bad one," suggested McLaughlin.

"Who is it?" inquired McCartney.

"This woman says she is his aunt and that his father abandoned him. I believe she is his mother."

The woman, Katie Valesques, was anxious to dispose of Bito. Her stories conflict. As Bito was not to be controlled by her, McCartney will have him taken into the Juvenile Court as an abandoned child.

Bito shows Yaqui blood and has the making of a bright youngster, if he can be tamed.

A FIFTH WOMAN.

WORD TWO AGAINST TWO.

With the preponderance of evidence showing in favor of the defendants, Judge Wellborn yesterday gave judgment for Muse, Paris, Walker Company in the $25,000 suit for damages for false arrest brought by Mrs. Anna Gibbs. In giving judgment, the court remarked that in this case it was the word of two women against two women and that a fifth woman ought to sit in judgment.

Mrs. Gibbs complained that after shopping at the Fifth Street Store she was seized on Broadway by Mrs. Ritchie and Mrs. Brooks and taken back to the store, where she was detained for a time. She set up that she would not have submitted except on the show of authority made by the women, who are operatives of the Harris Detective Agency.

LOVE AND FEAR.

GIRL'S AFFECTION STRONGER.

Mary and Jennie Evrokimoff, Russian girls whose parents it was declared had endeavored to force them to marry men they did not desire, were disposed of by Judge Wilbur yesterday, at the close of the testimony in the alleged marriage mart case.

Mary, who refused to go home, was sent to the Juvenile Home until a position is found for her or until she consents to return to her parents.

Jennie, her cousin, expressed a desire to go to the Juvenile Home, and the order was made for one week. But the loss of their children created consternation among the parents, and the mother of Jennie fainted.

The girl, torn between love and fear of her mother, stood irresolute a moment, then sank to her knees beside the prostrate form. The scene closed with mother and daughter weeping in a loving embrace. Jennie accompanied her parents home.

DIVIDING ESTATE.

MAKE PARTIAL DISTRIBUTION.

Partial distribution of the John D. Hooker estate was ordered by Judge Rives yesterday.

The distribution includes seven lots in the Longstreet tract, two lots in the Mackey and Gill subdivision, and an interest in the Rancho Providencia, the latter comprising 119½ acres, to Mrs. Katharine Hooker, the widow; one lot in the Washington Garden tract, three lots in the Weinscheck tract, three lots in the Pomeroy & Mills subdivision, and one lot in the Miramonte tract, to Marian Hooker, a daughter.

Hooker died May 24, 1911. The estate was appraised November 1, 1911, at $1,965,011.46. The executors under the will are Mrs. Hooker and Robert G. Hooker. The petition for distribution was represented by Attorney Osgood Putnam of San Francisco, and Attorney F. E. Burlew of this city.

HELD INNOCENT.

GHASTLY MURDER CHARGED.

Juan Flores, charged with the killing of Jose Estrada, whose body was found near the railroad tracks on Aliso street, was acquitted by a jury in Department Twelve yesterday. Mexicans endeavored to make the police believe Estrada met death by being run over.

When the body was examined at the morgue, a bullet hole through the temple, and a ghastly slash across the throat were discovered.

The police went on the theory that the killing was the result of a private "combate" on account of some Mexican girl. The evidence was mainly circumstantial.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

ACCOUNTING SUIT. Attorney Thomas C. Gould is sitting in Extra Sessions Four as referee in an $8,000, accounting suit brought by the Golden West Home Builders of Santa Monica against Hammond L. Deiter. Deiter, as a director of the concern claimed compensation in the way of commissions for services and took it out in stock. The concern alleges he had no right to. The litigants are represented by Attorney Towner for the plaintiff, and Tanner, Taft and O'Dell for the defendant.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED. The marriage of Calla M. Barron to Harry C. Barron was annulled by Judge Monroe yesterday. The allegation was that Barron had a wife from whom he was not legally separated, living. The couple were married at Santa Ana January 17, 1906. Mrs. Barron declared when the case was tried that she had not known of her husband's previous marriage until he informed her.

Bernheim, Hortense Bernheim, H. Monroe Bernheim; capital stock, $50,000; subscribed, $500.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Member of South Olive-Street Motor Car Company Simultaneously Pays Fine and Reports Theft.

James J. Canavan of the Vance-Canavan Auto Company, No. 1128 South Olive street, who told the police yesterday that his automobile had been stolen from Eighth street and Broadway Tuesday night, also appeared in the Police Court in the role of defendant, and was fined $1 on two separate charges, having been arrested for violating traffic regulations.

Spent Collections.

George W. Williams was sentenced to serve ninety days as a result of appearing as a vagrant in Police Court yesterday. He said he had been employed as a book agent, but had lost his list of customers, and spent for drink what money he had collected.

Slippery Streets.

Slippery streets and his failure to stop at the command of Patrolman Barnett netted L. Bordieu, chauffeur for an auto rental company, a $10 fine yesterday in Police Court. The young man collided with a post supporting a mail box at Fifth and San Pedro streets early yesterday morning, and was charged with reckless driving.

'Twas His Limit.

Steve Sweeney walked up to John Hill on a Stephenson-avenue car, told Hill he was under arrest, took him from the car at Seventh and San Pedro streets and walked into a saloon, where he ordered his prisoner to buy a drink. Hill complied. Sweeney then commanded Hill to give him $5. This was more than Hill could stand. He voiced his objections so vociferously that both men were arrested and taken to Central Station. In Police Court yesterday they told their troubles and were fined $5 each.

The Oil Industry.

GIANT GUSHER BROADENS FIELD.

ADVICES TELL OF LARGE WELD NEAR TAMPICO.

Pennsylvania Company Makes Big Strike in Mexican Field—Syndicate Has "Light" Well in Simi Valley—Associated Gets Large Acreage in Suit.

Advices recently received from Mexico tell of a big strike west of Tampico and in a new portion of the field, by the Penn-Mex Oil Company. As soon as the sand was encountered the well began to flow at a rate estimated at not less than 25,000 barrels a day. Being at some distance from the producing portions of the district, the well, it is believed, will open up quite a large new area.

The Penn-Mex Company is capitalized at $10,000,000 and has leases on about 100,000 acres in the Mexican fields. Fifty-one per cent. of its stock is owned by the South Penn Oil Company. A number of Pittsburgh people are also interested.

NEW SIMI WELL.

The French syndicate, operating near the Petrol Company in the Simi Valley field, has brought in a well reported as doing better than 100 barrels a day of very light oil. This is the company's first producer on its extensive holdings in the new field.

The French syndicate took over the properties of four oil companies in the field recently, and has been drilling two wells. Foreign and Oklahoma capital are interested in the venture. At latest advices a company had not been organized.

The syndicate's well came in at about 500 feet—somewhat deeper than the original producer of the Petrol Company.

Divide Holdings.

A decree of partition in the suit of the Associated Oil Company against J. D. Martin, B. B. Dudley and C. R. Dudley, dividing about 30,000 acres of land between the parties in the litigation has been granted in Bakersfield. The Associated gets three-fourths of the land and the other fourth goes to the defendants.

The land in question is the large tract on which Martin & Dudley obtained options following their discovery of oil in Lost Hills. It is said that the discovery was kept secret for several months and that in the meantime Martin & Dudley quietly tied up all the land available along the Lost Hills anticline.

They then notified the Associated and entered into an agreement with the company of which the present division of valuable lands is the outcome, it is stated.

In addition to the land which Martin & Dudley get from the division they have a large acreage acquired independently of the Associated.

Three Wells In Action.

WASCO, June 2.—With three gushers flowing at the same time, the Lost Hills field presented quite an unusual scene last week. The wells were the Universal Oil Company's No. 6, on section 32, and Vulcan Oil Company's Nos. 1 and 5 on section 5. Each of the three wells spouted for a few hours and then sanded up. They will be cleaned out and put on production in a few days. The Vulcan's No. 5 is in the second sand at 1660 feet and promises to yield a good flow. No. 1 is also making a good showing.

Estimates of the production of the various companies in Lost Hills for May give the Universal 5600 barrels daily, the Standard from 1500 to 1800, the Associated and General Petroleum about 1000 barrels each.

The Associated has a well deepening and about to come in on section 33. The company encountered a second sand at a little over 1600 feet.

It is reported that a test well is to be drilled near Delano in Tulare county.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

The first examination for the position of fourth-class postmasters, under civil service rules, as provided by a recent order of Postmaster-General Burleson, will be held in this city on the 28th inst., when an official for Hyde Park is to be selected. Application blanks may be secured from H. H. McDonaugh, secretary of the United States Civil Service Commission, Federal building.

DELAY INVESTIGATION.

Deputy District Attorney Joos stated yesterday that owing to pressing cases now before the grand jury he will be unable to ask that body to investigate private sanatoriums until next week. He received notice yesterday that the battery case against Dr. C. C. Manger and two nurses of the Canyon Crest Sanatorium will be heard before Justice Melrose at Tropico the 10th inst.

INSTALLMENTS PAY FINE.

About $700 was added to the county treasury yesterday when more than fifty speeders were taken before Justice Forbes. The magistrate gave a motorcyclist who rode at a rate of sixty miles an hour a fine of $30. The young man said he did not have the money, and the judge allowed him to pay in installments.

TWO YEAR SENTENCE.

John Thompson was given a sentence of two years in San Quentin yesterday by Judge Cole, sitting in Department Eleven. He was convicted of having broken into a house in Pasadena and stealing silverware.

To Consolidate Jobs.

The positions of police matron and policewoman will be consolidated if the recommendation of Chief Sebastian is adopted by the Civil Service Commission.

HERALDING CELEBRATION.

A hundred Antelope Valley boosters will come to Los Angeles this morning to participate in an automobile parade in the interest of the great Antelope Valley celebration at Lancaster next Saturday. Equipped with suitably inscribed banners, they will assemble at the Plaza at 9:30 o'clock and will start south on Spring street. Forty machines will be in line.

Among the features of the celebration in the valley Saturday will be a barbacue presided over by Jose Romero. Six fat Antelope Valley steers are to be sacrificed. Athletic events and sports, together with a bronco busting contest and dance will be features.

The day will be given over strictly to recreation and to an exhibit of the valley's resources. Scores of automobiles will take visitors over the district.

GRAND JURY BUSY.

Inquisitorial Body Believed to Have Quizzed Witnesses in the Soledad Road Overseer's Case.

The grand jury passed a busy day yesterday, with Chief Trial Deputy Hammon in charge. It is presumed that the case of William Erwin, road overseer of the Soledad district, was considered, as the same witnesses who appeared before the Supervisors some time ago were under subpoena yesterday.

Erwin was exonerated of charges preferred against him by some of the residents of the Soledad district when his case was heard by Supervisors Butler and Manning. Supervisor Pridham did not take part in the proceedings as he appointed Erwin.

The charges were mainly inefficiency, lack of interest, and holding two county positions at the same time. For some reason the clearance given Erwin by the Supervisors and County Counsel Hill was insufficient.

Charges Embezzlement.

A complaint charging Adolph Helfeld with embezzlement was filed yesterday on complaint of the Crex carpet company, whose business Helfeld had taken charge of. It is said Helfeld had taken in payment for rugs belonging to the company.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY.

The Federal grand jury will not be in session yesterday, but no report will be made to the court. It is understood that the body will take up the charges on the conspiracy charges against William B. Edwards and others in the Palo Verde Valley, and Georges Gill, alleged smugglers, next Tuesday.

Arrest Reported.

Ethel Tripp, 14 years old, was arrested by detectives from the university Station yesterday and taken to the Detention Home at Lincoln Heights. She is held pending the investigation of the juvenile court. The girl told the officers she had run away from her home in Pasadena because her step-father was cruel to her.

Home Placed on Decision of French to Extend Term of Military Service.

Powers Are Warned to Keep Their Anchors Down as an Extra Safeguard.

LONDON, June 5.—[Special Dispatch.] Anxiety for the future is reflected on all the bourses of Europe. The political situation is not improved, yet every market is depressed. Many separate causes are assigned. Public confidence in Britain is disturbed by fear of labor troubles, the useless display of militant energy on the part of the suffragettes and the continental apprehension of a clash in the Balkan settlement. Everywhere there is an excessive multiplication of securities and the increase of the liabilities of the underwriters is disquieting.

With proper weight given to all these factors, politicians and financial men are unable, however, to account for the unprecedented extent of the existing depression.

THE ENGLISH VIEW.

English observers attribute some of the fear of the French decision to extend the term of compulsory military service to three years. This, it is believed, resulted not so much from the German army increases as from the demand on the part of Russia that France should create for itself and
